

COMMISSION OF THE EUROPEAN COMMUNITIES

SEC(92) 1921 final

Brussels, 11 November 1992

COMMISSION REPORT

on cooperation with European non-governmental development organizations (NGDOs) in spheres concerning developing countries (1991 financial year)

EXPLANATORY MEMORANDUM

1. At its meeting on 28 November 1977, the Council approved the procedure to be followed for using the appropriations in item B7-5010 of the Community budget for cofinancing operations with the NGOs. (*)

Under this procedure the Commission has to present an annual report to the Council on the use of the appropriations allocated during the preceding year.

The Commission presents this report for 1991 accordingly.

2. Although the Council gave its approval for the appropriations under item B7-5010 only, this report also covers other major spheres of cooperation with the NGOs, such as food aid, emergency aid, special programmes and coordination between NGOs. The various contributions made by the relevant Commission departments provide an overview.

INTRODUCTION

Cooperation between non-governmental development organizations (NGDOs) and the European Community was stepped up again in 1991.

First of all, there was a substantial increase in the financial resources made available to NGDOs by the Community, whose overall financial contribution to the various NGDO operations achieved in partnership with organizations in the South was 50% higher than in 1990, at ECU 480 million.

NGDOs have earned the Community's continuing confidence because of their knowledge of the countries and realities of the developing world, their closeness to the poor communities with which they work, and the effectiveness (albeit on a small scale) of the schemes cofinanced, in socio-economic, cultural and political terms.

The Community, like its Member States, has allied itself with NGDOs to back their projects on the ground and so multiply and diversify their development effects on the communities concerned.

Cooperation between the Community and the NGDOs was diversified even more with the introduction of new budget headings (especially VietNam and Cambodia) and the increase in the resources available. This was a reflection on the capacity of NGDOs to work in many different sectors: food aid; cofinancing development projects in developing countries and public awareness campaigns; emergency aid; aid to victims of apartheid; aid to the West Bank and Gaza Strip, etc.

The importance of the work of NGOs was recognized in a resolution adopted by the Council in 1991:

"The Community has found the NGOs to be efficient and reliable partners in the work of implementing programmes and projects aimed at making lasting improvements in the living conditions and development prospects of the peoples of the beneficiary countries. The Community's contribution is a response to the many years of commitment and support displayed by the general public in Europe for cooperative non-governmental action."¹

Parliament expressed a similar opinion, saying that it "recognizes the major contribution made to development aid by cooperation between the NGOs and the Community and points out that this cooperation is generally working very well".²

On the basis of a survey on Community cofinancing conducted from 1990 to 1991 among 53 NGOs in the various Member States, the Court of Auditors noted positive aspects of the work of the NGOs along with some deficiencies.³ The Court made a number of observations and recommendations intended to improve the system and management of cofinancing, and the management of the NGOs themselves

The Commission valued the recommendations on the whole, and they will be taken into account in the work of revising the present General Conditions for the cofinancing of projects undertaken in developing countries by NGOs, and those for public awareness campaigns in the Community (Budget item B7-5010), which was started at the end of 1991.

It should be emphasized that the various parties involved have, on the whole, been satisfied with the present General Conditions. Nonetheless, they were drafted in 1986-1987 and entered into force in 1988. Since then, there have been many changes in the international situation regarding North-South relations in general, in cooperation policies and especially in the context in which NGOs work.

1 Resolution of the Council (Development) of 27.5.1991 (Press release 6379/91).

2 Resolution adopted in May 1992 (OJ C 150, 15.6.1991, p.273).

3 OJ C 324, 13.12.1991.

The process of revising the guidelines for, and methods of, cofinancing will be conducted in consultation with the NGOs and will benefit from the contributions of individual NGOs, national platforms of NGOs and the Liaison Committee at European level. It will also draw on suggestions and proposals made in consultations with the national administrations, or by Parliament. The Commission, Parliament and Council have all underlined the fundamental importance of the NGOs' autonomy. The consultations with NGOs will not challenge this principle in any way, but will contribute to a better linkage between Community policies and the principles and objectives of the NGOs.

In 1990 the Commission launched a series of evaluations of projects cofinanced with the NGOs in order to help improve the work of NGOs and the impact of the projects, as well as to support the work of revising the General Conditions.¹ After evaluating the development education projects, it was decided to complete evaluations on the following fields in 1992 and 1993: institutional support for grassroots organizations; education; integrated development, and savings and loans institutions. The first two are now under way, the third is at the launch phase.²

Cooperation via the work of the NGOs in the developing countries is becoming increasingly important. In every country in the South, NGOs contribute to meeting the basic needs of the most disadvantaged communities and demonstrate the ability of such communities to become agents of their own development. By supporting popular organizations in the South, NGOs help to uphold the principles of participatory democracy, a more egalitarian society and respect for human rights. The resolution adopted by the Council in November 1991 on human rights and democracy will increase the scope for action by NGOs on these issues.

In addition, NGOs, with the Community's backing, contribute to promoting public awareness in the Community and thereby to maintaining and increasing the mobilization of public opinion in favour of development, and understanding of the issues at stake in cooperation with developing countries: the many facets of North-South interdependence, political and economic interests, the promotion of human rights and keeping the peace.

1 In last year's annual report, the Commission outlined the results of the evaluation on development education projects.

2 The results of the evaluation exercises will be widely published and a summary will be included in the annual report for 1992.

In this context, particular mention should be made of the role of the NGDO-EC Liaison Committee. This body, which acts as permanent representative of the European NGDOs, is responsible not only for coordination and cooperation between its member organizations but above all for liaison with the Community institutions, namely Parliament, the Council and the Commission. In this capacity it allows for the exchange of information on development policies and schemes, and helps to ensure that the NGDOs' experience in, and approach to, development are made known to the Community's decision-making bodies.

THE COMMUNITY'S COOPERATION WITH NGDOs IN 1991

in 1991, the Community contribution to the various operations carried out by the NGDOs amounted to some ECU 480 million, the breakdown of which is as follows:

ECU 93.8 million for cofinancing of small development schemes in the developing countries (Item B7-5010), which represents an increase of 16% on 1990;

ECU 10.3 million for cofinancing public information campaigns on development issues in the Community (Item B7-5010): this is 11% more than in 1990;

ECU 185.1 million for food aid (Chapter 72), an increase of 51% on 1990;

ECU 4.5 million for the purchase of foodstuffs by the NGDOs (Item B7-5011), down 14% on 1990;

ECU 79.7 million for emergency aid (Item B7-5000), up 21% on 1990;

ECU 10.9 million for refugees and displaced persons (Article B7-302) - an increase of 6%;

ECU 5.0 million for aid to NGDOs operating in Chile, with a view to strengthening the democratic process and contributing to economic cooperation with Chile (Item B7-5073) - unchanged;

ECU 5.4 million for drug abuse control (Item B7-5045), an increase of 46% on the 1990 figure;

ECU 60.0 million for aid for victims of apartheid (Item B7-5070), which is double the amount budgeted for 1990;

ECU 10.7 million for the population of the front line states (Namibia, Botswana, Mozambique, etc.) (Item B7-5071), down 19%;

ECU 10.0 million for aid to NGDOs operating in the West Bank and Gaza territories¹ (Article B7-406) - a two-thirds increase on 1990;

ECU 2.0 million for aid to NGDOs operating in VietNam (Item B7-5074) - new budget item;

ECU 0.5 million for aid to NGDOs operating in Cambodia (Item B7-5075) - new budget item.

This total contribution of ECU 480 million in 1991 represents a very substantial increase (more than 50%) over 1990 (ECU 318.5 million) and a 77% increase over 1989 (ECU 270.0 million).

¹ Plus ECU 60 million in extraordinary assistance arising from the Gulf War.

Some of these spheres of cooperation are relatively new, e.g. the budget items to do with Chile and aid to victims of apartheid were added in 1986; the budget headings on drug abuse control and aid for the West Bank and Gaza Strip in 1987, and the budget items on VietNam and Cambodia were introduced in 1991. The inclusion of new fields reflects the NGDOs' ability to operate in many sectors, particularly in fields where official Community aid cannot operate or where it is preferable to encourage operations via NGDOs who are better placed to carry them out.

