1. Reorganization of working time

Proposals on voluntary part-time work and retirement age

1.1.1. As an expression of its concern to see an improvement in living and working conditions and bring about a reduction in unemployment the Commission placed before the Council two proposals (adopted on 8 December) on the reorganization of working time, namely a proposal for a Directive on voluntary part-time work and a draft Recommendation on the principles of a Community policy with regard to retirement age.

Background to the proposals

1.1.2. The problem of reorganizing working time was first discussed at the Tripartite Conference in mid-1977 and at the end of 1978.¹ At the Tripartite Conference in November 1978 the Commission presented an overall strategy for tackling employment problems, pointing out that measures involving a reorganization of working time constituted one of its main objectives.

The European Council held in Paris in March 1979² called on the Commission to present a communication on the social and economic implications of a concerted reorganization of working time.

Action by the Council

1.1.3. On the basis of the Standing Committee on Employment's discussions and conclusions at its meetings on 21 March 1978³ and 22 May 1979⁴ and of the Council's deliberations on 15 May 1979,⁵ the Commission presented a draft Resolution on the reorganization of working time to the Council on 30 October 1979; it was adopted on 18 December 1979.⁶

As regards part-time work, the Council Resolution laid down four principles: it should be voluntary and open to both men and women, it should be made more readily available to certain groups of workers, working patterns should be flexible and not limited to half-time work, and part-time workers should have the same rights and obligations as their full-time colleagues.

Flexible retirement should be voluntary and developed in conjunction with part-time work and longer holidays for older employees. This would make for a gradual withdrawal from working life at the end of an employee's career.

Proposals from the Commission

Voluntary part-time work

1.1.4. The proposal for a Directive on voluntary part-time work which the Commission sent to the Council on 4 January 1982 takes these guidelines into account and refers to the stance adopted by Parliament in a debate on the position of women in the Community⁷ in which it was emphasized that part-time work should not be reserved mainly for women but available to all workers.

The Commission's proposal is aimed at eliminating the main abuses and discriminatory practices existing in this field. It is not designed to lay down special rules for part-time workers but to enable them to avail themselves of advantages already enjoyed by full-time workers.

1.1.5. The proposal establishes the principle of non-discrimination in matters affecting conditions of employment, rules governing dismissal, participation in bodies representing employees and access to vocational training, promotion, social facilities and medical care at work. It lays down the conditions for membership of statutory or occupational social security schemes and establishes the principle that part-time workers' remuneration, holiday, redundancy pay and retirement benefits should be in proportion to those of full-time workers doing an equivalent job. Furthermore, it gives part-time workers wishing to take up or resume full-time employment priority in the allocation of vacant posts, depending on their qualifications. Lastly, the proposal recommends that part-time workers be included in the total count of employees in an undertaking and provides for the application of procedures for consulting and informing workers' representatives on recourse to part-time work.

Retirement age

1.1.6. The Recommendation on the principles of a Community policy with regard to retirement age, which the Commission sent to the Council on 15 December,¹ is designed to translate into practical proposals the consensus achieved at the meeting of the Standing Committee on Employment on 11 December 1980,² at which it was decided that all workers should have the right, on reaching a certain age, to choose when they retire.

The Commission, which was given the task of formulating practical proposals in this field, took the view that a Council Recommendation was the most appropriate instrument for achieving this end—which was one of the long-term objectives of social policy in the Member States—while taking account of national differences and the jurisdiction of the various bodies concerned.

1.1.7. The Recommendation calls on the Member States to introduce flexible retirement gradually into the framework of pension schemes, setting out a number of principles.

The Member States are recommended to undertake, as a first stage, an examination of their retirement systems in the light of these principles over the next two years, and to examine the feasibility of generalizing opportunities for phased retirement with a view to easing the transition out of full-time employment into retirement.

The results of this examination should enable the Commission to report to the Council on progress made and obstacles encountered and to propose such other measures as may be needed.

2. Equal opportunities for women

New Community action programme (1982-85)

1.2.1. On 14 December the Commission sent the Council a communication on the new Community action programme on the promotion of equal opportunities for women¹ to be implemented over the years 1982-85. This initiative was taken primarily in response to the resolution on the position of women passed by Parliament in February 1981.² The Community's long-standing commitment to improving the situation of women has established it as a pioneer and innovator in this field. The attainment of equal opportunity and equal treatment for men and women in society—especially with respect to employment—is inevitably a long and complex task. The Community has a responsibility to sustain its commitment and pursue its activities by building on what has already been achieved and adapting its policies in the light of economic and social developments. The new programme is intended to achieve this objective.

Community achievements in promoting equal opportunities for women

1.2.2. Community action in promoting equal opportunities for women was launched in the early 1960s with studies, conferences and recommendations on progress in the Member States in implementing Article 119 of the EEC Treaty on equal pay for equal work. An important step forward was the 1974 Council Resolution on the social action programme,¹ expressing the political will to ensure equality as regards access to employment, vocational training and working conditions. The implementation of this Resolution gave rise to a communication transmitted by the Commission to the Council on 12 February 1975 on the equality of treatment of male and female workers,² and to the adoption of three Directives to provide the framework for Community action: the Council Directive of 10 February 1975 on the application of the principle of equal pay for men and women (75/117/EEC),³ that of 9 February 1976 on the implementation of the principle of equal treatment as regards access to employment, vocational training and promotion, and working conditions (76/207/EEC)⁴ and that of 19 December 1978 on the progressive implementation of the principle of equal treatment in matters of social security (79/7/EEC).⁵ These instruments have played a role in stimulating action by the Member States, speeding up the adoption of national legislation in this field. In addition, the Community financial instruments—especially the European Social Fund—have contributed to the achievement of equal opportunity in practice. In particular, the Council Decision of 20 December 1977 on action by the European Social Fund for women⁶ gave an impetus to the Community policy of promoting desegregation in employment by providing financial support for specific training measures designed to facilitate access by women to occupations in which they were traditionally under-represented.

The new programme: a dual approach

1.2.3. The new programme, which includes a draft Resolution for the Council's approval, sets out a dual approach to the gradual achievement of equal opportunity for women. The two elements of this approach are the strengthening of individual rights and the achievement of equal opportunity in practice; each corresponds to a series of proposed actions, of which there are a total of sixteen.

Strengthening individual rights

1.2.4. This series of actions is aimed at strengthening the rights of the individual as a way of achieving equal treatment. It is intended to ensure respect for existing Community Directives or to supplement them where appropriate; in seeking to obtain compliance with Directives, the Commission is calling for the strengthening of existing national bodies for the promotion of women's employment and equal opportunities and the creation of a network of contacts between such bodies. This network should assist in monitoring the implementation of EEC Directives, in particular in the area of 'indirect discrimination' (Action 1). Moreover, experience in several Member States shows that there is ample scope for improving arrangements for legal redress in the area of equal treatment (Action 2). Another joint action is necessary to assist Member States in their task of revising protective legislation, as provided for in Directive 76/207 (Action 3). The principle of equal treatment should also be extended to aspects of social security schemes currently exempted or otherwise not covered by Community legislation. In this context certain basic concepts of social security systems (e.g. the concept of the man as family provider) need to be reviewed in order to establish individual entitlements to social security cover (Action 4).

Application of the Directives to self-employed women and women in agriculture raises certain problems as regards civil, commercial, tax and social security law, and special action is needed at Community level to overcome them (Action 5). More specific Community measures to correct the discrimination inherent in tax legislation is also required (Action 6). Measures designed to ensure a more equal sharing of parental responsibility, e.g. by extending leave entitlement to both parents, in parallel with efforts to consolidate public facilities and services, should also be pursued (Action 7). On the specific question of maternity leave and the provisions for protection of women during pregnancy and early motherhood, action is required at both national and Community level to raise standards of protection while at the same time seeking to remove disincentives to the employment of women (Action 8).

Achievement of equal opportunities in practice

1.2.5. A further series of actions is required to neutralize or counteract non-legal obstacles to equal opportunities for women, in particular the constraints and conditioning of attitudes based on the traditional segregation of roles in society. The types of measure undertaken, for example, in North America and Scandinavia should serve as examples for a possible legal framework for Community action, the resources to be mobilized and the conditions of eligibility, notably for equal treatment in access to employment, with particular emphasis being placed on new methods of obtaining this objective (Actions 9 and 10). Another measure is designed to publicize the range of possible careers open to women and to encourage women to enlarge their occupational options (Action 11).

Desegregation of employment should be promoted, particularly in the public service (Action 12), and the impact of the economic recession on women's job opportunities should be monitored (Action 13). In this context special attention should be paid to the problems facing immigrant women (Action 14). Over and above this, efforts should be made to share occupational, family and social responsibilities more equally—for instance, by stepping up the participation of women in decision-making bodies, particularly those with responsibilities for the job market (Action 15). Finally, the Commission will launch an information programme to counter stereotyped viewpoints and discriminatory behaviour and to hasten changes in attitudes (Action 16).

3. Conciliation between institutions

An improved and extended procedure

1.3.1. On 16 December the Commission laid before Parliament and the Council a draft joint declaration concerning a new conciliation procedure between the three institutions.

The reasons for revising the procedure

1.3.2. The new declaration is to supersede that of 4 March 1975,¹ whereby Parliament, the Council and the Commission established a conciliation procedure between the three institutions aimed at involving Parliament more effectively in the adoption of certain important Community acts with major financial implications. It is recognized that in most instances this procedure has not worked satisfactorily. In their Report on the European institutions in October 1979 the Three Wise Men put their fingers on the imperfections and suggested a number of improvements.¹ At the Strasbourg meeting between the Foreign Ministers, Parliament's enlarged Bureau and the Commission on 17 November 1981,² the President of the Council recognized that the procedure was not working properly: generally speaking, it had not come up to Parliament's expectations, in that it had not given the House the sense of being part of a real dialogue with the Council. Lastly, the directly-elected Parliament has urged that the procedure be extended to cover all important Community legislation, with or without major financial implications, and has criticized the present arrangements under which the procedure is initiated only if both Council and Parliament agree that it is applicable.

Proposed improvements

1.3.3. In its communication on relations between the Community institutions dated 14 October 1981³ the Commission had already proposed to Parliament and the Council that the procedure should be reviewed and adapted in such a way as to make it really effective.

Wider scope

1.3.4. Whereas hitherto the procedure has been applied to Community acts of general application with major financial implications whose adoption is not required by acts already existing, the Commission proposes that the procedure be extended, as desired by Parliament, to cover all important acts of general application whose adoption is not required by acts already existing.

Conditions for initiating the procedure

1.3.5. Previously, the procedure was initiated only when the Council intended to depart from Parliament's opinion. The Commission is proposing that the procedure be initiated whenever Parliament, the Council or the Commission so requests.

Earlier initiation

1.3.6. Hitherto, the first meeting of the Conciliation Committee was generally held only when the Council had put a joint approach to Parliament, this joint approach being the result of a hard-won compromise between Member States, which were then very reluctant to go back on their positions.

In other words, then, the decision had already been taken. The major innovation now is that the Commission is proposing that the first meeting of the Conciliation Committee should be held after work has progressed as far as possible, as soon as the members of the Council have studied a Commission proposal sufficiently to be able to discuss it to some purpose with parliamentary and Commission representatives.

Even at the second and last meeting of the Conciliation Committee, if such a meeting be needed, the joint approach established by the Council should leave room for a number of options and thus enable discussion to be profitable and fruitful. This choice of options is also an interesting innovation since it will broaden the discussion. After the last meeting Parliament will have time to deliver a new opinion, after which the Council will be entitled to take definitive action.

1.3.7. The Commission believes that a special procedure should be used for considering its draft for the new joint declaration. The three institutions could agree to appoint high-level representatives to consider the Commission's draft, seek an agreement on proposed amendments and report back to them. Naturally, the creation of this ad hoc working party holds no implications for future decisions, each institution remaining free to define its position on the basis of the working party's report. The Commission believes that this suggested procedure should allow satisfactory agreement to be reached swiftly on the improvements to the conciliation procedure which the three institutions regard as necessary.

4. The Community and Poland

1.4.1. Throughout 1981, considerable attention has been devoted to the development of the situation in Poland by the Community institutions and the political cooperation machinery. The main practical results over the past twelve months were the decision to supply foodstuffs at reduced prices adopted following the meeting of the European Council in Luxembourg in December 1980¹ and the decision adopted in the closing days of 1981 to supply emergency humanitarian aid and a Community gift of beef.

The sudden proclamation of martial law in Poland on 13 December prompted the Ten, meeting in London on 14 and 15 December, to voice their concern at the new developments. This initial reaction was followed by a second communiqué published at the conclusion of the informal meeting held in Brussels on 4 January 1982, in which the Ministers stressed their utter disapproval of what was happening in Poland. On 17 December Parliament adopted a resolution condemning the introduction of martial law.

