EURATOM - ARGENTINA COOPERATION AGREEMENT TO BE SIGNED

WASHINGTON, D. C., September 5 -- A cooperation agreement will be signed at Buenos Aires this week between the European Atomic Energy Community (Euratom) and the government of the Republic of Argentina.

The agreement provides that the two parties undertake mutual aid and assistance in development and exploitation of nuclear energy for peaceful purposes. The agreement provides in particular for cooperation in exchange of information, students, technicians and instructors, and concerning the supply of nuclear materials.

Apart from these technical provisions, the agreement reflects the keen interest of the Community in the intensification and development of cooperation with Latin America.