It should be pointed out that the above list shows only the largest spheres of cooperation with the NGDOs, and those in which NGDO activities are financed regularly and for sizeable amounts. In recent years, there have in addition been pilot and one-off operations, carried out by the NGDOs to help developing countries and financed either from other budget headings or by the European Development Fund (EDF). Since these operations are administered on a decentralized basis by a large number of Commission departments, it was not possible to track them all down in detail for the purposes of this report.

The following chapters contain a more detailed account of the various spheres of cooperation with the NGDOs in 1991.

1. COFINANCING OF DEVELOPMENT SCHEMES AND PUBLIC INFORMATION CAMPAIGNS
(Item B7-5010 of the budget)

1.1. Overview

In 1991 NGOs again showed themselves to be well able to absorb the financial resources made available to them via EC cofinancing. The large number of requests was a direct consequence of schemes and requests put to European NGOs by partners in the South, and of the NGOs' activity in mobilizing other financial resources, whether public or private.

The appropriations for commitment entered in the 1991 budget under item B7-5010 amounted to ECU 104.3 million. In addition there was ECU 0.3 million in the form of miscellaneous revenue. Practically all of these resources had been committed by the end of the year, as in previous years, as the Table below shows:

| Year | Appropriations available - in ECU million - | Commitments - in ECU million - | Commitment rate as % |
|------|--|-----------------------------------|-------------------------|
| 1976 | 2.5 | 2.5 | 100 |
| 1979 | 12.5 | 12.2 | 98 |
| 1982 | 28.0 | 26.9 | 96 |
| 1984 | 35.0 | 34.4 | 98 |
| 1986 | 46.0 | 45.0 | 98 |
| 1987 | 62.8 | 62.8 | 100 |
| 1988 | 80.0 | 79.8 | 100 |
| 1989 | 80.0 | 79.6 | 99.5 |
| 1990 | 90.2 | 90.2 | 100 |
| 1991 | 104.6 | 104.1 | 99.5 |

In 1991, the overall figures for operations cofinanced (development schemes and information campaigns) were as follows:

1 058 cofinancing applications dealt with by the Commission's departments, requesting a total Community contribution of ECU 196.6 million;

626 operations cofinanced, with a Community contribution of ECU 104.1 million (i.e., in financial terms, 53% of the total applications handled);

157 applications, requesting financing of ECU 29.2 million, which were not accepted or were withdrawn (i.e. 15%);

275 applications, representing a request for financing amounting to ECU 63.3 million, still under examination at the end of 1991 (i.e. 32%).

The Commission was able to respond to more requests in 1991 because the budget had been increased by ECU 15 million compared with 1990.

Commission departments continued to handle a large number of requests, in accordance with the criteria and rules laid down in the General Conditions for Cofinancing.¹ In examining each application, they considered the professionalism and financial soundness of the NGDO; the quality of the project; the Southern partner's operational capacity and the quality of the ties between it and the European NGDO; the impact of the project and its viability, and the potential multiplier effect on the target groups concerned.

It should be noted that in the Community system, applications are not carried over from one year to the next in a batch. The mechanism is more like a pipeline, with a continuous stream of financing requests and dossiers for consideration. When allocations for one year are running out, the applications continue to be considered for possible financing the following year, although highest priority is given to ongoing appropriations for the most interesting projects or those which are most urgent from the perspective of the target groups. The system allows project dossiers to be processed more evenly than in some of the Member States and is more adaptable to the partners' needs in terms of scheduling. NGDOs who have been consulted say they prefer this system.

The amount of payment appropriations under item B7-5010 available in 1991 rose to ECU 87.3 million. Payments made in the course of the year amounted to ECU 84.8 million, or 97%, of which ECU 52.0 million was for projects financed in 1991 and ECU 32.8 million for projects financed in preceding years.

The rigorous selection procedure which the Commission had to apply necessarily meant that some NGDOs which presented worthwhile projects had to be disappointed. As in the past, the Commission tried to uphold the basic principles on which cofinancing is based: maintaining a high standard for the schemes cofinanced, ensuring that "small" NGDOs have access to funds, rapid decision-making, etc. Special attention continued to be given to schemes put forward by NGDOs in the newer Member States.

The increase in the cofinancing budget granted for 1992 (to ECU 110 million) will be welcome in trying to respond to the requests. It is only to be expected, however, that as in the past, demand by the NGDOs will continue to rise in the coming years. It can only be absorbed if budget allocations increase at the same rate.

1.2. Cofinancing of development schemes in developing countries

1.2.1. European NGDOs' growing support for partners in the South

In 1991, as in previous years, the Commission channelled approximately 90% of the appropriations under item B7-5010 into the cofinancing of operations conducted in the developing countries, the balance being earmarked mainly for cofinancing campaigns to increase public awareness in the Community.

For operations in developing countries, the situation regarding requests and commitments was as follows:

847 cofinancing requests handled by the Commission, for a total Community contribution of ECU 174.1 million (an increase of 12% over 1990);

112 requests, requiring financing of ECU 23.4 million, not accepted or withdrawn;

234 requests, representing financing of ECU 56.9 million, still under examination at the end of 1991;

501 operations cofinanced, with a Community contribution of ECU 93.8 million (an increase of 18% over 1990).

Table III in the Annex, which gives the breakdown of cofinancing by Member State, shows just how active European NGOs are.

It should also be stressed that the Community continues to abide by the principle of giving extra consideration to requests from new NGOs. It helps new NGOs to increase their level of professionalism, either directly or with the help of experienced NGOs.

There was a modest increase in the financial scale of the schemes cofinanced; the average Community contribution rose to ECU 187 193 per project in 1991, from ECU 176 418 in 1990.

These figures demonstrate the NGOs' preference for small-scale operations tailored to suit conditions on the ground and their partners' management capacity. This is further demonstrated by the fact that 65% of cofinancing allocations (excluding block grants) were for between ECU 60 000 and ECU 250 000 (averaging ECU 116 418); 11% were for less than ECU 60 000 and 24% were for more than ECU 250 000; yet the Community contribution can be up to ECU 500 000, and even ECU 1 million in the case of consortia.

1.2.2. Block grants

If a European NGO has worked with the Commission to its satisfaction for a number of years, the Commission may offer it an extra facility, namely access to the block grant system. This facility is reserved for NGOs which have demonstrated their competence in previous years.

Under the block grant system, at the start of the year each eligible NGO may be allocated an advance of up to ECU 250 000 for that year, for unspecified purposes, which it can then use in the same budget year to cofinance a large number of very small "mini-operations" in developing countries (from a minimum of ECU 1 000 to a maximum of ECU 15 000). NGOs value the system highly because it offers them rapid and flexible financing for a wide range of mini-operations (e.g. the purchase of equipment, construction of small infrastructure, training, health, etc.) and allows them to meet the needs of the recipient groups with a kind of "capillary action". These mini-operations are often picked out by the NGOs to complement the larger projects that they are supporting.

Between 1982 and 1991, the Commission cofinanced 640 block grants relating to 7 372 mini-operations accounting for a total of ECU 64.3 million. The average Community contribution was therefore ECU 8 722. The following table shows how block grants have evolved in recent years, and shows the rise in the amounts committed and the number of mini-operations which this facility made possible.

| Year | Amount of block grants (ECU million) | % of commitments under Item 9410 | Number of block grants | No. of mini-operations | Average amount of Community contribution per mini-operation (ECU) |
|------|--------------------------------------|----------------------------------|------------------------|------------------------|---|
| 1982 | 1.2 | 4 | 25 | 161 | 7 453 |
| 1983 | 2.3 | 7 | 34 | 296 | 7 770 |
| 1984 | 3.1 | 9 | 39 | 383 | 8 202 |
| 1985 | 3.7 | 11 | 43 | 450 | 8 146 |
| 1986 | 5.7 | 13 | 50 | 671 | 8 507 |
| 1987 | 6.8 | 11 | 59 | 822 | 8 272 |

| 1989 | 9.9 | 12.4 | 96 | 1 082 | 9 105 |
| 1990 | 9.7 | 10.8 | 97 | 1 099 | 8 857 |
| 1991 | 13.1 | 12.6 | 118 | 1 447 | 9 061 |

1.2.3. Fields of development project activity in developing countries

Table IV in the Annex contains a detailed breakdown of the 501 operations cofinanced in 1991 in the developing countries.