The reactions

1.4.2. The final communiqué issued at the end of the Foreign Ministers' meeting in Brussels on 4 January 1982 read as follows:

'1. The Ten utterly disapprove of the development of the situation in Poland.

2. They have noted the declarations of the Polish leadership of its intention to maintain national independence and to re-establish in the near future liberty and the process of reform as well as resuming the dialogue with the various elements of the Polish nation. Unhappily the Ten must note today that, contrary to these declarations, what has taken place has not been dialogue but repression, bringing in its train violations of the most elementary human and citizens' rights, contrary to the Helsinki Final Act, the United Nations Charter, and the Universal Declaration of Human Rights.

3. The Ten therefore appeal urgently to the Polish authorities to end as soon as possible the state of martial law, to release those arrested, and to restore a general dialogue with the Church and Solidarity.

4. The significance of these grave events extends beyond Poland itself. The inability of the system in Eastern Europe to accept the modifications necessary to meet the legitimate aspirations of the people is such as to endanger public confidence in the possibility of cooperative links with the East, and thus seriously to affect international relations. In this context the Ten note with concern and disapproval the serious external pressure and the campaign directed by the USSR and other Eastern European countries against the efforts for renewal in Poland.

5. This already grave situation would be further aggravated if it led to an open intervention by the Warsaw Pact. For this reason the Ten wish to issue a solemn warning against any such intervention.

6. The Ten are totally in sympathy with the Polish people and are willing to continue the direct humanitarian aid to them.

7. The Ten have taken note of the economic measures taken by the United States Government with regard to the USSR. The Ten will undertake in this context close and positive consultations with the United States Government and with the governments of other Western States in order to define what decisions will best serve their common objectives and to avoid any step which could compromise their respective actions.

8. Developments in Poland constitute a grave violation of the principles of the Helsinki Final Act. The Ten therefore consider that the Madrid Conference should discuss them as soon as possible at ministerial level. The Ten will make approaches to the neutral and non-aligned States to propose an early resumption of the Madrid meeting.

9. The Ten will work in the United Nations and its specialized agencies for a denunciation of violations of human rights and acts of violence.

10. Other measures will be considered as the situation in Poland develops, in particular measures concerning credit and economic assistance to Poland, and measures concerning the Community's commercial policy with regard to the USSR. In addition the Ten will examine the question of further food aid to Poland.

11. The Ten have called on the Polish authorities both nationally and through the Presidency to lift the abnormal and unacceptable restrictions which have been placed on the work of embassies, representatives of the media, air services and other communications in Poland.

12. The Ten will study what can be done to alleviate the situation of Poles outside Poland who do not wish to return to their country under present circumstances.'

1.4.3. The main points of the resolution adopted by Parliament on 17 December¹ are as follows:

'The European Parliament,

- alarmed at the measures taken by the Polish authorities including the declaration of a 'state of war', the setting-up of a special military body, the arrests of thousands of people, including leading members of the trade union "Solidarity";
 - aware that this constitutes a severe blow to attempts to resolve the Polish crisis politically, by means of an effective process of renewal and democratization of society and State;
 - considering the risks to security and cooperation which could arise from these events;
 - recalling its resolutions of September 1980 and of May 1981, which warned against external interference in Poland's affairs;
1. condemns the measures taken, calls for a repeal of the 'state of war' declared on 13 December 1981, and demands the immediate release of those arrested;
 2. calls for the re-establishment of civil and trade union liberties, so that all the vital elements of Polish society are able to participate freely in the resumption of the search for a political solution of the crisis;
 3. reaffirms its opposition to all external interference and emphasizes that it is up to the Polish people—and them alone—to freely determine their own future; ...'

Food supplies to assist Poland

1.4.4. In response to requests from the Polish authorities, the Council has adopted three decisions over the past twelve months involving the supply of foodstuffs at reduced prices. The three instalments—decided in December 1980,² April-May 1981³ and October 1981⁴ — involve the following products (in tonnes):

Milk products

Butter	50 000
Whole-milk powder	5 000
Cheese	5 000

Meat

Beef	55 000
Pork	55 000

Sugar	55 000
--------------	--------

Cereals

Wheat	547 500
Barley	481 500
Rye	25 000
Rice	30 000
Pearl barley	10 000

Olive oil	3 600
------------------	-------

Lemons	30 000

1.4.5. In response to a request from Parliament, the Council decided on 7 December to supply 8 000 t of beef as a gift; the decision was implemented on 10 December in a Commission Regulation which provides for the exportation of meat from intervention stocks before 1 March 1982.⁵ The Commission has obtained assurances from the Polish authorities that this gift will indeed benefit the civilian population in Poland.

1.4.6. On 23 December the Commission decided to supply emergency aid worth 2 million ECU to the Polish people, particularly the most vulnerable groups (the sick, large families, young children, etc.). The Commission based its decision inter alia on the guarantees provided by the non-governmental organizations responsible for delivery that the aid would go direct to the intended recipients.

5. Renewal of the Multifibre Arrangement

1.5.1. The negotiations for the renewal of the Arrangement regarding International Trade in Textiles (known as the Multifibre Arrangement or MFA),¹ which was due to expire on 31 December, were concluded in Geneva on 22 December. Talks had been going on for a year, though the renewal negotiations proper only got under way after 17 November, when the Council finalized the Community's position on bilateral agreements.² The final session of the GATT Textiles Committee, from 18 November to 22 December, culminated in agreement on a Protocol extending the Arrangement.

1.5.2. With its textile industry facing severe problems, the Community's position during the decisive stage of the negotiations was a difficult one. The share of the Community market taken by imported textiles and clothing stands at almost 45%, well ahead of the level of market penetration in the other major importing countries, and 800 000 jobs have been lost in the industry since the first MFA was negotiated in 1973.³ The Community had no choice but to insist that the multilateral arrangement provide a means of cutting the dominant suppliers' levels of market access, and that a clause be included making it possible to prevent sudden surges of imports within underutilized quotas. The Community also called for the negotiation of import growth rates of less than 6% a year for sensitive products, the suspension of flexibility provisions, and an effective means of dealing with fraudulent textile imports.

1.5.3. The Protocol extending the MFA goes most of the way towards meeting the Community's objectives at the multilateral level. As regards the key issues, it now includes, on Community insistence:

- a clause allowing differential treatment for dominant supplier countries, backed by assurances that they would be prepared to open negotiations for agreements reflecting Community negotiating directives on access reductions and the removal of flexibility provisions;
- a clause to prevent import surges within underutilized quotas, providing for the negotiation of suitable arrangements offering compensation.

The new Protocol contains various other provisions which take account of Community demands on such matters as growth rates, flexibility clauses, evasion of MFA disciplines by fraudulent imports and differential treatment of outward-processing traffic.

1.5.4. The Commission considers the new Protocol an acceptable basis for the negotiation of bilateral agreements in accordance with the negotiating directives issued by the Council.

In a final statement the Community's negotiator said he would recommend that the Community accept the Protocol extending the MFA. Given the essential link between the multilateral framework constituted by the Arrangement and the Community's bilateral agreements, he made it plain that if it proved impossible to conclude satisfactory new agreements under the Protocol the Community would be unable to remain a party to the MFA.

ACTIVITIES
IN DECEMBER 1981

1. Building the Community

Restructuring of common policies—May mandate

2.1.1. The informal meeting of Foreign Ministers for further discussion of the four main May mandate problems left unresolved by the European Council was held in London on 14 and 15 December.¹ Mr Thorn and Mr Ortoli attended the meeting, at which the real determination of all delegations to reach agreement was evident. This led the delegations to ask the Commission President to present formulas on the unresolved questions (milk products, Mediterranean products, farm spending and budgetary issues) for discussion at a further meeting, scheduled for 14 and 15 January.

2.1.2. Commenting on this request, Mr Thorn said that the new proposals would still be in conformity with the Commission's original mandate report and, referring to the common agricultural policy, confirmed that there would be no watering down of what had first been proposed. When addressing Parliament,² he spoke of his satisfaction with the task he had been given. Mr Thorn also briefed the Commission fully on the Foreign Ministers' meeting and the mission they had entrusted to him. He discussed with his colleagues the suggestions he might make.

Economic and monetary policy

European Monetary System

Operation of the EMS

2.1.3. On 14 December, following the European Council meeting on 26 and 27 November³ the Council heard reports from the Monetary Committee and from the Committee of Governors of Central Banks on their work on the development of the EMS.

Mr Ortoli, Commission Vice-President, acknowledged that the institutional phase of the EMS as described in the basic 1978 text could not be embarked upon at the moment, but declared that significant progress could be made on a number of points. Among other things, he suggested that work to develop the EMS be directed primarily to bringing about improvements in the following areas:

- much smoother functioning of the system's mechanisms;
- expansion of the internal and external role of the ECU and examination of ways and means of overcoming the obstacles to its use;
- tighter coordination of economic policies and closer coordination of monetary policies;
- cooperation in monetary matters with the other major monetary entities.

Mr Ortoli also urged the Council to support the suggestion for a stocktaking of the system's achievements to date and a round-up of the technical work.

In a searching discussion, the Ministers found that the EMS had functioned satisfactorily in the past and made further proposals for its future development. As suggested by Mr Ortoli, the Council agreed that the work to be undertaken by the Commission in conjunction with the Monetary Committee and with the Committee of Governors of Central Banks, with a view to identifying promising avenues for progress, would be examined by the Ministers of Economic and Financial Affairs at their Council meeting in February so that practical proposals could be put up to the next European Council meeting in March.

Community borrowing

New Community borrowing and leading instrument (NCI)

2.1.4. On 14 December the Commission sent the Council a proposal for a Decision empowering it to contract a tranche of borrowings totalling 1 000 million ECU under the new Community borrowing and lending instrument (NCI II), whose purpose is to promote investment in the Community.

It decided to take this step in order to ensure continuity in the operation of the NCI, even though discussions were still under way between the Council and Parliament on the proposal for a continuation of the NCI¹ following the 'common position' agreed within the Council in September² (and confirmed in October).

The proceeds of the borrowings will be on-lent to finance investment projects on Community territory that are in keeping with the Community's priority objectives. The Commission proposes that three categories of project be singled out: investment projects for the efficient use of energy and the replacement of oil by other sources of energy; infrastructure investment projects contributing to regional development; investment projects of small and medium-sized firms. Access to this tranche by small business would mark the first time the NCI had been used to assist industry.

Exceptional aid for Greece

2.1.5. On 14 December the Council, acting on a proposal from the Commission,³ decided to grant exceptional Community aid for the reconstruction of the regions affected by the Greek earthquakes in February and March.⁴

The aid comprises loans to a maximum of 80 million ECU, to be financed under the new Community instrument (NCI) or out of the European Investment Bank's own resources, and an interest rebate of 3% per annum—chargeable to the Community budget—for a maximum period of twelve years.

Economic situation

2.1.6. On 14 December the Council adopted the Annual Economic Report⁵ and the economic policy guidelines to be pursued in 1982 by the Member States except Greece, the guidelines for which will be set at a later date.

As provided in Article 5 of the 'convergence' Decision,⁶ Member States' Governments are to bring the report to the attention of their parliaments so that it can be taken into account during national budget debates.

Monetary Committee

2.1.7. The Monetary Committee held its 276th meeting in Paris on 10 and 11 December, with Mr Haberer in the chair. The Committee discussed the technical work on the development of the EMS and examined the economic and financial situation in France. Following the extension of the Italian deposit requirement for foreign currency purchases,⁷ the Committee, in consultation with the Italian authorities, agreed on a procedure for monitoring economic developments in Italy.

Internal market and industrial affairs

Free movement of goods

Removal of technical barriers to trade

Industrial products

2.1.8. On 7 December the Commission adopted, for transmission to the Member States, a communication seeking to explain the operation of the Directive of 19 February 1973 relating to electrical equipment designed for use within certain voltage limits.⁸ This was necessitated by the volume of trade in this equipment and the repercussions of

The communication is to be published in the Official Journal.

Business law

Economic and commercial law

Law applicable to contractual obligations

2.1.9. On 7 December the United Kingdom signed the Rome Convention of 19 June 1980 on the law applicable to contractual obligations.² Seven other Member States signed the Convention on 19 June 1980, and Denmark signed on 10 March 1981.

Convention on bankruptcy, winding-up, arrangements, compositions and similar proceedings

2.1.10. On 10 December the Commission adopted an opinion on the draft Convention on bankruptcy, winding-up, arrangements, compositions and similar proceedings.³

The Commission view was on the whole favourable. The Commission drew attention in particular to the problems connected with the winding-up of credit institutions and those arising from retention of title. The opinion was communicated to the Member States and the Council and will be published in the Official Journal.

