Session of the European Council

Conclusions

Economic and social situation

The European Council discussed in depth the present social and economic situation in which the European Community and the Member States find themselves at the time when the first cautious signs of limited improvement in the business cycle are becoming visible, but when the ravages of inflation and unemployment have by no means been brought under control. In the same context the European Council reviewed the Communities' position with regard to the Western economic summit in Ottawa and dealt with the need to preserve and strengthen the Communities' internal market. The European Council discussed these interlocking problems on the basis of a paper presented by the European Commission on the economic and social situation in the Community, the general orientation of which received unanimous approval.

The European Council expressed its firm conviction that by the pursuit of coordinated flexible policies, maintained over a sufficient length of time, the Community will be able to overcome the present social and economic difficulties and return to a situation of economic growth, stability and satisfactory levels of employment. In particular, the problem of mass unemployment, which is a major preoccupation for all the members of the European Council, should not be approached in any spirit of fatalism.

In this light the European Council reviewed the work done by the Joint Council (Economic Affairs, Finance and Social Affairs) and agreed that a sound foundation had been laid for subsequent action. In particular, there was agreement that the highest priority should be accorded to coordinated action against unemployment and inflation, including efforts aimed at structural adjustment.

The major responsibility for these actions lies with national governments and will need to take account of the different economic situations in each Member State and of their particular possibilities and the constraints with which they are faced. But the effectiveness of such action will be increased by coordination within a Community framework. A major effort should be made both at the national and the Community level, to increase investments aimed at higher growth and employment. Investment should be directed in particular to industries with a high innovative potential and which will secure for the Community in the coming decades the place in the industrial world to which it is entitled. The European Council was convinced that investment in energy conservation and production is of vital importance. Care should be taken not to waste precious funds on economic activities that are bound to decline in importance. In the same connection it was underlined that considerable growth potential is to be found in the sector of small and medium-sized enterprises.

The European Council took note of the fact that in some Member States the reduction in working time is seen as a significant element in the battle against unemployment. It was agreed that further study to evaluate the effects of such measures would be made at the Community level. In this connection, the competitive position of European industries vis-à-vis other industrialized countries deserves close attention.

It was stressed that optimal use should be made of the Community's financial instruments and of the facilities of the European Investment Bank to promote the flow of productive investment. Efforts should also be undertaken to secure a larger economic benefit from the research activities that are under way in the Community and the Member States.

The European Council reaffirmed its commitment to a meaningful social policy by the European Community. It approved the conclusions reached by the Joint Council with regard to the labour market and the problems of unemployment. It took note with interest of suggestions made for the promotion of harmonized working conditions and workers' rights. In this context the term 'espace social' was used. It expressed its conviction that the pursuit of balanced and purposeful social and economic policies requires close consultation with the social partners.

Internal market

The European Council echoed the alarm sounded by the Commission on the state of the internal market, which is increasingly threatened by intentional and unintentional barriers to trade and by the pervasive use of subsidies to ailing industries. The European Council agreed that a concerted effort must be made to strengthen and develop the free internal market for goods and services which lies at the very basis of the European Community and which is the platform from which it conducts its common commercial policy.

Monetary relations with the United States

With regard to the forthcoming meeting of the Western economic summit the European Council stressed the need for a united approach to the problems presented by the level and volatility of interest and exchange rates, as these pose a serious threat to Europe's incipient economic recovery. These issues should be pursued in depth in discussions with the other major monetary powers. Important monetary policy objectives are shared with the USA, but the USA should be urged to take due account of the significant international consequences of its domestic policies. The Community itself should do its part to relieve the strain on monetary policy.

Trade relations with Japan

The European Council also reviewed the Community's relations with Japan, and it was agreed that in Ottawa strong emphasis should be paid to a broad span of questions relating to the smooth functioning of the open and multilateral world trading system, including excessive concentration of exports in sensitive sectors. The European Council stressed the need for effective openness of domestic markets, in particular the Japanese market. These issues should be kept under regular review and in doing so the Community should make the fullest possible use of its bargaining power as an entity.

Steel prices

The European Council discussed the serious situation which faces the European steel industry. While welcoming the outcome of the recent Steel Council, the European Council agreed on the urgent need to see steel prices in the European market raised to a more remunerative level and urged the Commission supported by all the Member States to do all in its power to see to it that the steel industry respects the necessary discipline.

North-South dialogue

The European Council approved the report on North-South policy drawn up by the Council (General Affairs) and recommended its approach for subsequent action. It is of the opinion that co-operation with developing countries and the intensification of international economic relations serve the interests of all concerned and that they are necessary not only in order to strengthen the economies of the developing countries but also to promote the recovery of the world economy. It considers it intolerable that widespread poverty and hunger persist in various parts of the developing world.

The European Council was of the opinion that the preparations for the new round of global negotiations should be completed as soon as possible. It emphasized the crucial importance of a positive impetus to be given to this effect by the summit conferences in Ottawa and Cancun.

Implementation of the 30 May 1980 mandate

The European Council had a discussion of the procedure for dealing with the Commission's paper. They confirmed that the implementation of the 30 May 1980 mandate would be a major topic for the meeting in London on 26 and 27 November where appropriate conclusions are to be reached. The European Council asked the General Affairs Council to make thorough and timely preparations for their meeting in November.

The Council will be assisted by a group consisting of one representative of each Member Government who shall be at least of ambassadorial rank. The Commission was invited to continue its contribution and to make appropriate formal proposals in good time.

Declaration on Afghanistan

The European Council notes with deep concern that the situation in Afghanistan remains an important cause of international tension, that Soviet troops remain in Afghanistan and that the sufferings of the Afghan people continue to increase.