It is clear that the tendency to favour certain kinds of activity continued in 1991. Rural development, training and health all remained priority areas. These are certainly important fields in terms of people's needs and they are also areas in which there are a very large number of initiatives by groups in the South.

Many projects adopt the integrated development approach, because NGOs consider it to be one of the best ways of promoting grassroots development.¹

¹ An evaluation of integrated development projects is planned for 1992. The results will provide more precise data on the projects cofinanced.

In general, integrated development projects aim to support a variety of groups (small farmers' associations, small cooperatives, village associations, women's organizations, etc.) operating in such sectors as agriculture, craft industries, training, health, environmental protection and the construction of infrastructure.

In agricultural development, a large proportion of projects (around 35% of the projects cofinanced in developing countries in 1991) involve support for small family units of agricultural production, measures to combat desertification, conservation of tropical forests, marketing of food products, etc.

The training projects, which accounted for around 25% of projects in 1991, consist mainly of support activities for literacy campaigns, vocational training, training of local community leaders, training in appropriate technologies, etc.

Fifteen per cent of the projects in developing countries in 1991 were health projects, covering a wide range of activities: supporting community health programmes (hygiene, health education, etc.); setting up health centres; supporting specific projects such as maternal/infant health care, campaigns against tropical disease, cholera prevention and treatment, and the prevention of blindness.

It is notable that in recent years NGOs in developing countries have shown particular interest in supporting production activities and revenue-generating schemes such as savings and loan schemes, support for micro-enterprises in the informal sector via bank guarantees, support for the creation of family businesses by providing working capital, etc.

1.2.4. Recipient groups and countries

The wealth of initiatives by Southern partners in almost all countries was apparent yet again in the range of schemes cofinanced in 1991.

The projects involved all of the poorest sections of the population, from small farmers to employees in the informal sector, to marginalized young people, peasant communities, village associations and street children.

The 501 development schemes cofinanced in 1991 were carried out in 104 developing countries.

The geographical breakdown of Community contributions to these operations was as follows:

| | ECU million | 1991 (%) | 1990 (%) | 1989 (%) |
|--------------------|----------------|-------------|-------------|-------------|
| Sub-Saharan Africa | 36.8 | 39.3 | 40.5 | 43.5 |
| Latin America | 37.5 | 40.0 | 32.0 | 33.0 |
| Asia | 12.9 | 13.8 | 21.5 | 18.0 |
| Mediterranean | 5.7 | 6.0 | 6.0 | 4.0 |
| Pacific | 0.9 | 0.9 | - | 1.5 |
| TOTAL | 93.8 | 100 | 100 | 100 |

The breakdown between ACP countries and non-ACP countries was as follows:

| | ECU million | 1991 % | 1990 (%) | 1989 (%) |
|-------------------|----------------|------------|-------------|-------------|
| ACP countries | 41.5 | 44 | 41 | 44.5 |
| Non-ACP countries | 52.3 | 56 | 59 | 55.5 |
| TOTAL | 93.8 | 100 | 100 | 100 |

There are several remarks to be made about the two tables above and the list of projects cofinanced in recent years including 1991 (see Table IV in the Annex).

On the one hand, the downward trend in requests relating to Africa south of the Sahara was less marked than in 1990, whereas Asia showed a sharp decline. On the other hand, there was a big increase in requests for Latin America in 1991.

It is difficult to give comprehensive explanations of these trends because the variations in geographical distribution from one year to the next are often the result of a large number of factors. Nevertheless, one can point to some (partial) reasons for the general trends. In the case of Africa, for example, despite the severe economic and social problems faced by a large proportion of the population, various political conflicts, dictatorships and civil wars limited the scope for development projects undertaken by grassroots organizations in some countries. By contrast, in Latin America, on top of an important tradition of social movements and organizations, the process of democratization in the majority of countries boosted the work of NGOs and grassroots organizations.

If one looks at the trends by country over recent years, some African countries such as Zimbabwe, Burkina Faso, Benin, Burundi, and Cameroon have enjoyed an increase in Community contributions, while support for projects in Mauritania, Somalia, and Sudan has fallen.

The upward trend for Latin America may be explained by a number of underlying factors. On the one hand, some countries such as Argentina, Uruguay and, to a lesser extent, Venezuela did not traditionally request cofinancing from the NGDOs. However, the economic crisis of recent years forced the population to organize to meet the growing needs of the most disadvantaged. The same goes for the Andean countries (Colombia, Bolivia, Peru, etc.), where economic problems are worsening following the implementation of structural adjustment policies. Crisis conditions have resulted in a steady growth in the number of people marginalized and, of course, in the demand for aid. The same is true for Brazil. Paradoxically, requests for cofinancing from Central America have decreased across the board over the last three years.

For Asia, requests for India and the Philippines, traditionally the major recipients, have decreased over the last two years.

It is noticeable that European NGDOs appear to prioritize particular regions or continents. For example, NGDOs in the UK, Belgium, France, Ireland and Portugal concentrate most of their financial contributions on Africa. Spain and Greece concentrate their efforts on Latin America and, to a lesser extent, Africa. Such "specialization" is less marked in other Member States.

1.2.5. Support for the work of grassroots organizations in developing countries

One of the main recommendations of the summary report on the evaluation of EEC/NGDO cofinancing in 1985 concerned the need to strengthen the agents of non-governmental development aid at all levels - cofinanciers, European NGDOs, Southern NGDOs, grassroots organizations, etc.¹

The report argued that public and private financiers should give priority to devising and implementing measures benefiting organizations in the South. European NGDOs should reduce their direct involvement in preparing and carrying out projects and instead entrust more and more tasks to their Southern partners. Cofinanciers should set up arrangements and procedures for supporting local NGDOs, on the basis of their overall programmes of activities.

For this purpose, the Commission introduced a facility for financially supporting the activities of grassroots organizations and their networks in developing countries, on an experimental basis, within the framework of the General Conditions for cofinancing NGDOs' development schemes applied since 1 January 1988 (Chapter XII). Such operations by grassroots organizations should be in line with the ultimate objective of NGDO schemes, namely to continue to promote lasting improvements in the living conditions and development prospects of people in developing countries.

¹ De Crombrugghe, Howes and Nieuwkerk, An Evaluation of CEC Small Development Projects, COTA, Brussels, December 1985.

Over the period 1988 to 1991, 25 organizations in the South have been cofinanced under Chapter XII. These covered different kinds of activities, from general promotion of development to rural assistance, promoting education, credit systems, and health assistance. Around 30% of the Chapter XII projects were cofinanced in Africa, 20% in Asia and 50% in Latin America.

After three years' experience of Chapter XII operations, it is clear that this method of cofinancing is largely under-utilized, despite the fact that it obviously meets the aspirations of numerous European and Southern NGOs. Numerous NGO projects targeting these objectives have been presented in the normal framework of cofinancing, i.e. not under Chapter XII. This suggests that the experimental rules for the Chapter need to be reviewed. It was for this reason that the Commission, at the end of 1991, started an evaluation of projects falling within Chapter XII and other innovative projects with the same objectives, as stated in the introduction (see also point 1.5).

1.3. Cofinancing of public awareness campaigns in the Community

1.3.1. Role and importance of NGOs in development education

In recent years NGOs have made major efforts in the field of development education. The evaluation of development education projects shows that European public opinion reacts positively to awareness campaigns¹. Because of direct contacts with their partners in the South and their experience on the ground, NGOs are in a good position to mobilize European public opinion.

At present ongoing, sustained efforts to that end are all the more necessary in that the public in the Community is in danger of feeling increasingly less concerned by North-South relations and the many serious problems facing the Third World, in view of the prospects of 1993 and the political and economic upheavals in Eastern Europe.

The NGOs are convinced that in order to achieve a more balanced North-South interdependence, a fairer division of resources and wealth at world level and sustainable long-term development, conduct and attitudes in the North must radically change. It is clear that these changes will not take place unless public opinion is informed, mobilized and sympathetic to the cause of the peoples of the South. To this end NGOs are conducting various campaigns, including lobbying, on the main North-South topics of international concern such as debt; world trade and GATT; the environment and development; the single market and the developing countries, and so on. At the same time they are putting forward proposals to improve European cooperation policies to assist the developing countries.

1.3.2. Sustained Community support for the NGOs and the situation in 1991

In 1976 the Commission set up the system of cofinancing with the NGOs projects to assist the developing countries. At that time, a large number of NGOs were already involved in campaigns to heighten public awareness of development issues, in addition to their work in the Third World.