Free movement of persons and freedom to provide services

Mutual recognition of diplomas and access to occupations

2.1.11. On 14 December the Council adopted a Directive, on a proposal from the Commission,⁴ concerning the acquired rights of persons whose training began before but was completed after the implementation of the Directives on freedom of movement for doctors,⁵ nurses responsible for general care,⁶ dental practitioners⁷ and veterinary surgeons.⁸

2.1.12. On 15 December the Council approved the substance of a Directive amending the two Directives of 16 June 1975 on freedom of movement for doctors⁵ with regard, in particular, to the part-time training of specialists.⁹

2.1.13. At its meeting on 1 and 2 December the Committee of Senior Officials on Public Health reviewed the current situation and discussed certain problems encountered by Member States with regard to the application of the Directives on freedom of movement for doctors,⁵ nurses responsible for general care⁶ and dental practitioners.⁷ In this context, the Committee was informed of preparatory work by the Commission on a proposal for a Directive concerning the specialist training of general practitioners. This meeting also provided the opportunity for a preliminary exchange of information on the state of progress in transposing into national law the Directives on freedom of movement for midwives,¹⁰ which are due to be implemented by January 1983. The tables set out below give statistics for the migration of doctors, nurses responsible for general care and dental practitioners in 1980.

Industry

Steel

2.1.14. At a meeting held on 11 December¹ the ECSC Consultative Committee examined the forward programme for steel for the first quarter of 1982.² According to this programme, crude steel production (30.7 million tonnes) and real consumption (26.7 million tonnes) will show a slight decline during the first quarter of 1982, compared with the same quarter of 1981. Imports will stay at the same level of 2 million tonnes crude steel equivalent, exports will fall from 6.76 million to 6 million tonnes and stocks will be maintained at the same level. The Commission's forecasts are based on the outlook for industrial production, where in general there is no firm indication of an early upturn. The prospects for the steel-using sectors are, on balance, worse than those for industry as a whole. However, energy-related requirements are relatively buoyant, while shipbuilding and the motor industry, in particular, are showing encouraging signs. On the other hand, the construction industry and civil engineering are at a low and declining level of activity.

	First quarter 1981	Second quarter 1981	Third quarter 1981	First quarter 1982
Real consumption	27.40	27.25	25.0	26.7
Stock change	- 1.16	—	- 0.9	—
Imports	2.01	2.08	2.0	2.0
Exports	6.76	7.13	8.0	6.0
Production	30.99	32.30	30.1	30.7

A level of crude steel production running at 30.7 million tonnes represents a totally inadequate utilization of production capacity. For 1981, with total crude steel production of the order of 125 million tonnes, the utilization rate was about 63%, and there is no immediate prospect of improvement.

In the case of products covered by the system of compulsory production quotas under Article 58 of the ECSC Treaty, Table 5 compares all the programmes for the first quarter of 1982 with the programmes for the third and fourth quarters of 1981 and with actual production for earlier periods.

2.1.15. The Commission announced a review of the basic import prices and the publication of new basic prices for certain iron and steel products with effect from 1 January 1982.³ These prices will show an increase on those published for bulk steel products on 4 July 1981⁴ and for special steels on 1 August 1981.¹ On average, the increase will be about 7% for bulk steel products, about 10% for special steels and 5.5% for pig iron and ferro-manganese.

Textiles

2.1.16. On 17 December the Commission transmitted to the Council a proposal for a Regulation, based on Article 113 of the EEC Treaty, on the indication of the origin of certain textile and clothing products imported from non-member countries. This replaces the proposal² which was withdrawn³ following its rejection by Parliament⁴ and by the Economic and Social Committee.⁵

Electronics and information technologies

2.1.17. On 7 December the Council adopted a Regulation concerning Community projects in the field of microelectronic technology.⁶ It departed from the Commission's proposals⁷ in restricting the number of projects to be developed and in providing direct financial support of 40 million ECU under the 1982 budget, for commitment within two years.

Industrial innovation and the information market

Industrial innovation

2.1.18. The Commission held a symposium in Luxembourg on 15-17 December on the topic 'Financing more innovation at less risk', which was attended by representatives of financial institutions and venture capital companies and by businessmen. The meeting highlighted the need for certain measures to be taken at national and Community levels to encourage capital investment in innovative firms, such measures relating in particular to taxation and the introduction of new methods of financing.

Euronet

2.1.19. On 18 December the Commission signed on behalf of the Community an agreement with Sweden concerning the interconnection of the Community data transmission network (Euronet) and the Swedish data network for information retrieval purposes.

Since a cooperation agreement had already been signed with Switzerland on 18 September 1979,¹ with the main purpose of extending Euronet to include Switzerland, a tripartite protocol was also signed on 18 December between the Community, Switzerland and Sweden in order to specify the new relationships thus created between these two non-member countries.

The Euronet network, to which 31 host computers serving 291 data bases and data banks are already connected, will thus benefit from Sweden's scientific and technological contribution in the form of information accessible in the conversational mode, while Swedish users will be able to take advantage of the services already offered on Euronet in the Member States and Switzerland; in addition, the cooperation thus initiated is to be extended to the pooling of efforts aimed at further improving the coverage of information systems and the scope of the services rendered to users.

Industrial property

2.1.20. Following completion of a study contract between the Commission and the Newcastle upon Tyne Polytechnic, there is now a complete course of training and practical work based on audiovisual methods which enables those who are not patent specialists to conduct research in particular on the state of the art in patent literature. The course will shortly be presented and made available to potential users. The aim is to make greater use than in the past of the patent protection system in promoting technological and industrial innovation.

Customs union

Simplification of customs formalities

Community transit

2.1.21. On 15 December the Council adopted a Regulation² amending the Regulation of 13 December 1976 on Community transit.³ The aim of the new Regulation is to relax certain formalities involved in the Community transit arrangements. It also extends the powers which the Council has delegated to the Commission in this field.

Common Customs Tariff

Nomenclature

2.1.22. On 8 December the Commission adopted five Regulations⁴ for the purpose of ensuring uniform application of the Common Customs Tariff nomenclature, classifying the goods below in the subheadings indicated:

— deboned pork	02.06 B I a) 7
— product recovered during sifting of maize grains	11.02 D V
— product made up of a sheet of kraftboard bonded to an aluminium sheet	48.07 D
— earrings	71.16 A
— alarm clock radios	85.15 A III b) 2

Economic tariff matters

Tariff suspensions

2.1.23. In December the Council adopted a Regulation temporarily suspending autonomous CCT duties on a number of agricultural products.

It also adopted two Regulations wholly or partially suspending CCT duties on a number of agricultural products originating in Malta and Turkey (1982).⁵

Tariff quotas

2.1.24. The Council adopted a series of Regulations in December opening, allocating tinned sardines from Morocco,¹

 apricot pulp from Morocco,⁴
 'sljivovica' plum spirit from Yugoslavia,⁵ certain tobaccos from Yugoslavia,⁵ herring,⁶ certain fishery products.⁶

On 9 December the Council adopted a Regulation opening, allocating and providing for the administration of a Community tariff quota for certain wines originating in Algeria (second half of 1981 — first half of 1982).⁷

On 3 December the Council adopted a Regulation² amending the Regulation opening, allocating and providing for the administration of a Community tariff quota for rum arrack and tafia originating in the ACP States (1981/82).⁸ On 7 December it also amended⁹ a Regulation opening, allocating and providing for the administration of a Community tariff quota for certain wines originating in Morocco (1981/82).⁸

Generalized tariff preferences

2.1.25. The Community will continue to apply its system of generalized tariff preferences, the 1982 scheme having been adopted by the Council on 7 December¹⁰ on the basis of proposals made by the Commission.¹¹ The new scheme sets out the rules of application for industrial, textile, steel and agricultural products. The Council also adopted four Regulations in December,¹² the first of which defines the concept of originating products for the purposes of the application of tariff preferences, while the other three derogate from that text in favour of three regional groups: ASEAN, the Central American Common Market and the Andean Group.

Ceilings and Community surveillance of imports

2.1.26. In December the Council adopted several Regulations establishing ceilings and Community surveillance for 1982 for the following imports:

paper and paperboard from Portugal,¹³ certain textile products from Malta,⁵ certain products from Yugoslavia, certain products from Austria, Finland, Norway and Sweden,¹³ certain petroleum products from Turkey.⁵

Customs value

2.1.27. On 8 December the Commission amended¹⁴ the Regulation of 12 June 1981 establishing a system of simplified procedures for the determination of the customs value of certain perishable goods.¹⁵ The new Regulation adapts the classification of the goods subject to unit values and amends the list of marketing centres to be used for the purpose of calculating unit prices.

General legislation

Procedure for the release of goods for free circulation

rective of 24 July 1979 on the harmonization of procedures for the release of goods for free circulation.¹ The new Directive aims at a uniform application within the Community of the conditions governing the establishment of the entry forms for the release of goods for free circulation by the persons concerned and their processing by the customs authorities.

2.1.29. Parliament gave its opinion on 18 December² on the proposal for a Directive on the harmonization of provisions laid down by law, regulation or administrative action concerning the exercise of the right of appeal in respect of customs matters.³ Parliament approved the proposal, which represented progress towards the attainment of customs union, but wanted the question of criminal proceedings to be included (appeals for the annulment or revision of decisions in the customs field taken on the basis of provisions of criminal law). The Economic and Social Committee gave its opinion on the proposal for a Regulation on the information provided by the customs authorities of the Member States concerning the classification of goods in the customs nomenclature.⁴

2.1.30. The Advisory Committee on Customs Matters held its thirteenth plenary meeting in Brussels on 7 and 8 December. It delivered opinions on the draft legislation on inward processing, standard exchange, warehouses, free zones, the guarantee system and the proposed rules for sales by the customs and exports. It expressed great interest in the draft 1982 programme for the attainment of customs union.

Competition

General rules applying to undertakings

2.1.31. The Commission has decided to try to get discussions moving again in the Council on the proposal for a merger-control Regulation which it had put up on 20 July 1973.⁵ The proposed Regulation would enable the Commission to carry out systematic vetting of large mergers in the Community and to take effective steps at Community level to prevent any irreversible structural developments which might seriously jeopardize competition. The proposal is being held up in the Council because of differences of opinion largely to do with the scope of the Regulation and the respective decision-making powers of the Commission and of the Council. With a view to breaking the deadlock, the Commission, with the support of Parliament,⁶ sent to the Council on 16 December a new text amending the original proposal in several respects: Community control would be restricted more specifically to mergers with a Community dimension; the turnover threshold below which the Regulation would not apply would be raised from 200 million to 500 million ECU; account would be taken of Parliament's request that the international situation with regard to competition be taken into consideration; and Member States would be more closely involved in the decision-making process.

2.1.32. Parliament adopted a resolution on the Commission's Tenth Report on Competition Policy.⁷

Restrictive practices, mergers and dominant positions: specific cases

Restrictive practices prohibited

2.1.33. In December the Commission took a decision in which it found that the system of checking washing machines and dishwashers for compliance with Belgian pollution-control standards constitutes, in its present form, an infringement of the competition rules laid down in the EEC Treaty (Article 85). The system is based on an agreement concluded in December 1978 between the majority of washing-machine and dishwasher manufacturers and sole importers in Belgium and ANSEAU (Association nationale des services d'eau), a non-profit association representing the local-authority water-supply companies.

Under this agreement, compliance with the standards is to be attested by attaching to the machines labels which can be obtained only through manufacturers or sole importers. Where other importers are refused a label, they must have an individual inspection carried out, the cost of which is prohibitive by comparison with the selling price of the machines; this makes parallel imports into Belgium very difficult, if not impossible. The parties to the agreement amended it on 16 November 1981, but the amendments did not put an end to the infringement.

The Commission found that the firms which drew up the agreement committed this infringement intentionally since they were aware of its anti-competitive object. The infringement is particularly serious in that it affects the entire Belgian market in washing machines and dishwashers. The fact that ANSEAU, which is responsible for quality control of the water supply, was a party to the agreement gave it binding force vis-à-vis those who were not party to it. For these reasons, the Commission decided to impose fines on the offenders in proportion to their degree of responsibility and to their individual importance on the market.

The fines totalled 1 015 000 ECU, as follows: a fine of 76 500 ECU (some BFR 3.2 million) each on ANSEAU, Bauknecht, ACEC, AEG, Philips, Miele, Associated Consumer Brands and Bosch; a fine of 38 500 ECU (some BFR 1.6 million) each on Van Assche, Hoover, Zanker, Disem Andries, Artsel, IAZ, Electrolux-Martin, Siemens and Van Maercke; and a fine of 9 500 ECU (some BFR 400 000) each on Despagne, Asogem, Hobart, Indesit, Bell Telephone and BBC Hausgeraete GmbH (Belgian subsidiary).

