HAFERKAMP TO LEAD EC DELEGATION IN HIGH-LEVEL US-EC TALKS

Wilhelm Haferkamp, EC Commission Vice President for External Relations, will lead a delegation of European Community officials in two days of high-level consultations with their US counterparts in Washington D.C. on November 8-9.

The semiannual consultations, to be held at the US State Department, will focus on the world economic situation, US and EC economic policies, East-West relations, energy and international trade.

Haferkamp and other members of the EC delegation will meet with a US delegation of trade and economic officials led by Allen Wallis, Undersecretary of State for Economic Affairs, and including Lionel Olmer, Undersecretary of Commerce for International Trade and Deputy US Trade Representative David Macdonald.

Also representing the European Community will be Sir Roy Denman, Head of the EC Commission Delegation to Washington; Leslie Fielding, Director General for External Relations and Raymond Phan Van Phi, Director of Relations with North America.

The US and EC delegations will give a joint press briefing at the conclusion of their consultations on Tuesday, November 9 at 11:30 a.m. in the State Department briefing room.