The introduction in 1979 of a first set of general conditions governing Community cofinancing of awareness campaigns marked the formal recognition of this new field of cooperation between the NGOs and the EEC.

At the same time, Council and Parliament have always given their support by highlighting the responsibility borne by the Community and its Member States for encouraging information and development education and the key role played by the NGOs.

From modest beginnings of 17 projects cofinanced at a cost of almost ECU 200 000, the budget has increased considerably in recent years. In 1991 125 projects totalling ECU 10.3 million were cofinanced, which represents approximately 10% of budget item B7-5010. Between 1979 and 1991 the Commission cofinanced 898 awareness campaigns totalling ECU 56.9 million in the twelve Member States.

In 1991, the situation regarding requests and commitments was as follows:

- 181 cofinancing applications handled by the Commission (not including multiproject programmes) requesting a total Community contribution of ECU 21.3 million (a 15% increase in financial terms over 1990);
- 45 applications, requiring financing of ECU 5.8 million, not accepted or withdrawn. These applications represent, in terms of financing, 27% of the total number of applications handled;
- 41 applications, representing a request for financing of ECU 6.4 million, still under examination at the end of 1991;
- 95 projects cofinanced, with a Community contribution of ECU 9.2 million (an 8% increase over 1990).

In addition, in 1991 under the multiproject programmes, the Community cofinanced 30 programmes with a Community contribution of ECU 1.1 million (the aims and content of the multiproject programmes are explained in the 1990 Annual Report).

Table V in the Annex gives a detailed list of all the operations cofinanced in 1991.

1.3.3. Approaches and types of development education projects

1.3.3.1. North-South interdependence - the European dimension

A great many of the operations cofinanced are based on different approaches to North-South interdependence (see point 1.3.1.). Many NGOs highlight the role and responsibility of the countries of the North vis-à-vis the basic problems of the South (trade, debt, agriculture and so on). Some NGOs also tend to conduct awareness campaigns on issues common to Europe and the developing countries which require similar solutions (for example, environment, drugs, marginalization) and which are of increasing concern to different sectors of European society in general (young people, consumers, teachers, etc.).

Other approaches focus on the situation in the South in order to promote solidarity campaigns and include a key information component. A particular aspect which is worth encouraging is the fact that an increasing number of associations in the developing countries are themselves taking charge of development, harnessing their own resources and energies to meet the needs and interests of their communities, and thus contributing to more democratic societies. This message can help to galvanize the European public, and NGOs in the North also tend to attach growing importance to the views expressed by their partners.

The European dimension is also an important criterion for selecting development education projects because of the Community's European focus and the major impact to be gained from NGOs' collaboration at European level (including the choice of target group, topics, types of message, etc.).¹ The NGOs incorporate this approach in a great many of the projects cofinanced, either by including themes connected with the Community's relations and/or policies with the developing countries or by getting NGOs to collaborate on various operations. In some cases, however, and depending on the type of operation to be carried out, the European dimension poses problems for certain NGOs in some European countries, particularly in southern Europe. Southern European NGOs nevertheless tend increasingly to work together.

1.3.3.2. Types of project

Following the trend of recent years, the majority of development education projects cofinanced in 1991 concern mainly the public at large and schools. To reach public opinion in general the NGOs organize campaigns on a variety of topics such as North-South interdependence², Africa, migrants in relation to underdevelopment, international trade, agricultural issues,

1 The main area of discussion of the 1988 General Assembly of NGOs was development education. One of the recommendations adopted underlines the significance of the European dimension.

2 For example the Community has cofinanced many projects as part of the "European public campaign on North-South interdependence and solidarity", organized by the Council of Europe in 1988.

debt, human rights, drugs, the environment and so on. The NGOs have also realized the importance of producing and distributing films and other audiovisual material. Some of these films have been shown on European television channels. None the less, more needs to be done for other media, such as radio, the press, etc., if they are to have an impact on European public opinion at European, national, regional or local level.

Schools are well provided for in development education projects, the main aim of which is to produce teaching materials and train teachers to use the material and direct activities. The subjects are very varied, although there is a preference for general topics on North-South relations, cultural or daily life, the social and economic situation in the developing countries, the environment and so on. It should be pointed out that the reform of the school curriculum in some European countries has given the NGOs an opportunity to include development education in the school system.

Other target groups affected by awareness campaigns are farmers' associations, trade unions, policy makers, the media, women, NGOs themselves (members and partners, etc.). Some of the topics covered in projects cofinanced in 1991 include: Europe after 1992 and the developing countries; past and present cooperation links between Europe and Latin America (to mark the 500th anniversary of the region's discovery); international trade and North-South relations (in connection with GATT); democracy and development; environment and development to coincide with preparations for the Rio conference.

Most of the projects used a combination of methods such as: publications, audiovisual material, teaching material, activities, exhibitions, lobbying, etc.

1.3.4. European networks

The Commission has encouraged the European dimension, particularly by supporting the setting-up of a series of "European networks" in fields such as industrial restructuring (IRENE), food and agriculture (RONGEAD), development education in the formal education system (EDECN), culture and development, audiovisual methods (ZEBRA), women and development (WIDE), towns and development.

These networks are intended to strengthen existing networks at European level, some of which have already received Community support for their work. This is the case of the various networks which conduct campaigns on very specific subjects such as drugs, debt, trade and so on.

"European networks" are service networks and their main aims are: to encourage work in fairly broad areas (such as audiovisual methods, agri-food issues, teaching in schools); the exchange of information and experiences; the establishment of contacts at European level; the setting-up of a data base on the area in question etc. They are not therefore tight-knit groups which conduct specialized joint operations in which only a small number of NGOs take an active part (as is the case for networks covering specific topics).

In 1991 the Commission organized a meeting with all the European networks which have been cofinanced by the Community in order to take stock of the results of the evaluation of development education projects, to exchange experiences and encourage pooled efforts to strengthen the European dimension.

1.4. Cofinancing programme from 1976 to 1991

The cofinancing programme under item B7-5010 was launched in 1976 on a trial basis and it was given a small amount of commitment appropriations, namely ECU 2.5 million. In subsequent budgets, partly as a result of the active support given by Parliament, these appropriations were gradually increased and in 1991 reached ECU 104.6 million. The table below shows how the appropriations available under item B7-5010 have evolved since 1976.

During this period, 5 372 NGO operations were cofinanced; the total Community contribution to these operations was ECU 643.3 million.

The breakdown of operations in the developing countries and operations to promote awareness was as follows:

| 1976-1991 | | | |
|--|----------------------|------------------------------------|------------|
| | Number of operations | EC contribution % (ECU million) | |
| operations in the developing countries | 4 474 | 586.4 | 91 |
| operations to promote awareness | 898 | 56.9 | 9 |
| Total | 5 372 | 643.3 | 100 |

The 4 474 development operations were conducted by 509 NGOs in 118 developing countries.

The geographical breakdown of Community contributions to these operations is as follows:

| 1976-1991 | | |
|--------------------|--------------|------------|
| | ECU million | % |
| Sub-Saharan Africa | 247 | 42.1 |
| Latin America | 193.5 | 33 |
| Asia | 110.2 | 18.8 |
| Mediterranean | 31.7 | 5.4 |
| Pacific | 4 | 0.7 |
| Total | 586.4 | 100 |

The ACP countries received 44% and the non-ACP countries 56% of the total Community contribution.

Tables I and II in the Annex show respectively the breakdown by recipient developing country and by Community Member State.

The 898 awareness campaigns were implemented by 315 NGOs in the twelve Member States.

Half of all the operations cofinanced were cofinanced during the last four financial years, from 1987 to 1991, and some 55% of all the funds committed were committed over the same period. These percentages reflect the rapid growth of the cofinancing programme over the last few years, but also an increase in the average financial scale of the operations cofinanced (within the limits indicated on page 7) owing mainly to inflation and the emergence of larger operations conducted by consortia formed by NGOs. The average Community contribution to operations in the developing countries thus rose from ECU 123 000 in 1985 to ECU 187 193 in 1991, and the average contribution to awareness campaigns from ECU 82 027 to ECU 96 427.