The decision demonstrates the Commission's determination to strike down any agreement instituting a system for checking compliance with technical standards which, besides its declared aim, also has the object or effect of restricting competition.

Permissible forms of cooperation

2.1.34. On 10 December the Commission extended¹ the authorization it gave on 19 December 1980 for the establishment of an equalization fund by the Chamber of Coal Traders (CCT) and the National Coal Board (NCB) in London.² This financial arrangement is intended to reduce the price of anthracite and anthracite briquettes imported from other EEC countries and non-member countries. The reasons for which the Commission had approved the agreements entered into by CCT and NCB for the period 1 April 1980 to 31 March 1981 were still valid at the end of the period. It was found that it would be a few years before the investments made by NCB with a view to satisfying total UK demand from its own output became fully operational. Consequently, extension of the agreement for another year was deemed compatible both with the objectives spelt out in Article 3(a) and (d) of the ECSC Treaty and with the conditions governing application of Article 65(2). From 1 April 1981 to 31 March 1982 the equalization fund will enable those concerned to purchase 110 000 t and to bring the high price down to the level of those for comparable domestically produced fuels.

Distribution

2.1.35. In December the Commission took a decision prohibiting the distribution arrangements of Victor Hasselblad AB, the Swedish reflex-camera manufacturers, and their independent UK sole distributors, Hasselblad (GB) Ltd. The two firms used the arrangements to hinder imports and exports and to restrict competition in other ways and thereby to consolidate, to the detriment of consumers, the differing price levels for Hasselblad equipment in the various Member States.

² OJ L 374, 31.12.1980; Bull. EC 12-1980, point 2.1.31; Tenth Report on Competition Policy, point 116.

Through a complaint from a UK retailer of photographic equipment it came to the Commission's notice that Victor Hasselblad AB and Hasselblad (GB) Ltd had taken steps, together with Hasselblad's sole distributors in Belgium, Denmark, the Federal Republic of Germany, France and Ireland, to prevent or obstruct trade in Hasselblad equipment within the Community. In order to partition off markets, the firms concerned had set up a system of reciprocal checks on the serial numbers stamped on Hasselblad equipment and had exchange price lists in order to trace the sources of exports outside their control. Hasselblad (GB) Ltd, the UK sole distributors, also discriminated in their warranty arrangements and after-sales service against Hasselblad equipment which had not been imported by them (parallel imports). The company had further sealed off the UK market by applying an anti-competitive selective distribution system and requiring customers to seek authorization from them before exporting.

The Commission considers that these practices constitute serious infringements of the Community's competition rules (Article 85 of the EEC Treaty), particularly since Victor Hasselblad AB and Hasselblad (GB) Ltd exerted considerable pressure on the other sole distributors in order to impose this segregation of markets. In determining the amounts of the fines (560 000 ECU in the case of Victor Hasselblad and 165 000 ECU in the case of Hasselblad (GB) Ltd), the Commission therefore took account not only of the duration of the infringements but also of the vigour with which Victor Hasselblad AB and Hasselblad (GB) Ltd actually applied these restrictions on competition.

Much smaller fines (10 000 ECU in each case) were imposed on the Irish, French and Belgian sole distributors, which took an active part in the market sharing, but only under pressure from Victor Hasselblad and Hasselblad (GB) Ltd. Since the Danish and German sole distributors were found only to have participated in the supporting measures (serial number checks, exchange of price lists), and such measures do not directly obstruct export transactions, the Commission decided not to fine them at all.

Lastly, the Commission imposed a fine of 5 000 ECU on Télós SA, Hasselblad's sole distributors in France, on the ground that they had given incorrect information in reply to a request by the Commission during the proceedings.

The significance of this decision lies in the fact that the Commission has once again made it clear that it regards any obstruction of intra-Community trade, no matter what form it takes, as a serious infringement.

Industrial and commercial property: Copyright

2.1.36. A firm in a dominant position should take care not to register a trade mark when it knows or ought to know that that mark is already used by a competitor. This is the view taken by the Commission in its investigation of a complaint by OY Airam AB, a small Finnish lamp manufacturer, against Osram GmbH, one of the leading lamp producers in the Community. Osram had registered the Airam trade mark in the Federal Republic of Germany, as a defensive measure, having previously opposed registration of the mark by Airam in view of possible confusion with the Osram trade mark. Osram was aware at the time of the existence of the Airam company and of its trade mark, which had been registered since 1927 in many other countries, and it should have known that its act of registering the mark would be likely to prevent or seriously hinder Airam's entry into the German market.

The Commission had no objection to the settlement reached between the two lamp manufacturers, the entry into force of which had been made conditional on the Commission's approval. Under this settlement, OY Airam AB may now include the word 'Airam' as part of its trade name and trade mark throughout the Community. To prevent the consumer confusing the products of the two companies, OY Airam AB's name will be printed in such a way that the corporate descriptions 'OY' and 'AB' are on the sale line and are given the same prominence as 'Airam' and must be used in close conjunction with the word 'Finland' (or other country of manufacture).

The Commission is of the opinion that a company holding a dominant position in a substantial part of the common market may be found to have abused that position where it registers a trade mark used by one of its competitors in other countries, on the ground that this limits the latter's opportunities for entering the market covered by the trade mark. Accordingly, the Commission will in future, where it thinks fit, institute proceedings under Article 86 of the EEC Treaty against dominant firms which register trade marks as a defensive measure.¹

2.1.37. The Commission learnt that a group of firms in the Federal Republic of Germany had acquired patents for equipping television sets to receive stereophonic transmissions. The group was implementing a resolution it had passed under which only its members were to receive licences for the patent, while non-members were to be granted licences only from 1 January 1983 at the earliest, and then only for a limited number of sets.

The Commission immediately contacted the group, the Interessengemeinschaft für Rundfunkschutzrechte GmbH (IGR), Düsseldorf, which comprises all the firms manufacturing colour television sets in the Federal Republic of Germany: Grundig, WEGA (a subsidiary of Sony), AEG-Telefunken, SABA and Nordmende (both subsidiaries of Thomson-Brandt), Schaub-Lorenz (a subsidiary of IIT), Loewe-Opta, Blaupunkt, Gorenje Korting, Metz, Graetz and Philips GmbH. The Commission argued that the joint purchase by a group of undertakings of patents essential for cooperation on a particular market constituted a restriction of competition within the meaning of Article 85(1) of the EEC Treaty where exercise of the patent rights thus acquired had the object or effect of excluding from the relevant market firms not belonging to the group, even if, as in this particular case, third parties were not to be excluded indefinitely.

IGR immediately declared its willingness to grant licences free of any restrictions and on reasonable terms to all other manufacturers in the Community. A definitive assessment of the questions of fact and of law raised by this case will be made in the course of the ordinary proceedings leading to a final decision.

Abuse of dominant positions

2.1.38. In December the Commission gave negative clearance to an amendment of the articles of the Gesellschaft für musikalische Aufführungs- und mechanische Vervielfältigungsrechte (GEMA).

GEMA, which has its registered office in Berlin, is the only German society concerned with protecting the authors of musical works and safeguarding their rights in the Federal Republic of Germany. It notified the Commission of an amendment to its articles prohibiting members (composers, librettists and lyric writers, and music publishers) from concluding agreements with music users under which the latter would receive a direct share of the royalties accruing when certain works are used.

According to GEMA, the amendment is aimed at improving the operation of copyright and ensuring that all creative artists receive a fair reward for their work. It should shield them from pressure by the financially more powerful music users and should make for uniform representation of their interests. Without the amendment, radio networks, for example, could demand a 'commission' from a songwriter or composer when broadcasting his works, whereas it is a principle of all the copyright laws in the Community that music users should pay the author for using his works and not vice versa.

The Commission adopted a decision stating that it has no objections under Article 86 of the EEC Treaty to the amendment.

This is in keeping with the Commission's continuing efforts to bring about a lasting improvement in the social status and financial position of creative and performing artists within the Community.

Procedural infringements

2.1.39. In December the Commission imposed the maximum fine of 5 000 ECU each on the French and Belgian marketing subsidiaries of the leading Japanese electrical and electronics group, Matsushita, for giving incorrect replies in response to a formal request for information.

Matsushita manufactures and distributes consumer electronics equipment under the brand names Technics and Panasonic.

In the context of its investigation under Article 85 of the EEC Treaty into suspected export prohibitions imposed by Matsushita's UK subsidiary on dealers in the United Kingdom, the Commission, exercising its powers to obtain any necessary information (Article 11 of Regulation No 17), asked the group's main marketing subsidiaries in Europe for details of their price structures, including trade prices and recommended retail prices. National Panasonic (Belgium) SA/NV and National Panasonic (France) SA both replied that they did not recommend any retail prices to dealers. But documentation obtained by the Commission shows that it is in fact the normal practice of both firms to recommend retail prices and actually to ensure that their recommendations are followed. This was done in France by fixing a minimum coefficient to be applied by all dealers, while in Belgium dealers were given lists printed on plain paper showing the retail price for each model. The Commission took the view that the incorrect information was given to it deliberately and for this reason imposed the maximum fine on both undertakings.

The Commission's investigation into the substantive Article 85 aspects of the case is continuing.

State aids

Regional aids

Belgium

2.1.40. On 16 December the Commission stated its position on two proposals by the Belgian Government to extend for six months, until 30 June 1982, the supplementary regional aid provided for in Article 2(b) of the Act of 30 December 1970 and the aid to help small and medium-sized firms in the current economic situation, provided for in Article 1(c) of the Economic Reorganization Act of 4 August 1978.¹

After the Commission had given its approval, the supplementary regional aid was put into effect by a Royal Decree of 23 May 1975,² initially for a period of six months. Since then it has been regularly extended until 31 December 1981, with the Commission's approval. The aid is in the form of an interest-rate subsidy, and its purpose is to encourage firms to carry out investment projects they tend to postpone on account of prevailing business conditions.

However, when initiating the procedure of Article 93(2) of the EEC Treaty in November 1981 in respect of the proposed list of development areas in Belgium,³ the Commission had informed the Belgian authorities that it could agree to extension of the aid only in respect of assisted areas that had demonstrably been harder hit by the economic recession than the rest of the country. After reviewing the matter, the Commission considered that granting of the aid was justified neither in the Ardennes-Condroz-Gaume area nor in the Westhoek sub-area and decided to initiate the Article 93(2) procedure.

The aid under the Economic Reorganization Act, which had been approved by the Commission in 1978, is intended for industrial firms employing not more than fifty persons. It is in the form of an interest-rate subsidy likewise granted on the basis of short-term economic considerations. The Commission was of the opinion that, in view of the country's enduring economic difficulties and the particular vulnerability of the firms concerned, the request for an extension could be granted.

³ Bull. EC 11-1981, point 2.1.38.

Denmark

2.1.41. On 16 December the Commission stated its position on a proposal by the Danish Government for a new delimitation of development areas. The proposal stems from a recent analysis of the regions in Denmark made by the central government on the basis of the redevelopment plans for urban and rural areas drawn up by the local authorities.

The Commission examined the socio-economic situation in all the proposed assisted areas and noted a significant improvement in a number of them since 1977,¹ compared both with the rest of the Community and with the rest of the country. It also emerged that regional disparities with regard to incomes and unemployment had evened out. For three areas in particular, assistance was not justified at all or only at a lower rate than was planned.

The Commission took the view that the southern part of the country of Storestrøm and half of the western part of Jutland should cease to receive assistance and that the level of assistance should be reduced in the special assisted areas in the county of Sønderjylland. The Commission accordingly initiated the Article 93(2) procedure.

Italy

2.1.42. On 16 December the Commission stated its position on a bill introduced in the autonomous province of Bolzano, concerning financial assistance for local industry. The proposed assistance would be in the form of industrial restructuring and conversion aids, aids for setting up, extending and modernizing firms, employment grants and other, more selective measures.

The Commission decided to initiate the Article 93 (2) procedure in respect of the aids for reducing the cost of employing women on the ground that they constitute operating aids, which it has consistently opposed as a matter of principle, and in respect of the industrial restructuring and conversion aids, which are granted locally under the national provisions of Act No 675/77² and which will have to comply with the conditions governing implementation of the Act at sectoral level.

As for the other aids provided in the bill, the Commission decided not to object to them, given the social and economic situation in the province, those for whom the assistance is intended, and the nature of the assistance.

Industry aids

Steel

2.1.43. The Commission initiated infringement proceedings under Article 88 of the ECSC Treaty against France and Italy and under Article 169 of the EEC Treaty against Belgium.

