relations between the European Economic Community and the United States

---oOo---

The European Parliament,

- having noted the recent positions adopted by the United States authorities on the new direction to be given to relations between the Community and the United States;
  - aware of the importance of this matter for the future development of the European Community;
  - referring to paragraph (vii) of the Preamble to the Communiqué issued by the Heads of State or of Government at their Paris meeting which reads:
"The construction of Europe will allow it, in conformity with its ultimate political objectives, to affirm its personality while remaining faithful to its traditional friendships and to the alliances of the Member States, and to establish its position in world affairs as a distinct entity determined to promote a better international equilibrium, respecting the principles of the Charter of the United Nations..."
1. Expresses its conviction that the Community has more than a purely regional responsibility;
  2. Instructs its appropriate committees to submit to it shortly reports on the whole complex of issues raised by these matters.