1.5. Evaluation

Since 1990 the Commission has launched a major evaluation exercise. The evaluation of development education projects (conducted between the end of 1989 and the beginning of 1991) was a great success. The Commission's extensive circulation of the results to NGOs' national platforms, the professional associations involved (agricultural and trade unions), counterpart bodies and organizations in the Member States, the Council and Parliament, etc., met with very positive reactions.¹

Since 1991 interest in evaluations of NDGO projects has grown with specific requests from, among others, the Council following its May 1991 resolution.

In the second half of 1991 the Commission drew up an evaluation programme for the next two years, particularly with a view to the revision of the current General Conditions for cofinancing European NGOs.

Two thematic evaluations of projects in the developing countries were planned for 1991:

(a) Evaluation of EC-NGDO cofinancing in the field of institutional support for grassroots organizations in the developing countries: four years after the Community introduced the possibility of financial support for the operation and activities of grassroots organizations in the developing countries (see 1.2.5.) the time has come to evaluate both the system and the projects financed in order to draw conclusions for the future.

¹ A summary of the main results of this evaluation was published in the 1990 General Report. When the report was presented to the Council, all the Member States welcomed the fact that greater importance had been given to analysis and evaluation than in the past.

As part of this evaluation - which began at the end of 1991 and the results of which are expected at the end of this year - the Commission considers that financial support for the activities of its partners in the South should be conceived in terms of these organizations' medium- or long-term viability. The aim of the support must therefore be to increase not only the institutional but also the financial independence of the partners in the South, which calls for financing systems which give them impetus and greater responsibility. To this end the NGOs have in the last few years experimented with a variety of new financing arrangements such as flexible funds, capital funds, international bank guarantees etc. As a result, the objectives of the evaluation are:

- (1) To assess the results of cofinancing requested under Chapter XII of the General Conditions, from the point of view of activities undertaken by the local partner, its institutional operation and the strengthening of its financial independence and viability.
- (2) To assess the general relevance of launching new systems of financing aid by the NGOs within the context of cofinancing under Chapter XII and traditional cofinancing (by project) and the inherent value and effectiveness of the various financing systems tried out.
- (3) To check that Chapter XII of the General Conditions is tailored to NGOs' needs.
- (4) To put forward practical recommendations with a view to recasting these General Conditions for NGO cofinancing.

(b) Evaluation of training projects: this is one of the major areas of Community cofinancing for NGOs. The aim of the evaluation conducted in 1992 will be to weigh up a number of projects carried out in developing countries in Africa, Asia and Latin America. The evaluation will principally cover the creation of, and support given to, vocational training centres, either at technical level (agricultural, industrial, craft and other types of training) or at administrative level (management techniques and so on) or at both levels simultaneously.

(c) Two other evaluations will be launched in 1992: the first on integrated development projects and the other on savings and loans projects. These two exercises will include an analysis of the capacity of European NGOs to respond appropriately to the needs of their partners in the South.

The Commission intends to circulate the final reports of evaluations widely and to include a summary of the results in the 1992 annual report.

1.6. European poll

In 1991 the Community financed - as it had already done in 1983 and 1987 - a poll, including questions designed to analyse the way in which Europeans perceived the Third World in 1991.¹ Apart from the general interest of the poll's results, they are of vital importance for European NGOs since they can draw on them for their development education operations in the Member States. Examples of some interesting results are given below.

Importance of aid to the Third World

Asked about the importance of nine major issues which their country may at present face (unemployment, terrorism, nature conservation, energy security, etc.), four Europeans out of five considered it important, if not very important, to help poor countries in Africa, South America and Asia. Opinions diverged depending on the country: on the one hand the less rich countries (Spain, Portugal, Greece, Ireland and the eastern part of Germany) and on the other Luxembourg and the Netherlands were more sympathetic to Third World poverty than the Community average.

When asked whether they were for or against aid to the Third World countries, 86% of Europeans replied that they were strongly or moderately in favour of helping.

North-South interdependence

In 1991 half the Europeans questioned said that the Third World countries must be helped simply because they were poor and needed our help; 21% thought that they should be helped because we needed them in order to continue developing ourselves; 21% considered that the Third World should be forgotten a little and that we should first combat poverty in our own countries. These percentages are very close to those recorded in 1987.

69% (7% more than in 1987) of Europeans said that they tended to agree that there would be violent clashes if the gap between rich and poor countries grew.

62% (11% more than in 1987) said that they tended to agree that we might be swallowed up by the Third World's population growth.

On the future of interdependence between the Community and the Third World countries, 54% of citizens of the Member States said that in the next ten or fifteen years what happened in the Third World countries, their political and economic situation, population growth, etc., could have an effect on our lives; 25% thought the opposite and 21% did not comment.

Information and images given by the media

86% of Europeans said that they had recently seen, read or heard something about the Third World countries (significant increase over the 71% recorded in 1983 and 73% in 1987). This information was primarily conveyed by television (77%) and newspapers and dailies (49%) and covered mainly aid, development, civil strife and coups d'état. Whatever the source of information, fewer than one European out of two had retained a positive impression of what he had recently seen, read or heard.

Sources

Asked about the main sources of aid for the Third World (UN, EC, national government, NGOs, etc.) the citizens of the Member States cited the UN and its agencies first, followed by their own government, with 88% and 85% respectively. The EC was mentioned by 78% of those interviewed.

Community-wide responsibility for aid

In both 1987 and 1991 three Europeans out of four found that it was preferable for decisions on aid to poor countries to be taken by all the Member States of the Community acting together.

Similarly, 78% found that cooperation with the developing countries should be a Community rather than a national responsibility.

Conditions attached to the aid

In all the Member States at least seven out of ten people considered that aid to the Third World countries should be subject to the following conditions: (a) the aid must be guaranteed to get to where it is supposed to; (b) the aid must effectively meet the needs expressed by the local recipient population.

While 79% of Europeans interviewed found that the countries which received aid should respect human rights, barely 55% considered that countries which received aid should have a democratic system.

Future relations between the EC and the developing countries

Asked how they envisaged future relations between the EC and the developing countries in the face of progressive European unification, more than six Europeans out of ten said that development cooperation would assume increasing importance (71%) and that political relations between the Community and the Third World countries would be stepped up (61%).

11. OTHER AREAS OF COOPERATION WITH NGDOs

2.1. Food aid channelled through NGDOs (Budget Chapter 72)

In 1991 the overall value of Community food aid channelled through the NGDOs totalled ECU 183 079 770, of which ECU 139 540 000 was allocated under the normal programme, and ECU 45 539 770 by way of the Special Africa Plan (see section C). Thus, the NGDO share (normal and Special Africa Plan) represented 28.17% of all the food aid financed from the resources of Chapter 72. The value of the food aid disbursed under the normal programme in 1991 increased by 13.72% on the 1990 figure of ECU 122.7 million.

Food aid cooperation with the NGDOs is administered through EURONAIID, a service agency, established and managed by those European NGDOs who are the most frequent major suppliers of Community food aid.

A permanent dialogue exists between the Commission and EURONAIID, to coordinate and improve the way the various NGDOs deliver and use the aid.

The third link in this chain of cooperation consists of Commission delegations which play an active "on-the-spot" role at every stage in the execution of food aid operations.

The combined total of products made available to the NGDOs under the normal programme was 351 237 tonnes, broken down as follows:

| PRODUCT | QUANTITIES (tonnes) | PERCENTAGE CHANGE ON 1990 |
|---------------------|------------------------|------------------------------|
| cereals | 282 609 | + 31.2 % |
| skimmed milk powder | 19 945 | - 9.3 % |
| sugar | 4 572 | + 34.5 % |
| vegetable oil | 10 350 | - 3.3 % |
| beans | 32 960 | + 28.4 % |
| dried fish | 801 | - 2.9 % |
| TOTAL | 351 237 | + 27.4 % |

The situation for 1991, compared with 1990, is outlined below.

- (i) There was an increase in the quantities of cereals and sugar placed at the disposal of the NGDOs. These commodities had suffered from budgetary problems during 1990.
- (ii) The available finance, and a shift away from more costly products such as dried fish, allowed a rise in the quantities of beans provided.

- (iii) Quantities of skimmed milk powder fell, because of the expense of the product and transportation problems. Furthermore, skimmed milk powder is utilized only in health and welfare projects, which are fewer than the more favoured development projects.
- (iv) There was a slight drop in the amounts of vegetable oil and dried fish provided, owing to high prices.
- (v) Butteroil was withdrawn from the programme.