The Article 88 procedure against France concerns a subordinated loan of FF 450 million made to the Compagnie française des Aciers spéciaux and emergency aids for Sacilor and Usinor totalling FF 4 900 million. In both cases, the aids had already been granted before notification was made, in breach of Article 8 (1) of the Decision of 7 August (2320/81/ECSC).³

In the case of Italy, the aids in question are: reductions in electricity prices for electric steel plants and a LIT 2 billion bond issue at a subsidized rate of interest in favour of Italsider (both under Decree Law No 495 of 4 September 1981); assistance totalling LIT 750 000 million for Italsider (the funds being provided by the banks but covered by a deposit of Treasury certificates by IRI); and a LIT 431 000 million increase in the capital of Italsider. The Decree Law was notified after it entered into force. The two measures to assist Italsider have not been notified to the Commission.

In the case of Belgium, the decision to initiate the Article 169 procedure was taken following the granting of emergency aid totalling BFR 1 500 million for the Triangle of Charleroi and of aid totalling BFR 6 500 million for a number of undertakings and following agreement on an arrangement for converting loans of BFR 2 000 million made to Hainaut-Sambre by the Société Nationale du Crédit à l'Industrie. The BFR 1 500 million and BFR 6 500 million aids were granted by the Belgian Government even though the Article 93 (2) procedure, the purpose of which is to prevent aid proposals being put into effect before the Commission has taken a final decision, had already been initiated. The loan conversion was notified after the event.

2.1.44. On 30 November the Commission decided to institute proceedings under Article 8(3) of Decision 2320/81/ECSC of 7 August 1981¹ in respect of the aids granted by the French Government to the steel firms Usinor and Sacilor. The aids, designed to enable the recipients to meet their current commitments, were converted into capital under an amending finance act.

The Commission felt unable to assess the aids in the light of the criteria laid down in the above Decision as it had not received any details on the interest rates, duration and repayment terms of the loans in question or any detailed justification of the amounts granted.

When instituting the proceedings, the Commission asked the French Government to supply these details, together with information on the conversion into capital of any other, previous loans. It reserved the right to make an assessment of these loans in accordance with the Decision when stating its position on the new restructuring programme.

The Commission also made it clear that it wished to continue with the French Government the consultations to identify positive solutions to the difficulties of the French steel industry that were in keeping with the aid code.

2.1.45. On 4 December the Commission decided to institute proceedings under Article 8(3) of Decision 2320/81/ECSC of 7 August 1981¹ in respect of aids planned by the Italian Government under the restructuring plan for the Italian steel industry.

The intention is for the Italian State to meet part of the energy costs of electric steel plants and to issue a subsidized-interest loan for the benefit of the steel firms in which it holds a stake.

The Commission observed that the aids for the electric steel plants were not subject to any restructuring requirement and that their scale was likely to have a serious effect on competition. It also noted that the period during which the two measures covered by the proceedings were to be granted exceeded the limits allowed under the Decision and that their intensity would not be progressively reduced.

When instituting the proceedings, the Commission reminded the Italian Government of the need to continue the discussions that would permit an assessment of the overall restructuring plan and of the accompanying aid measures.

Textiles and clothing

2.1.46. The broad lines of a plan to assist the Belgian textile and clothing industries were communicated to the Commission on 28 July 1980. The aim is to restructure the sector and save 30 000 jobs over five years.

An exchange of letters and a number of bilateral and multilateral meetings took place following notification of the plan. The Commission summed up the position in a letter dated 18 November 1981 and informed the Belgian Government that the plan could be deemed compatible with the common market only if the following conditions were met:

- the aid must be granted only to viable firms;
- it must not add to existing capacity;

— should the plan be put into effect, no other forms of assistance (industry, regional or general) may be given to firms in the textile and clothing sector;

— total public investment in the first year of the plan must not exceed BFR 6 800 million;

— the contribution by the firms must be increased from 25% to not less than 30%; where, exceptionally, a firm's contribution stands at between 25% and 30%, the Commission must be notified in advance as provided in Article 93 (3) of the EEC Treaty; the contribution by the State must not exceed 45% and borrowings must not exceed 30% of the cost of the investment;

— man-made fibres must be given no assistance whatsoever;

— in the case of ready-to-wear clothing for men, women's tights and stockings, and worsted yarn, where there are particular problems of competition and overcapacity at Community level, the Commission must be notified in advance (Article 93 (3)) if the firm in question employs more than 50 persons;

— prior notification would also be given to the Commission in the case of firms employing more than 50 persons and producing one or more of the following: carpets, woven pile fabrics, woven cotton terry fabrics, and household linen; these are areas in which Belgium is considered to be highly competitive at Community level;

— the aid must be monitored.

The aid scheme in question will qualify for a one-year exemption under Article 93 (2) (c) only if the above conditions are met. By letter dated 9 December the Belgian Government undertook to comply with all the conditions set by the Commission; the aid scheme will therefore be put into effect for one year starting on 1 January 1983.

Chemicals

2.1.47. On 4 December 1981 the Commission took a decision under Article 93 (2) of the EEC Treaty prohibiting the Belgian Government from granting aid to a chemicals firm under the Act of 7 July 1959.¹ The firm had invested in a polyether-polyalcohol plant in the Antwerp area. The Commission considers that this is a sector in which productive capacity utilization is at a normal level and that any assistance aimed at expanding capacity is liable to create problems for existing firms in the sector and to make them less profitable, notably in the other Member States.

This decision is in line with those already taken by the Commission in respect of assistance for firms in a variety of sectors.²

Shipbuilding

2.1.48. On 16 December the Commission decided to initiate the Article 93 (2) procedure in respect of the Dutch Government's plan to rescue the NSM shipyard in Amsterdam.

The Commission takes the view that the government subsidy for NSM, which is intended to avert the closure of the shipyard, constitutes a State aid within the meaning of Article 92 (1) of the EEC Treaty. It possesses no information at the moment to suggest that the aid can be regarded as compatible with the common market.

Environmental aids

The Federal Republic of Germany

2.1.49. In December the Commission decided not to oppose implementation of draft regulations on the granting of environmental aids in North Rhine-Westphalia.

The aids are to make it easier for firms to carry out the investments prescribed in this Land for reducing or preventing atmospheric pollution and nuisances resulting from noise and vibration. They may be granted only until 31 December 1986.

The aids will be in the form of grants or subsidized loans the net grant equivalent of which may not be more than 15% of the investment concerned, except in special cases involving investments in the Ruhr by steel, mining and chemical firms causing heavy pollution. Eligibility is restricted to firms which had plants in operation for at least two years before the entry into force of the new standards obliging them to make these investments.

The Commission considered that the planned aids satisfied the conditions laid down in the Community approach to State aids in environmental matters, as extended in July 1980.¹ As in the case of similar Danish² and Dutch³ schemes, the Commission decided not to oppose their implementation.

State monopolies of a commercial character

2.1.50. On 28 October the Commission decided to continue the infringement procedures concerning the French¹ and Italian manufactured tobacco monopolies and the Italian matches monopoly² by bringing these matters before the Court of Justice.

The Commission also decided, however, that current discussions between Commission representatives and the French and Italian authorities should be continued for six weeks. On 18 December, in view of undertakings received from the French authorities, the Commission decided not to proceed with its case. The discussions with the Italian authorities also produced positive results, except in the matter of retailers' margins.

Financial institutions and taxation

Financial institutions

Stock exchanges and other institutions in the transferable securities field

2.1.51. On 14 December the Council agreed in principle to the proposal for a Directive on the information to be published on a regular basis by companies whose securities have been admitted to official stock-exchange listing. It agreed that the companies concerned should report every six months.

This proposal, which the Commission sent to the Council on 25 June 1980,⁶ supplements two other Directives concerning, respectively, the conditions for admission to official stock-exchange listing⁷ and the listing particulars to be published by the companies concerned at the time of admission.⁸

Taxation

Convergence of tax systems

2.1.52. On 3 December the Commission sent the Council a proposal for a Decision establishing a prior information and consultation procedure for tax matters.

The proposal provides first of all that Member States must notify the Commission and the other Member States of any proposed tax measures that may have an appreciable influence on the establishment or functioning of the common market or on the implementation of a common policy or common action. Second, it provides that the Commission may express an opinion or adopt a recommendation concerning the proposed measures. It also enables the Commission to enter into consultations with all Member States on the measures in question whenever a Member State requests such consultations or the Commission itself deems them appropriate.

Excise duties on manufactured tobacco

2.1.53. On 21 December the Council adopted a Directive⁹ extending by one year the second stage in the harmonization of the structure of excise duties on manufactured tobacco.¹⁰ Parliament had given its opinion on the Commission's proposal on 18 December.¹

Employment, education and social policy

Council meeting

2.1.54. At its meeting on 8 December the Council discussed at length the question of the guidelines for the review of the Social Fund due in 1982 and heard a statement by the French Minister of Labour on his Government's memorandum advocating a social dimension for Europe. The Council and the Representatives of the Governments of the Member States also adopted a Resolution on the social integration of disabled people.

Employment

Reorganization of working time

2.1.55. On 8 December, acting in response to the Council resolution of 19 December 1979² and Parliament's resolution of 17 September 1981,³ the Commission adopted two proposals concerning the reorganization of working time:

- a proposal for a Directive on voluntary part-time work;
- a draft Recommendation on the principles of a Community policy with regard to retirement age.⁴

The aim in both cases is to translate into concrete proposals the consensus reached by the Standing Committee on Employment in December 1980.⁵

Redeployment of workers in the ECSC industries

2.1.56. Acting under Article 56 (2) (b) of the ECSC Treaty, the Commission decided in December to contribute a total of 69 265 250 ECU towards redeployment aid for 25 656 workers affected by steel industry closures and cutbacks in the Federal Republic of Germany, Belgium, Italy, the United Kingdom and The Netherlands.

2.1.57. The Commission also approved a first instalment of financial assistance towards allowances for early retirement and short-time working in the context of the social measures in the steel sector. A total of 48 600 000 ECU was granted towards allowances for workers affected by restructuring programmes in Belgium, the Federal Republic of Germany, France, Italy, Luxembourg and the United Kingdom.

European Social Fund

2.1.58. On 8 December the Council had an exchange of views on the main guidelines for the review of the European Social Fund due in 1982.

The Council acknowledged the importance of ensuring that in the present climate of economic recession and unemployment the limited resources of the Social Fund were concentrated on the most acute problems. The discussion confirmed in particular the priority which should be given to measures in favour of young people, to specific action under programmes aimed at promoting employment and vocational training and to problems connected with the introduction of new technologies.

The Council also took formal note of the report on the activities of the Social Fund in 1980.

Education and vocational training

Education Committee

2.1.59. Meeting on 9 and 10 December, the Education Committee considered the Commission's suggestions for obtaining maximum benefit from the existing programme of pilot projects on the transition of young people from school to working life in all Member States, as requested by the Council and the Ministers of Education on 22 June.¹

The Committee also held a further discussion on the academic recognition of diplomas and periods of study, on the basis of a new information paper on the current position in the Member States. The Commission was requested to prepare appropriate proposals on this subject for consideration by the Council.

The Committee noted a progress report on the work of the Statistical Office on the development of the Community programme of education and training statistics, and endorsed this as a plan for the Statistical Office's future work.

Social security, living and working conditions

Social protection and security

2.1.60. On 22 December the Commission transmitted to the Council its report evaluating the first programme of pilot schemes and studies to combat poverty (1975-80) implemented in response to the Council Decisions of July 1975 and December 1977.²

According to the Commission's report, there were no less than 30 million poor³ in the nine Member States in the mid-1970s, a number which has no doubt grown in recent years with the deterioration in the general economic situation.

The study also notes that poverty has not been lessened by economic growth over the last thirty years; the disparity in living standards and opportunities between average population groups and the poor—for example, in the areas of health or education—has not diminished.

The report therefore concludes that the Community and the Member States should take vigorous measures to combat poverty as a matter of urgency. Any delay would be liable to damage the social structure for an entire generation. Determination must be shown and public opinion mobilized to tackle this problem. Similarly, the fight against poverty must be recognized as a priority at both Community and national level.

Resolute action must not be based on a sordid calculation of costs and benefits but on equity and solidarity with those who are at present denied social justice.

Social security for migrant workers

2.1.61. On 8 December the Council adopted a Regulation extending to self-employed persons the provisions of Regulation (EEC) No 574/72 of 21 March 1972 on the application of social security schemes to employed persons and members of their families moving within the Community.⁴

This follows the Council's action in May 1981 of extending Regulation (EEC) No 1408/71 of 14 January 1971.⁵

2.1.62. The Council also held an exchange of views on the proposal for a Regulation transmitted by the Commission on 18 June 1980⁶ to amend Regulation (EEC) No 1408/71 for the benefit of unemployed workers. The purpose of the proposal, on which Parliament and the Economic and Social Committee delivered their opinions in December 1980,⁷ is the retention of the right to unemployment and early retirement benefit where a worker transfers his residence to a country other than the one where he was last employed.

