EEC COMMISSION PRESIDENT TO VISIT BRITAIN,
MEET WITH PRIME MINISTER MACMILLAN, HEATH

WASHINGTON, D.C., May 21 -- Professor Walter Hallstein, President of the Commission of the Common Market, will visit London this Friday (May 24) where he will be guest speaker at the annual luncheon of the National Association of British Manufacturers, it was announced today in Brussels. His subject will be "Britain and the European Community: Present, Past, and Future." (A press conference will be held immediately after the speech.)

President Hallstein will remain in Britain over the weekend as guest of the British Government.

On Saturday and Sunday he will visit the Lord Privy Seal, Edward Heath, at Chequers. Arrangements have been made for a visit to Oxford on Sunday. A meeting with Prime Minister Harold Macmillan has been arranged for next Monday (May 27) at Admiralty House.

President Hallstein will return to Brussels on Tuesday, May 28.