A. Types of operation

During 1991, the NGOs implemented operations in the following sectors (calculations based on tonnages)

| | 1991 | % | (1990) |
|-----------------------|------|---|--------|
| Development projects | 18.9 | | 29.1 |
| Refugee projects | 2.6 | | 1.7 |
| Humanitarian projects | 21.6 | | 61.2 |
| Emergency operations | 56.8 | | 8.0 |

The worsening conditions in certain African countries (war, famine, etc.) meant that various development projects had to give way to emergency operations, which rose dramatically in 1991.

B. Breakdown by region

The attached Table VI shows a regional breakdown of the food aid channelled through NGOs.

The severe problems, e.g. drought, poor harvests, war, etc., which continued to ravage Africa, led to an increase in deliveries to the ACP states for all products, save skimmed milk powder (see Table VII). The disastrous situation in Africa resulted in the setting-up of the Special Africa Plan described below. Sudan and Ethiopia were the major recipients of food supplies. In addition to the normal programme, two lots of emergency aid were approved for both countries. Sudan was granted 50 000 tonnes of cereals and 4 000 tonnes of beans. The allocation for Ethiopia was 30 000 tonnes of cereals, with 1 000 tonnes of vegetable oil.

Similarly, in the Caribbean, Haiti benefited from a special emergency allocation of around 10 000 tonnes of cereals, 1 000 tonnes of sugar and 1 000 tonnes of vegetable oil, in view of the worsening political state within the country.

In Asia (see Table VIII) deliveries of most food products, except sugar, decreased. Amounts of cereals to Viet Nam remained high. All the sugar appropriated to Asia was for India. That country, where nutritional programmes for young children are common, received about 50% of skimmed milk powder supplies. Quantities of vegetable oil and beans continued to drop, because these commodities are not favoured by the local populations.

During 1991, the situation in Central America (see Table IX) was reversed in comparison with 1990. There was a decline in supplies of all products, apart from cereals, where there was a sharp rise, mainly to Nicaragua.

Food aid to South America (see Table X) fell slightly in 1991. Allocations of foodstuffs to Chile are declining at a rate of about 20% per annum. The growing social and economic crisis in Peru, coupled with recent natural disasters (earthquake and volcanic eruption in 1990), resulted in more food supplies being directed to that country. In Peru and Bolivia beans are popular, owing to their nutritional value.

There was a considerable increase in the level of deliveries to the Maghreb countries (see Table XI). As in 1990, food allocations to the Mashreq countries (see Table XII) remained low, with quantities of all products, save dried fish, being sent to Egypt.

C. Special Africa Plan

During the autumn of 1990, there were growing fears that the Horn of Africa, certain countries of the Sahel, Southern Africa and West Africa were on the verge of the worst famine in their histories, provoked by drought and the internal political conflicts within some states.

The NGOs were instrumental in focusing the Community's attention on Africa's plight.

In May 1991, Parliament, the Council and the Commission responded to the appeal by agreeing to finance a special programme of food aid for Africa, which provided an additional 400 000 tonnes of cereals at an estimated cost of ECU 140 million ECU. The Commission Decision was taken on 27 May 1991.

E. Community contribution to storage programmes and early warning systems (Budget item B7-2071)

The following operations were approved from the credits for the 1991 financial year.

| Recipient | Country | Project | Amount (ECU) |
|-----------------------|--------------------|--|---------------------|
| CIFCD | Togo | Storage programme for horticultural products | 150 000 |
| Punto di Fraternita | Peru | Construction of a warehouse | 289 580 |
| Caritas | Burundi | Construction of a warehouse | 65 270 |
| Caritas | Guatemala | Construction of a warehouse | 125 183 |
| Action Aid | Mozambique | Construction of 6 prefabricated warehouses | 108 000 |
| Concern | Ethiopia | Construction of 7 prefabricated warehouses | 159.475 |
| Centro Aiuti Mondiali | Dominican Republic | Construction of a warehouse | 169 000 |
| CINTERAD | Mali | Construction of 5 warehouses | 295 000 |
| TOTAL | | | 1 361 508 |

By the end of October 1991, the entire 400 000 tonnes had been mobilized. Food aid, delivered via the NGOs, amounted to 299 497 tonnes (see Table XIII). The total value of the NGO programme was put at ECU 45.5 million, which constituted 24.6% of the total value of food aid channelled through the NGOs during 1991. Close cooperation with the NGOs contributed greatly to the efficient and flexible manner in which this programme was implemented.

In Southern and Western Africa, most of the food supplies allocated arrived at their destinations and were distributed. However, in Sudan, internal difficulties hindered operations at Darfur and halted activities in the south of the country.

The bulk of food products granted to Ethiopia reached the country but, in some cases, rerouting was necessary to meet priorities without incurring too many extra costs. This was true for shipments to be made through the congested port of Assab. The programme allowed for modifications to appropriations, so as to meet any new circumstances and crises which arose. For example, some amounts of food aid were reallocated to Somalia (suffering political chaos), Mozambique and Angola.

D. Mobilization of food aid

During 1991, the mobilization of food aid proved overall to be satisfactory. Commission invitations to tender continued to arouse active interest among producers, enabling reasonable prices to be obtained. However, in the last half of 1991, there was a 15% price rise for vegetable oil, and a steep 40% increase in the price of skimmed milk powder, which created some restraints.

Countries in the Horn of Africa (Sudan and Ethiopia) were still the main recipients of aid and received regular deliveries of all types of products (wheat, flour, vegetable oil, skimmed milk powder, sugar, beans and dried fish). High transport costs remained a fundamental problem and are being carefully monitored.

2.2. Food purchased by the NGOs (Budget item B7-5011)

The regulation currently applicable to this budget facility enables foodstuffs and seeds to be cofinanced and does not restrict action to emergency situations alone. In 1991, ECU 4 470 633 was provided for NGOs to cofinance the purchase of food and seeds.

The following operations were carried out.

| Country | Number of operations | EC Contribution (ECU) |
|--|----------------------|-----------------------|
| A. 1990 Budget: implemented in 1991 | | |
| Ethiopia | 3 | 1 860 895 |
| Philippines | 1 | 113 379 |
| Sudan | 2 | 990 852 |
| Chile | 1 | 103 982 |
| Bolivia | 1 | 61 648 |
| Rwanda | 1 | 62 740 |
| Angola | 1 | 348 838 |
| Burkina Faso | 2 | 577 284 |
| Guatemala | 1 | 74 570 |
| B. 1991 Budget: implemented in 1991 | | |
| Colombia | 1 | 205 850 |
| Eritrea | 2 | 1 059 825 |
| Ethiopia | 1 | 750 000 |
| Sudan | 2 | 701 144 |
| Guatemala | 1 | 20 644 |
| Liberia | 1 | 68 794 |
| Mozambique | 3 | 507 872 |
| Palestine | 1 | 332 683 |
| Brazil | 1 | 32 338 |
| Viet Nam | 1 | 118 913 |
| Angola | 1 | 183 271 |
| Peru | 1 | 133 589 |
| Thailand | 1 | 355 710 |
| TOTAL | 30 | 8 664 821 |

2.3. Emergency aid granted in 1991 to disaster victims in developing and other non-Community countries

1. In 1991, the Commission decided on emergency aid operations totalling ECU 189 020 000 to help disaster victims in developing countries and other non-Community countries. This sum comprised ECU 55 945 000 agreed under the European Development Fund and ECU 133 075 000 agreed under item B7-5000 of the 1991 Commission budget. The latter amount included appropriations agreed under PHARE, namely ECU 8 million for Yugoslavia and ECU 0.3 million for Romania, as well as a sum of ECU 4 million carried forward from 1990.
2. As regards the European Development Fund, substantial assistance continued to be granted to victims of conflicts and droughts in Africa. More than ECU 49 million (88% of the total emergency aid assistance under this heading) was allocated solely to victims of these combined disaster situations in six countries and neighbouring regions: Sudan (ECU 14.5 million), Somalia (ECU 11.2 million), Liberia (ECU 9.3 million), Ethiopia (ECU 7.7 million), Mozambique (ECU 3.4 million) and Angola (ECU 3 million). The remaining funds available were used for operations in other African countries, in Papua New Guinea and in Haiti.
3. Budget item B7-5000 was increased by ECU 100 million by a Council decision, to assist displaced groups and refugees from Iraq. In addition to the sum of ECU 4 million carried forward from 1990, ECU 107.5 million was allocated to alleviate the effects of the Gulf crisis, of which ECU 6 million was for emergency food aid.¹ This unprecedented effort provided an airlift of over 330 planes and resulted in the supply of some 1.5 million blankets, 64 000 tents and almost 60 000 tonnes of food. In addition to using NGOs, the UN and the Red Cross as usual, it involved the Commission in direct actions of its own and in operations carried out by the Member States.