Equal treatment of men and women

2.1.63. On 14 December the Commission presented to the Council a new Community action programme on the promotion of equal opportunities for women (1982-85), together with a draft Council Resolution on the programme.¹

Concomitantly with the adoption of this programme, the Commission decided to give the Standing Liaison Group for Equal Opportunities² the formal status of Advisory Committee on Equal Opportunities from 1 January 1982.³

Social integration of the handicapped

2.1.64. On 8 December the Council and the Representatives of the Governments of the Member States adopted a Resolution aimed at promoting the social integration of handicapped persons as the Community's chief contribution to the International Year of Disabled Persons. Besides inviting Member States to promote the social integration of handicapped persons by taking specific action in all areas concerned, the Resolution calls on the Commission to pursue its work through a new set of measures at Community level. The chief of these is the establishment and operation over a period of four years of a network of locally based development actions.

In addition, the Commission will lend its support to improvements in information systems concerning the handicapped, give a new impetus to the activities of the Community network of rehabilitation centres and the current programme of pilot projects concerning housing for handicapped persons, and prepare a number of statements and Directives on the social integration of the handicapped in the Member States.

Living and working conditions

Housing

2.1.65. Under the ninth housing loan scheme (first instalment) for workers in ECSC industries, the Commission approved building projects for a total amount of 1 918 723 ECU to finance the building of 496 housing units in Belgium, the Federal Republic of Germany, France, Luxembourg and the Netherlands.

2.1.66. The Commission also approved an appropriation of 30 million ECU for the second instalment (1982-83) of the ninth housing loan scheme for workers in ECSC industries.

2.1.67. On 18 December Parliament delivered an opinion on the Commission communication to the Council on the social aspects of sea fishing.⁴

Health and safety

Public health

2.1.68. The fourth seminar on health policies was held in Luxembourg from 7 to 9 December on the theme of the evaluation of certain European health care systems and in particular the organization of health care in the Scandinavian countries. Those taking part in this seminar (officials from government departments or agencies responsible for health, epidemiologists and clinicians) described and analysed the special features of health care in these countries. They also compared experience and problems in the Member States, particularly with regard to controlling the cost of health care, and came up with a number of possible solutions in the light of Scandinavian experience.

Health and safety (ECSC)

2.1.69. Under Article 55 of the ECSC Treaty, the Commission decided to grant:

— 795 530 ECU in aid to research projects on the treatment and monitoring of effluent discharges, the measurement of atmospheric pollution, the reduction of pollutant discharges into the air and measures to combat noise;

— 683 650 ECU in aid to eight research projects on safety in mines, concerning fires and underground combustion, explosions involving firedamp and dust, telemetry and remote control, the use of metals in auxiliary fans and an analysis of causes of serious accidents with a view to formulating a prevention policy; and to allocate appropriations totalling 1 395 600 ECU for nine research projects under the 'Ergonomics IV' programme.

Health and safety at work

2.1.70. The proposal for a Directive on the protection of workers from harmful exposure to metallic lead, which the Commission had sent to the Council on 10 December 1979¹ and on which Parliament had delivered an opinion on 7 April,² was discussed in detail by the Council. The discussion centred on the projected levels of action and limit values and on the protection of female workers during pregnancy. It will be continued at the next meeting of Ministers for Employment and Social Affairs.

2.1.71. The Council also confirmed the importance it attached to the Directive on the protection of workers from the risks related to exposure to asbestos³ and its intention to adopt it as soon as possible.

Regional policy

European Regional Development Fund

ERDF aid: fourth allocation for 1981

2.1.72. On 7 and 17 December the Commission approved the fourth allocation of grants for 1981 from the European Regional Development Fund, totalling 911.50 million ECU. These grants will go to 1 707 projects costing a total of 8 513 million ECU. All the Member States will benefit.

Under the Regulation of 18 March 1975 establishing the ERDF,⁴ as amended by the Regulations of 6 February 1979⁵ and 16 December 1980,⁶ the Fund Committee had endorsed these projects on 26 November and 15 December 1981. The Regional Policy Committee had been consulted on 13

November on projects relating to infrastructure investments costing more than 10 million ECU.

The aid granted under this allocation is distributed among the Member States as shown in Table 6.

The total of 911.50 million ECU breaks down as follows:

(a) 817.95 million ECU to help finance 1 237 infrastructure projects, comprising:

— 546.03 million ECU to 44 projects costing more than 10 million ECU each;

— 271.18 million ECU to 1 189 projects costing less than 10 million ECU each;

— 0.74 million ECU to four projects costing less than 10 million ECU each in the regions referred to in the Directive on mountain and hill-farming and farming in certain less-favoured areas.

The total cost of infrastructure investment projects receiving assistance from the Fund amounts to 6 973.07 million ECU.

(b) 93.55 million ECU to help finance 470 projects in industrial (including small business) and service activities, comprising:

— 37.37 million ECU to finance 27 projects costing more than 10 million ECU each;

— 56.18 million ECU to finance 443 projects costing less than 10 million ECU each.

The total cost of industrial (including small business) and services investment projects receiving assistance from the Fund amounts to 1 542.75 million ECU.

Including this fourth allocation, the Fund has helped to finance 2 757 investment projects in 1981 for a total outlay of 1 665.88 million ECU. This brings the number of projects financed since the Fund was set up to 14 502 and the total assistance granted to some 5 229 million ECU.

2.1.73. On 10 December the Commission, acting under Article 12 of the Fund Regulation, decided to make a grant of 44 000

ERDF aid: non-quota section

2.1.74. On 3 and 18 December the Commission approved two special programmes for specific Community regional development measures under the non-quota section of the European Regional Development Fund. These programmes are designed to strengthen economic structures in the Mezzogiorno, Italy, and to develop new economic activities in certain areas of Belgium affected by the reorganization of the steel industry. By approving these programmes, the Commission has committed itself to contributing a maximum of 71 million ECU over five years: 65 million ECU for the Italian programme and 6 million ECU for the Belgian programme. The funds for implementing these programmes will be committed in annual instalments within the limits of the budgetary appropriations allocated to the Fund's non-quota section.

Conversion loans

2.1.75. In December the Commission paid out conversion loans¹ under Article 56 of the ECSC Treaty totalling 26.94 million ECU.

Environment and consumers

Environment

Cooperation with non-member countries

2.1.76. Under the cooperation arrangements between the Commission and Japan instituted by exchange of letters in June 1977,² a meeting was held in Brussels on 14 December to discuss bilateral problems and international issues of joint concern.

Council meeting

2.1.77. On 3 December the Council met in Brussels to discuss environmental matters; Mr Tom King, the UK Minister for Local Government and Environmental Services, was in the chair.

The Council reached a number of positive conclusions: it approved in principle two key Directives — on major accident hazards of certain industrial activities³ and on discharges of mercury into the aquatic environment.¹ It formally adopted a recommendation on the use of recycled paper and board,² a Decision establishing a Community information system for the control and reduction of pollution caused by hydrocarbons discharged at sea³ and a Decision concerning the conclusion of the Convention on the Conservation of European Wildlife and Natural Habitats.⁴ On a more general note, it held wide-ranging and fruitful talks on the Community's third action programme on the environment.⁵ There was also an exchange of views on a number of outstanding problems (e.g. chlorofluorocarbons, air quality standards for lead, exchange of information on air pollution measurement) and a number of statements made — by the Commission representative and some national delegations — on motor vehicle exhaust gases, the progress of work on the oil-tanker information system and the situation regarding ratification by the Member States of the Convention on Long-range Transboundary Air Pollution.

The Council also took note of a Commission communication on heptachlor and chlordane.

The Ministers failed to reach agreement on one item, however, namely the proposed Regulation on application of the Washington Convention in the Community.

Third Community action programme on the environment

2.1.78. At the meeting of 3 December there was a full discussion on the third environment programme proposed by the Commission,⁶ enabling the Members of the Council to state their views on the various aspects of the draft programme and on the recommended priorities. The Council said it would await the opinions of Parliament and the Economic and Social Committee before deciding what action to take during the present presidency.

Prevention and reduction of pollution and nuisances

Fresh and marine water pollution

Mercury discharges

2.1.79. The Council resumed its discussions on 3 December on the proposal for a Directive on the limit values and quality objectives applicable to discharges of mercury by the chloralkali electrolysis industry;⁷ discussion centred on the outstanding issues, in particular the arrangements to be made for new plants. Having resolved these problems, the Council approved the Directive and instructed the relevant committees to finalize the text. This Directive is particularly significant in that it is the first implementing Directive under the basic Directive of 4 May 1976 on pollution caused by certain dangerous substances discharged into the aquatic environment.⁸ Adoption of this Directive will not only provide effective help in combating water pollution but will also enable progress to be made on the proposals already before the Council dealing, respectively, with discharges of aldrin, dieldrin and endrin, and of cadmium.

Discharges of heptachlor and chlordane into the aquatic environment

2.1.80. At its 3 December meeting the Council took note of the Commission communication of the preparation of Directives on heptachlor and chlordane.⁹ In this communication the Commission stated specifically that no useful purpose would be served by drawing up proposals on these two substances since little use was made of them in the Community. The Commission took the view that it would suffice at this stage to continue to monitor the use of these substances.

Oil spills at sea

2.1.81. At the same meeting of 3 December the Council—acting on a Commission proposal of June 1980¹—formally decided² to set up an information system to provide the competent authorities in the Member States with the data required for the control and reduction of pollution caused by hydrocarbons discharged at sea.

The main components of the information system are:

- an inventory of the means of combating this pollution;
- a list of national and joint contingency plans containing brief descriptions of their content and details of the authorities responsible for them;
- a compendium of the properties and behavioural characteristics of hydrocarbons, methods of treatment and arrangements for the final use or disposal of the mixture of water, oil and solids recovered from the sea or from the coastline.

Protection of the Mediterranean against pollution from land-based sources

2.1.82. On 18 December the Commission recommended³ that the Council conclude the Protocol on the Protection of the Mediterranean against Pollution from Land-based Sources, which the Commission signed on behalf of the Community in Athens on 17 May 1980.⁴ Two other Protocols have already been concluded under the Barcelona Convention for the Protection of the Mediterranean Sea Against Pollution: one on the prevention of pollution by dumping from ships and aircraft, the other on cooperation in means of combating pollution by hydrocarbons and other noxious substances.

Now that the Protocol has been adopted and signed, the Community should formally conclude the Protocol and deposit the instrument of conclusion in accordance with the provisions laid down.

Air pollutionExchange of information and data

2.1.83. At its 3 December meeting the Council expressed a favourable opinion on the proposal for a Decision establishing a reciprocal exchange of information and data from networks and stations measuring air pollution within the Member States;⁵ it said it would act on the proposal once it had received opinions from Parliament and the Economic and Social Committee.

The Economic and Social Committee gave its opinion at its 15-16 December session.⁶

Air quality standards for lead

2.1.84. The Council resumed its discussions on 3 December on a system of regular measuring by sampling stations to ensure that air quality standards for lead⁷ were being met and was able to resolve a number of substantive questions. It accordingly instructed the relevant committees to finalize the text with a view to a formal decision being taken at a later date.

Noise pollution

2.1.85. On 7 December the Council amended⁸ its Directive of 19 December 1978 on the approximation of the laws of the Member States relating to the determination of the noise emission of construction plant and equipment.⁹

2.1.86. At its 15-16 December session the Economic and Social Committee gave an opinion⁶ on the amended proposal for a Directive which the Commission sent to the Council on 9 October on the limitation of noise emitted by hydraulic and rope-operated excavators, and by dozers and loaders.¹

Chemicals

Hazards of certain industrial activities

2.1.87. On 3 December the Council examined the final problems relating to the proposed Directive on the major accident hazards of certain industrial activities (the Seveso Directive).²

The hazards referred to are those resulting from major accidents, i.e. exceptional hazards under abnormal operating conditions, or in other words the hazards arising from uncontrolled development of industrial activity.

After a detailed discussion of the procedures for sharing information and consulting between the Member States on transboundary hazards, the Council reached agreement on the proposal.

Toxic Substances Control Act

2.1.88. Negotiations between the Commission and the United States on the control of toxic substances have been in progress for some time.³ On 7 and 8 December representatives of the Member States and the US Environmental Protection Agency attended a symposium in Rome organized by the Commission and the Istituto Superiore di Sanità on 'decision-making in the evaluation of new chemicals in the EEC and the USA'. The symposium provided a forum for a wide-ranging discussion on the experience gained and the methods needed to evaluate new chemical substances in accordance with the implementing procedures laid down by the Council Directive of 18 September 1979,⁴ amending for the sixth time the 1967 Directive,⁵ as they relate to the Community and the implementing provisions of the Toxic Substances Control Act as they relate to the United States.

