Subject: Siemens-Elettra Plant in Sulmona

In view of the situation which has arisen at the ACE company in Sulmona - a subsidiary of the Siemens-Elettra Company - where workers are facing unemployment in a region with few alternative employment possibilities for skilled workers, and given that the Italian Government has made proposals to the company concerned designed to overcome its present difficulties, does the Commission not consider that it should intervene with all the means at its disposal to prevent the grave employment crisis which would occur if the ACE company were to close?