As regards other action under this budget item, emergency aid was allocated to assist people affected by events in the ex-USSR (ECU 5 million), in Albania (ECU 2.5 million), and by the conflict in Yugoslavia (ECU 13 million). Emergency assistance was also made available for victims of cholera in South America, in particular Peru (ECU 1 755 million), cyclones and floods in Bangladesh (ECU 2.4 million), the eruption of Mount Pinatubo in the Philippines (ECU 0.9 million), the conflict in Cambodia (ECU 1.5 million) and earthquakes in Peru (ECU 0.225 million), Afghanistan/Pakistan (ECU 0.5 million), Costa Rica/Panama (ECU 0.25 million) and Guatemala (ECU 0.2 million).

4. The emergency aid funds were used to finance medical and sanitation programmes, as well as to provide shelter, food, clothing, transport and other essential needs for the population concerned. The operations were carried out by specialized international and non-governmental organizations (European and local), by the governments of Member States and the Commission itself.
5. Of the ECU 189 million agreed by the Commission in 1991, more than ECU 186 million was allocated, for a total number of 354 operations. Amongst all groups of partners, the NGOs received the largest share of emergency aid funds, well ahead of UN agencies and the Red Cross organizations. The breakdown of funding and operations was as follows:

| Groups of Partners | Funding | | Operations | |
|--------------------------------------|----------------|--------------|------------|--------------|
| | MECU | % | Number | % |
| NGOs | 79 751 | 42.9 | 232 | 65.6 |
| UN agencies | 45 316 | 24.3 | 33 | 9.3 |
| Red Cross organizations | 43 067 | 23.1 | 62 | 17.5 |
| Member States' governments | 13 514 | 7.3 | 12 | 3.4 |
| Intergovernmental Organization (IOM) | 2 708 | 1.5 | 5 | 1.4 |
| Commission and its Delegations | 1 764 | 0.9 | 10 | 2.8 |
| TOTAL | 186 120 | 100.0 | 354 | 100.0 |

6. The emergency aid actions of the Commission were closely coordinated with those of the Member States, in the framework of the coordination procedures of the Community (information telexes, coordination meetings, etc.). Nearly ECU 697 million was made available by the Member States for emergency aid operations in 1991.

2.4 Aid towards self-sufficiency for refugees, displaced persons and voluntary returnees in Asia and Latin America (Budget Article B7-302)

Since they were first introduced in 1984, Article B7-302 allocations have steadily increased. They are intended to increase recipients' self-sufficiency in the two- to three-year period between the initial emergency and the development phase.

Between 1984 and 1991, a total of ECU 167 384 000 went to finance 142 projects (including preparatory studies and evaluation missions) implemented by a variety of European NGOs (working together with their local counterparts), international organizations (chiefly UNHCR) and government bodies.¹

In 1991, a total of ECU 45 790 000 was committed under Article B7-302 for 33 projects, with ECU 30 390 000 (73% of the total) going to Asia and ECU 15 400 000 (27%) going to Latin America. Of the 33 projects, 15 were cofinanced with European NGOs: six in Asia and nine in Latin America, to the amount of ECU 5 940 000 and ECU 5 026 000 respectively. The total cofinanced, ECU 10 966 000, represented 24% of the finance committed in 1991.

The scope and geographical spread of the programmes implemented in 1991 for refugees, displaced persons and returnees was expanded. They continued to tie in with the action plans adopted at the international conference on refugees in Central America (CIREFCA, Guatemala, 1989) and on Indo-Chinese refugees (Comprehensive Plan of Action (CPA), Geneva, 1989).

In Asia, NGOs implemented Community aid via new projects, in the fields of education in Pakistan and Thailand, agriculture and stock farming in Afghanistan, and health in Thailand. The possibilities in this continent of repatriating people and resettling them in their home regions prompted the Commission to devise a new model for this kind of aid, consisting of programmes coordinated between international institutions, NGOs and the home countries, with the help of experts.

¹ A Commission working document, I/765/90 - "Community aid to refugees, displaced persons and returnees in the developing countries of Latin America and Asia" outlines the aid granted between 1984 and 1989. A similar report is being compiled for 1990-1991.

The new model has already been put into practice, since NGOs are taking part in an ECU 12 150 000 programme to repatriate and reintegrate Vietnamese asylum-seekers who are not deemed to be refugees. The programme involves UNHCR, the Commission Delegation in Bangkok and several NGOs (who will handle ECU 4 107 531 under the programme). In addition to this programme, of the six programmes implemented by NGOs in Asia in 1991, three covered refugees in Thailand and Pakistan and three were for refugees and displaced persons in Afghanistan and Cambodia. The total amount financed by the Community and channelled via NGOs was ECU 10 047 531.

In Central America, given the regional peace process now under way, Community aid since 1990 has focused on assistance for the repatriation and resettlement of people returning to their homelands. The projects cofinanced and implemented by the NGOs in 1991 in Central America mainly relate to health and nutrition in El Salvador, Nicaragua and Guatemala, support for livestock rearing in Honduras and Nicaragua, manufacturing micro-projects and the building of homes and infrastructure in El Salvador. Of nine projects implemented in Latin America, six involved the repatriation and reintegration of returnees in their country of origin (El Salvador, Nicaragua), two concerned displaced people in Guatemala and Honduras, and one involved Guatemalan refugees in Mexico.

Table XIV lists the schemes financed with the NGOs under Article B7-302 for refugees and displaced persons in the developing countries of Asia and Latin America.

2.5 Aid for NGOs operating in Chile (Budget Item B7-5073)

Item B7-5073, first included in the Community budget in 1986, was allocated ECU 5 million in appropriations for commitment and payment in 1991. Its aim is now to help the people of Chile through NGO schemes and to contribute to economic cooperation with Chile.

During the year, 154 requests for a total of ECU 16.3 million were submitted by Chilean and European NGOs. Of these, 41 schemes totalling ECU 3 million could be financed with the available resources, the balance being used for economic cooperation. As in previous years, then, almost all Item B7-5073 resources were committed.

The breakdown of schemes cofinanced under Item B7-5073 in 1991 was as follows:

| | Number of schemes | EC contributions (ECU) | (%) |
|---|-------------------|------------------------|------------|
| Human rights | 2 | 83 334 | 1.5 |
| Economic activity | 11 | 642 620 | 13.0 |
| Promotion of women | 3 | 105 489 | 2.0 |
| Ethnic minorities | 1 | 89 160 | 1.5 |
| Improving living conditions | 4 | 213 631 | 4.5 |
| Health | 5 | 242 532 | 5.0 |
| Civic education/ decentralization and participation | 6 | 847 628 | 17.0 |
| Unions | 1 | 83 333 | 1.5 |
| Education & training | 5 | 422 500 | 8.5 |
| Miscellaneous | 3 | 246 333 | 5.0 |
| Economic cooperation | 1 | 2 000 000 | 40.5 |
| TOTAL | 42 | 4 976 560 | 100 |

Schemes financed in previous years have been, or are being, completed, with very encouraging results in most cases. All in all, 193 schemes received total financial help of ECU 17 million from the Community between 1986 and 1991.

The NGOs and project beneficiaries continue to attach great value to the Item B7-5073 programme. All our information suggests that it gives a definite boost to the Community's positive image in Chilean eyes and fosters new mutual feelings of confidence.

2.6 Programme of North-South cooperation projects in the campaign against drug abuse (Budget Item B7-5045)

The projects put forward and carried out by the NGOs have been part of the programme since it was set up in 1987.