In the interests of harmonization, it was agreed that experience gained and progress achieved in evaluating new chemical substances should be shared. This would make a wider range of resources available to national environment policies and thus prevent priority conflicts.

Chlorofluorocarbons in the environment

2.1.89. At its 3 December meeting the Council held a policy debate on the proposal for a Decision on the consolidation of precautionary measures concerning chlorofluorocarbons in the environment.⁶ The Council had adopted a Decision providing for a 30% reduction—from 1976 levels—in the amount of chlorofluorocarbons used in aerosols on 26 March 1980. The Council said it would act on the proposal once it had received Parliament's opinion.

Protection and rational use of land, the environment and natural resources

Land

2.1.90. On 17 and 18 December the Commission—in conjunction with the Council of Europe—organized an international seminar in Strasbourg on the 'Key Role of Physical Planning in the Protection and Rational Management of the Environment and Natural Resources in Europe'.

This was the first time that representatives of the various sectors concerned with physical planning and the environment had come together at European level. In his opening address Mr Narjes, the Member of the Commission with special responsibility for environment policy, laid particular emphasis on the need for a stronger environment policy as a vital component in any strategy for economic revival.

The conclusions of the seminar highlighted a number of measures to be taken, principally at European level, in order to improve the management of land, the environment and natural resources. During the seminar an exhibition of the Community's ecological mapping project was also launched.

Flora and fauna

2.1.91. On 3 December the Council formally decided to conclude the Berne Convention on the Conservation of European Wildlife and Natural Habitats.¹ The aims of this Convention are to conserve wild flora and fauna and their natural habitats, especially those species and habitats whose conservation requires international cooperation, and to promote such cooperation. Particular emphasis is placed on species—including migratory species—threatened with extinction.

The Council also examined the Commission proposal² for a Regulation on the application in the Community of the Washington Convention, which was drawn up in 1973 as part of the United Nations Environment Programme and concerns international trade in endangered species of wild fauna and flora. Although a broad measure of agreement was obtained, no final decision was reached. Consequently, the Council asked its relevant committees to continue discussing the outstanding problems with a view to reaching agreement on the complete dossier.

2.1.92. On 22 December the Commission adopted a Regulation laying down provisions for the implementation of the common rules for imports of whale or other cetacean products.³

It was earlier in the year, on 20 January, that the Council formally adopted a Regulation on common rules for imports of whales or whale products,⁴ which provides that from January 1982 the importation of such products is to be subject to the production of an import licence and that no such licence is to be issued in respect of products to be used for commercial purposes.

The new Regulation lays down the requirements which must be met regarding the making-out, issue and use of import licences and provides a specimen licence to which all import licences must conform. It also calls for statistics to be drawn up on authorized imports and for administrative cooperation between the Member States and the Commission in this field.

Natural resources

Recovery and reuse of waste paper and board

2.1.93. On 3 December the Council, acting on a Commission proposal of May 1980,⁵ adopted a Recommendation⁶ designed to promote the use of recycled paper and board and in particular to:

- encourage the use of recycled and recyclable paper and board, especially in the Community institutions and national government departments, public corporations, etc.;
- encourage, as much as possible, the use of recycled paper and board containing a high percentage of mixed waste paper;
- re-examine, in the light of the latest technological advances, the existing specifications for paper products;
- implement education programmes for consumers and manufacturers;
- developed and promote uses for waste paper other than as a raw material for the manufacture of paper and board;
- encourage the use of products (inks, glues, etc.) which do not preclude the subsequent recycling of paper and board.

Consumers

Physical protection

ment of the Council Directive of 27 July 1976 on the approximation of the laws of the Member States relating to cosmetic products.¹ The purpose of the proposal is to safeguard public health by banning the use in cosmetic products of orthophenylenediamine and 2,4-diaminotoluene. A further aim is the approximation of the laws of the Member States on paraphenylenediamine, a substance hitherto excluded from the scope of the Directive.

Consumer information, education and representation

Consumers' Consultative Committee

2.1.95. At its December meeting the Consumers' Consultative Committee delivered opinions on pesticide residues on and in fruit and vegetables, fire protection in hotels, guidelines for European agriculture, and the implications for the consumer of the coming farm price review.

Agriculture

Council meeting

2.1.96. At a meeting held on 15 December the Council discussed a position for further negotiations with the ACP countries on the guaranteed price for preferential sugar for 1981/82. No agreement was reached.

The Council considered at the same meeting the use of bioproteins in animal feed, a proposal for a Regulation on producers' groups in the cotton sector² and beef and veal imports.

There was also a brief discussion on the question of imports of manioc and other cereal substitutes.

Economic aspects of the common agricultural policy

Agri-monetary measures

2.1.97. The Council again extended,³ this time until 31 December 1982, the period of validity of the Regulation introducing the ECU into the common agricultural policy.⁴

This Regulation had been enacted pending the adoption of a set of proposals—sent to the Council in 1980—consolidating the present agri-monetary arrangements.⁵

Market organizations

Changes in basic Regulations

2.1.98. On 21 December the Council adopted⁶ the proposal sent by the Commission in September⁷ on quality standards for certain flowering bulbs, corms and tubers.

2.1.99. On 3 December the Council amended the basic wine Regulation.⁸ The changes concern oenological practices and product definition.

2.1.100. In December the Commission proposed to the Council an amendment of the basic sugar Regulation designed to enable all producers to use the carryover provisions under the same conditions irrespective of the time at which production in excess of their A quota commenced. This change adapts the carryover system to the development of sugar production in the various regions of the Community.

Prices and specific measures

Cereals

2.1.101. On 9 December the Commission again amended⁹ the procedures and conditions for the taking over of cereals by the intervention agencies.¹⁰

2.1.102. In order to bring Community arrangements into closer line with manufacturing practice in Member States producing whisky, the Commission fixed, on 2 December, coefficients applicable to cereals used in manufacturing whisky.¹ On 7 December it altered the rules of implementation of the general rules for granting refunds on cereals exported in the form of spirituous beverages.¹

Fresh and processed fruit and vegetables

2.1.103. In December the Commission introduced a countervailing charge on tomatoes originating in Romania.²

2.1.104. On 3 December the Commission fixed³ minimum sale prices for dried grapes put up for sale by tender in November.⁴

On 11 December it also laid down rules for the sale at prices fixed in advance of dried grapes held by Greek storage agencies.⁵

Wine

2.1.105. On 15 December the Council set activating prices for table wines for the period 16 December 1981 to 15 December 1982.⁶ These prices have been increased by amounts varying from 8.9% to 9.7%.

2.1.106. The Council extended until 31 December 1982⁵ the existing import arrangements for wines originating in Algeria.

2.1.107. On 2 December the Commission authorized the conclusion of short-term storage contracts for certain table wines in the French part of wine-growing zone C II.³ This measure follows up those adopted in the autumn in response to last summer's difficulties on the French market.⁷

2.1.108. The Commission adopted a further series of measures including authorization of long-term private storage contracts for certain table wines and for grape must (1981/82 wine year).⁸ This measure was adopted in anticipation of heavy surpluses in the 1981/82 wine year.⁹

ported wines¹ and the accession compensatory amounts.⁶

2.1.110. The Commission has drawn up a forward estimate for the 1981/82 wine year.¹¹ Despite expected production of roughly 143 million hl, end-of-season stocks will probably be down by about 11%.

Milk and milk products

2.1.111. The Community has concluded agreements with Austria and with Finland on trade in cheese. Interim measures applying these agreements were adopted by the Council on 15 December,¹² and detailed rules for the interim measures were adopted by the Commission on 23 December.¹³

Beef and veal

2.1.112. On 21 December the Council adopted¹⁴ two Regulations proposed by the Commission in October¹⁵ opening Community tariff quotas for 1982 for high-quality beef and veal and for buffalo meat.

Sheepmeat and goatmeat

2.1.113. On 8 December the Commission sent the Council a proposal for a Regulation on 1982 import arrangements for sheepmeat and goatmeat from certain countries.¹⁶ This sets import terms for meat from countries (notably Spain, Chile and Czechoslovakia) which have not yet been able to conclude voluntary restraint agreements with the Community.

2.1.114. On 4 December the Commission adopted a Regulation altering the amounts of sheepmeat and goatmeat that can be imported from Yugoslavia and a Regulation allowing Hungary to export to the Community in 1981 part of the quantity of meat scheduled for export in 1982.¹

Structures

Implementation of the socio-structural Directives

2.1.115. On 11 December the Commission proposed to the Council that the interest-rate subsidy granted under Directive 72/159 (modernization of farms) be raised for a period expiring at the end of 1983, as follows: the increase already granted in Italy to be maintained, Denmark and the United Kingdom to be authorized to increase rates by 3% (to 10% in less-favoured areas and to 8% elsewhere), and Belgium, the Federal Republic of Germany, France, Greece, Luxembourg and The Netherlands to be authorized to increase rates by 2% (to 9% in less-favoured areas and 7% elsewhere).

New measures and adjustments to Directives

2.1.116. On 21 December the Council adopted² a Directive proposed by the Commission in September³ amending, as regards the special conversion grant and the monetary unit utilized, the Directive on the programme to accelerate the restructuring and conversion of vineyards in certain Mediterranean regions in France.

Agricultural legislation

Veterinary legislation

2.1.117. A Council Decision adopted in December deferred the date by which Greece and Italy must implement their national plans for the accelerated eradication of classical swine fever. These plans must now be presented in time for implementation not later than 31 December 1982.

2.1.118. On 9 December the Commission adopted two Decisions on animal health conditions and veterinary certification for imports of fresh meat from Hungary and from Poland.⁴

2.1.119. On 23 December the Commission amended the animal health conditions for imports of masseters from Argentina, Brazil, Uruguay and Paraguay.

2.1.120. The Scientific Veterinary Committee, instituted by Commission Decision of 30 July 1981,⁵ held its first meeting on 8 December. Its members have divided up into three groups to study problems of animal health, veterinary public health and animal welfare.

Competition

2.1.121. Applying Articles 92 to 94 of the EEC Treaty, the Commission decided to make no comment on the following aid measures, notified by:

Belgium

Changes to a Royal Decree (14 August 1979) on the granting of subsidies to cover the administrative costs of farmers' mutual aid associations and federations and of subsidies to farm worker emergency replacement services.

Denmark

Two guarantee funds, of maximum duration five years, to help farmers reimburse loans taken out during the period when market rates were high. The Commission may re-examine this type of aid at a later date in the light of Article 93(1) of the Treaty.

Federal Republic of Germany

Schleswig-Holstein: draft directives granting aid to farmers to guarantee the continued viability of their farms, consisting, firstly, of a number of aids covered by the Community socio-structural Directives and of aids for the purchase of land to enlarge farms and, secondly, of an interest-rate subsidy on borrowings for investment carried out between 1976 and 1981 by farmers who now have serious problems to contend with because production costs have risen faster than farm-gate prices while interest rates remain very high. The Commission takes the view that this type of aid can make a durable contribution to the development of farming in Schleswig-Holstein.

France

Corsica: aid to the clementine producers' group to compensate in part for the losses following a poor harvest caused by bad weather. The Commission considers this measure compatible with the common market because it was intended to compensate for damage caused by a natural disaster.

Martinique: aid, limited to three years, for the establishment of a station for packing limes. The Commission considers this to be a launching aid that will result in lasting development of the industry.

Aid for the experimental use of measuring instruments to classify pig carcasses.

Aid, limited to three years, to finance certain quality control, information and technical support work by the Comité interprofessionnel des fromages of the Cantal region. This work is considered to fall within the definition of useful Community measures.

Camargue: five-year plan to develop rice production involving preparation of areas for cultivation, repair and modernization of hydraulic installations in existing crop areas and development of new varieties better adopted to the area's soil conditions.

Ireland

A subsidy to farmers using dried grass as animal feed and a subsidy to encourage the use of nitrate fertilizers to produce grass for drying. The Commission considers that the measures will result in favourable development of the sector concerned.

Granting of short-term loans (operating credits) to enable cattle to be kept on farms and precautions taken against their contracting diseases. The Commission may re-examine these three measures at a later date in the light of Article 93(1) of the Treaty.

Italy

Bolzano: bill to grant reduced-rate loans to a number of cooperatives in mountain areas that have borrowed at very high market rates, in order to cover in part their increased investment costs. The Italian authorities have stated that the criteria set in Council Regulation (EEC) No 355/77¹ will be observed.