In 1991, 57.9% of total Item B7-5045 commitments, amounting to ECU 5 387 805, went to 20 projects implemented by 20 different NGOs.

| Region | Number of projects | EC contribution (ECU) |
|--------------------------|---------------------------|------------------------------|
| All developing countries | 2 | 655 000 |
| Asia | 4 | 1 297 474 |
| Latin America | 12 | 3 141 844 |
| Africa | 2 | 293 587 |
| TOTAL | 20 | 5 387 805 |

In accordance with the programme's guidelines adopted by the Council on 26 January 1987, the projects are aimed at the various components of the drug problem and seek to stop the illegal production of drugs, and to curb and, more importantly prevent, drug taking. A few NGO projects in this area (alternative crops, training etc.) were also cofinanced as part of the Item B7-5010 programme.

2.7 Special aid programme for apartheid victims (Budget Item B7-5070)

1. In implementing the Community's special programme under Budget Item B7-5070, (ECU 10 million was made available under the 1986 budget, ECU 20 million in 1987, ECU 25.5 million in 1988, ECU 25 million in 1989, ECU 30 million in 1990 and ECU 60 million in 1991), the Commission is working within the framework established by European Political Cooperation on 10 September 1985, part of which stipulates that assistance should be channelled through non-violent organizations, particularly the churches.

Accordingly, four channels were established:

- the South African Council of Churches (SACC);
- Southern African Catholic Bishops' Conference (SACBC);
- the Kagiso Trust;
- the trade unions.

Community assistance is channelled to recipients on the spot via these four groups.

In the light of the changing situation in South Africa and the fact that in February 1991 the Commission opened a programme coordination office in Pretoria, it was agreed that the four groups would no longer have exclusive access to resources under the special programme. The Commission, in conjunction with its traditional partners, is attempting to widen the range of institutions with which it cooperates, so as to flesh out the 'development' dimension of the programme. The special programme will, however, continue to be expanded in line with the criteria and guidelines followed to date.

2. Projects put forward for support from the Community's special programme are decided on an individual basis by the Commission, after approval by the Community's coordination office in Pretoria and consultation with the embassies of the Member States in South Africa and Member State experts in Brussels. No project designed to support the activities of political organizations is eligible for Community financing under this programme. Only projects which are of a peaceful, non-violent nature may be supported.

3. As for the implementation of the special programme, 80 projects were approved in 1991, using up all of the budget allocation for the year.

4. From the start of the project in 1986 to late 1991, 443 projects were approved for a total of ECU 166.6 million, thus using all available budgetary allocations.

This total of ECU 166.6 million is broken down as follows:

|--------------|------------------|
| Churches | ECU 47.5 million |
| Kagiso Trust | ECU 98.3 million |
| Trade unions | ECU 10.8 million |
| UNHCR/NCCR | ECU 10.0 million |

All these projects are situated in Southern Africa. The process begun in 1991 with a view to bringing about the end of apartheid has given the special programme more of a development perspective. As a direct consequence, since October 1991, resources have been allocated mainly to the following sectors and activities:

- education and training;
- rural and urban development, and
- health.

2.8 Support for front line States and SADCC Member States (Budget Item B7-5071)

In 1991, ECU 17 million was allocated to Item B7-5071, first introduced in 1988 to counter South Africa's efforts to destabilize the front line States and the Member States of the SADCC.

The resources were used to finance 37 projects:

- ECU 4 210 730 (24.8%) was granted to 14 projects involving training, education and information, including study programmes for refugees from SADCC countries subjected to destabilization, training awards and programmes bringing together different groups of the population interested in a non-violent transition to a new South Africa, and studies to promote the integration of displaced groups.

- ECU 12 789 210 (75.2%) went to 23 projects aimed at providing initial aid for those affected by destabilization, in the form of equipment, care and informal education and training to enable them to be reintegrated into society. The projects also aimed to rehabilitate hospitals and training centres, and to bring together and educate orphans and children separated from their families.
- Twenty-three of the 37 projects, amounting to ECU 10 479 611, or 61.6% of the available resources, were specially devoted to displaced people, refugees and returnees.

More than two-thirds of commitments had been paid out by the end of the financial year. This is evidence of the rapidity with which the projects were implemented.

NGOs ran 23 of the projects financed, using a total of ECU 10 685 262 or 62.8% of available resources.

2.9 Financial assistance for the West Bank and the Gaza Strip (Budget Article B7-406)

Following the conclusions of the Council on 27 October 1986, a new heading (Article 966) was introduced into the Community budget in 1987 to finance development projects in the Israeli-occupied territories of the West Bank and the Gaza Strip. Until then, the Community had been carrying out an ad hoc programme of aid to these territories including rural development, study or training awards and other projects cofinanced with European NGOs. Between 1981 and 1986, total finance for this programme stood at approximately ECU 9 million (including ECU 4 million for NGO projects cofinanced under Article 941).

The Commission was able to finance a wider range of development activities under Article B7-406 (formerly 966) and funded 77 projects in 1987, 1988, 1989, 1990 and 1991 with a total Community contribution of some ECU 27 million (1987: ECU 2.97 million; 1988: ECU 3 million; 1989: ECU 5 million; 1990: ECU 6 million; 1991: ECU 10 million). Small- and medium-scale credit operations accounted for 45% of available funds in 1991, 23.7% went to psychotherapy and primary health care, 22.1% to education and vocational training, and 9.4% to other projects such as agricultural and infrastructure schemes, and aid to production cooperatives.

Priority areas for financing under Article B7-406 included support for projects generating employment in the agricultural and industrial sectors; support for education campaigns (secondary/higher education and vocational training); support for primary health care projects and family planning; and schemes aimed at strengthening local Palestinian institutions. These were identified and formulated following direct contact with local organizations in order to ensure that they corresponded closely to local needs and development efforts.

2.10. Aid for NGOs operating in Viet Nam and Cambodia (Budget Items B7-5074 and B7-5075)

Budget items B7-5074 and B7-5075 were introduced into the Community budget in 1991. They are designed to enable NGO operations to assist the people of Viet Nam and Cambodia. This shows the Community's willingness to signal its appreciation of and support for the political opening-up of the region and to step up the activity of European NGOs which have been operating on the ground for a number of years.

ECU 2 million was allocated to item B7-5074 in 1991, enabling eight schemes to be financed with four European NGOs with long experience of working in Viet Nam. The schemes are mainly social and economic measures to promote production and help create employment.

Item B7-5075, originally introduced into the budget as a token entry, was allocated ECU 500 000 only in autumn 1991. Since it was a small amount allocated relatively late, the funds were used for a single project focusing on strengthening human resources in Cambodia.

III. CONCLUSIONS AND OUTLOOK

Over the past 16 years, cooperation with NGOs based in the Community countries has grown into one of the most active areas of the Community's development cooperation.

In 1991, as in previous years, the results of this cooperation were positive and encouraging, with a significant 50% rise from ECU 318.5 million in 1990 to ECU 480 million in 1991 in the amount of Community resources made available to the various NGO schemes.

As outlined in the report, joint EC-NGDO efforts cover a large and increasing number of fields. Such close collaboration demonstrates the high degree of confidence and credibility vested in NGDO schemes, which have always been supported by Parliament and Member States' representatives within the Council. One need only point to recent resolutions on NGDOs adopted by the Council (in May 1991) and Parliament (in May 1991), which recognize the increasingly important role played by NGDOs in European development cooperation and the institutions' satisfaction with the level of collaboration between the NGDOs and the Community.

The Community sees the projects implemented by European NGDOs in conjunction with organizations in the South as an integral and vital part of any cooperation policy, alongside direct government action. By backing the development efforts of local communities, they enable their basic needs to be met more effectively.

However, the growing role of communities and grassroots organizations in the countries of the South demands increased support for such Southern organizations in Community cooperation projects. Great importance will be attached to schemes cofinanced with European NGDOs aimed at strengthening the role of partner organizations in developing countries and their institutional and financial capacity for independent action. Similarly, the Community will welcome practical steps towards a new decentralized cooperation approach in which NGDOs can play an important role.

The Community will also pay special attention to supporting schemes from Southern NGOs and other organizations aimed at rooting democracy more firmly and promoting human rights, in line with the Council's views in its resolution of November 1991.

Similarly, the Community is ready to support the various activities of NGO networks in the South and to strengthen links with European NGDO networks.

With regard to public awareness campaigns in Europe, the Community will continue to provide increasing scope for partners in the South in development education in the Community. At the same time, the emphasis on North-South interdependence and the European dimension will be increased in projects to be cofinanced, in line with the changes that have taken place at global and European level in the past few years.