Trento: a number of projected actions covered by the socio-structural Directives and a series of measures including: aid for research into and for the use of alternative energy sources in less-favoured areas; aid for the improvement of farmers' living conditions and the upgrading of farm tourist accommodation; aid for technical assistance for demonstrations of results; aid for irrigation work and for land and agricultural improvement; aid for pilot work on the genetic improvement of livestock, the keeping of herd books and the organization of livestock shows and markets; aid to maintain stock-farming in mountain areas; aid for the development and modernization of collective plant health protection systems; renewal of nurseries for production of parent plants for viticulture, horticulture, fruit-growing and flower-growing more suited to soil conditions in the region; aid for training and for advisory services; aid for running farms and starting new ones; operating credits on which the Commission will give a ruling at a later date in the light of Article 93(1) of the Treaty.

United Kingdom

Adjustment of the slaughter premium for animals suffering from brucellosis, leukosis or tuberculosis. This measure is part of the programme to eradicate these diseases.

2.1.122. Applying the same articles of the Treaty, the Commission found incompatible with the common market the proposed French aid to groups of producers of new potatoes since the measure would not develop the sector; because there is no common organization of the market, however, the Commission can do no more than comment.

The Commission thought it advisable not to comment on a United Kingdom proposal to grant premiums on live lambs and sheep on the Isle of Man and on their carcasses so that 'dead weight' or 'live weight' certificates could be obtained, since provision is made for a similar aid in the basic sheepmeat and goatmeat Regulation, despite the fact the measure in question is an operating aid and such aids are normally held to be incompatible with the common market.

2.1.123. The Commission decided to close the Article 93(2) procedure opened with regard to a measure notified by the United Kingdom applying to the eggs and poultrymeat sector in Northern Ireland. The United Kingdom authorities have notified the Commission that the measure will not be implemented.

Glasshouse horticulture

2.1.124. The Commission addressed to The Netherlands a Decision under Article 93(2) of the Treaty to the effect that all necessary action must be taken to terminate the aid constituted by preferential natural gas tariff for horticulturists. The horticultural tariff is to be raised to the same level as the industrial tariff by 1 October 1982, and in the mean time the difference between the tariffs is not to be increased. The Commission has asked the Netherlands Government to notify by 15 January 1982 the measures adopted to comply with the Decision.

Parliament gave its opinion on the subject in two resolutions adopted on 17 December.¹

European Agricultural Guidance and Guarantee Fund

Guarantee Section

2.1.125. On 18 December the Commission fixed the interest rate that the Guarantee Section would pay Member States in respect of funds used to buy in agricultural products. The rate for 1982 is to be kept unchanged at 9%.

2.1.126. On 14 December the Commission proposed to the Council that the list of intervention measures financed by the Guarantee Section be updated.

Guidance Section

EAGGF aid

2.1.127. In application of the Council Regulation of 15 February 1977² on improvement of the conditions under which agricultural products are processed and marketed, the Commission adopted a series of decisions granting aid of 112.6 million ECU from the EAGGF Guidance Section for a total of 301 projects. Forty-four of these are in Mediterranean regions of the Community (27.6 million ECU) and nine in the west of Ireland (5.6 million ECU). The Guidance Section's aid for these 53 projects will be a maximum of 50% of the total cost of the investment planned.

The breakdown of projects by Member State is given in Table 7.

2.1.128. In application of the Council Regulation of 30 June 1981³ on a common measure to improve processing and marketing conditions for cattlefeed in Northern Ireland, the Commission adopted in December a set of decisions granting aid for 1981. Six projects are involved and the Guidance Section will be defraying a maximum of 50% of the total cost of the investment planned. An amount of UKL 901 526, i.e. 1.6 million ECU, has been provided for six projects.

2.1.129. In application of the Council Regulation of 25 July 1978¹ on a common measure to improve public facilities in certain rural areas in the Mezzogiorno, in the less-favoured areas of the remainder of Italy as defined in the Council Directive of 28 April 1975² and in the regions of Midi-Pyrénées, Languedoc-Roussillon, Provence-Côte d'Azur and Corsica and the departments of Pyrénées-Atlantique, Ardèche and Drôme in France, the Commission adopted in December a third set of decisions granting aid for 1981.

For the aid granted to France and Italy (for a total of 75 projects) see p. 49.

2.1.130. In application of the Council Regulation of 23 June 1978³ on special programmes for collective irrigation works in the Mezzogiorno, the Commission has adopted a Decision granting aid of LIT 37 068 920 000, i.e. 28 206 023 ECU, for a programme presented by the Italian authorities.

Reimbursements to Member States

2.1.131. On 3 December the Commission adopted a Decision on applications for reimbursement and for payment of advances in implementation of the Regulation of 6 February 1979⁴ on the development of agricultural advisory services in Italy. The Decision determined the content and form of applications for reimbursement and for advances so that forms can be used to speed up processing of applications.

2.1.132. In the last quarter of 1981 the Guidance Section paid 202.4 million ECU to Belgium, Denmark, the Federal Republic of Germany, France, Ireland, Italy, Luxembourg, The Netherlands and the United Kingdom for expenditure in 1980 and previous years and in advance payment for expenditure in 1981 (France and Ireland only).

The expenditure reimbursed was incurred mostly in application of the 1972 socio-structural Directives (modernization of farms, cessation of farming and socio-economic guidance and acquisition of occupational skills), the Directives to help the less-favoured areas and Regulations and Directives relating to the common organization of markets.

Fisheries

'Minipackage'

2.1.133. On 29 December the Council adopted a number of fisheries measures, some of which had to be in place before the agreement with Canada—held up for a year—could go through: the new common organization of the market,⁵ the opening of a zero-duty tariff quota of 84 700 t for herring (to apply for two years), and a Decision authorizing the signature and conclusion of the fisheries agreement with Canada.⁶ The major internal issues (notably catches and access) remain unresolved.

Resources

Internal aspects

2.1.134. On 29 December⁷ the Council decided that, pending a decision on the implementation of the common fisheries policy, the Member States will conduct their fishing activities in accordance with normal seasonal cycles, taking account of the TACs proposed by the Commission on 24 July 1981⁸ and that proportion of the TACs still available to the Community in connection with its arrangements with non-member countries.

2.1.135. On 4 December the Commission approved clauses in two Danish Orders concerning fishing for certain species in the North-East Atlantic and in the Baltic Sea and the Belts which it considered consistent with its 1981 TAC proposals.¹ However, in cases where the Commission found that measures were not consistent, it refused approval.

2.1.136. Some Member States (Denmark, France, The Netherlands, United Kingdom) notified the Commission of provisions implementing at national level the content of the Regulation of 30 September 1980 laying down technical measures for the conservation of fisheries resources.¹ This Regulation had expired on 31 October 1981, and the Commission asked the Member States to adopt their own measures in line with the expired Regulation and to submit these in the usual way.²

External aspects

2.1.137. Consultations with Norway, the Faroe Islands and Spain concerning reciprocal fisheries arrangements for 1982 took place in December. The consultations with Norway led to the initialling of a draft Agreement on Fisheries for 1982. A proposal for a Regulation granting access to the Community zone for Norwegian vessels on an interim basis from 1 January 1982 was, however, not approved by the Council. Consequently, reciprocal fishing rights lapsed on that date.

2.1.138. On 30 December the Agreement on Fisheries between the Community and Canada, together with a related Exchange of Letters, was signed by representatives of the two parties in Brussels. On 29 December³ the Council had agreed to approve the Agreement and adopted a Regulation allocating fishing possibilities in Canadian waters between Member States.

2.1.139. On 21 December³ the Council approved a new protocol to the Agreement with Senegal⁴ which lays down the conditions under which fishing possibilities in Senegalese waters will be allocated to Community fishermen during the next two years.

Markets and structures

Organization of the market

2.1.140. On 29 December the Commission formally adopted the Regulation providing for a review of the common organization of the market in fishery products³ to which it had agreed in principle at a meeting held on 29 September.⁵

This Regulation, which replaces a Regulation of 19 January 1976,⁶ currently in force, will be applied from 1 June 1982. Numerous implementing provisions to be adopted both by the Council and by the Commission will have to be drawn up before that date. These include the new system of aids for producers' organizations, processing, storage, compensation and the reference price system.

2.1.141. On 21 December the Commission adopted a number of Regulations⁷ resulting from the Council Decision of 15 December to raise the guide prices for fishery products by about 4% over those for the previous year.⁸ The Regulations concern the level of withdrawal prices and the amount of financial compensation paid to producers in the case of intervention.

Structures

2.1.142. Under the Council Regulation of 15 February 1977 on common measures to improve the conditions under which agricultural products are processed and marketed,⁹ the Commission approved on 4 December a programme for the fishery products sector submitted by the Danish Government.¹⁰

2.1.143. On 22 December the Commission also decided, under the same Regulation, to grant aid totalling about 5.5 million ECU from the EAGGF Guidance Section (as part of the second instalment for 1981) for 24 investment projects in the fisheries sector.¹

Seventeen of these projects are to be financed from general appropriations, four from appropriations specifically earmarked for Mediterranean regions and three from appropriations for the west of Ireland, as shown in Table 8.

2.1.144. Finally, three studies on Abruzzi and Molise, Apulia and Northern Ireland were added to the publications currently available in the Internal Information on Fisheries series.²

2.1.145. Parliament gave its opinion³ on 18 December on the Commission's communication to the Council on social aspects of sea fishing in the European Community.⁴ It welcomed the Commission's initiative in drawing up proposals to improve social conditions in sea fishing and approved the communication subject to certain amendments.

Transport

Council meeting

2.1.146. The meeting of the Ministers of Transport on 15 December produced some tangible results. The Council adopted five Decisions on the following topics:

- an amendment to the first Council Directive on the establishment of common rules for certain types of carriage of goods by road between Member States;
- the opening of negotiations on transport matters with Austria;
- the signing of an Agreement between the Community and non-member countries on the arrangements applicable to the international carriage of passengers by road by means of occasional coach and bus services (ASOR);
- an amendment to the Directive on common rules for certain types of combined rail/road carriage of goods between Member States;
- draft amendments to the European Agreement concerning the Work of Crews of Vehicles engaged in International Road Transport (AETR).

The Council took a favourable view of a proposal to increase the Community quota for the carriage of goods by road between Member States.

It further approved three Resolutions, the first on support for projects of Community interest in transport infrastructure, the second on Community railway policy and the third concerning safety standards for shipping using Community ports.

In addition, the Council exchanged views in detailed discussions on other items on the agenda, including: developing combined transport by providing investment aid, establishing technical requirements for inland waterway vessels and authorizing scheduled inter-regional air services for passengers, mail and cargo between Member States. The Council called upon the Member States to speed up work on their national legal instruments relating to the Code of Conduct for Limer Conferences so that the United Nations Convention on the Code might be ratified.

Inland transport

Infrastructure

Infrastructure investment

2.1.147. On 15 December the Council adopted a Resolution concerning Community support for transport infrastructure in which it asks the Commission, in collaboration with the Transport Infrastructure Committee, to apply on an experimental basis—to a limited number of specific projects—the methods of appraising Community interest in infrastructure projects recommended in the Report on the criteria for the evaluation of projects of Community interest.¹ It also asked the Commission to present its conclusions on this work by 1 October 1982, and instructed the Permanent Representatives Committee to proceed with examining the Commission's proposal.

Approximation of structures

Improving the situation of the railways

2.1.148. On 15 December the Council adopted a Resolution on Community railway policy² calling upon the Commission vigorously to pursue the implementation of the policy, particularly as regards cooperation between the national railway undertakings, and to present a report, accompanied by proposals where appropriate, by 1 July 1982.

Social conditions

2.1.149. By a Decision adopted on 18 December the Commission authorized the United Kingdom to exempt the carriage of milk from farms to dairies from the provisions of the Council Regulation of 25 March 1969 on the harmonization of certain social legislation relating to road transport.³ The Commission had already granted provisional exemption to this type of transport operation in 1978 and in 1980 extended the exemption to 31 December 1981.

In response to the United Kingdom's application for continued exemption, the Commission agreed as regards collecting milk from farms and transporting it to collection centres or direct to dairies. Such operations will remain subject to the social provisions currently applicable in the United Kingdom. However, the new Decision limits the provisional exemption granted earlier for operations involving the carriage of milk from collection centres to dairies to 31 December 1984.

Operation of the market

Access to the market

2.1.150. Subject to Parliament's opinion, the Council agreed in principle to increase the Community quota for the carriage of goods between Member States by 5%. In view of the special geographical situation of Greece and Ireland, these will benefit from a 15% increase.

2.1.151. On 15 December the Council adopted a Directive amending the first Council Directive of 23 July 1962 on the establishment of common rules for certain types of carriage of goods by road between Member States.⁴

It thereby further liberalized transport operations by exempting a number of other categories of carriage from all quota and/or authorization arrangements: the carriage of spare parts or supplies for seagoing vessels and aircraft, carriage by vehicles replacing vehicles which have broken down, and the carriage of works of art for exhibition or for commercial purposes, of information material and of material, properties and animals for cultural or sporting events.

Transport rates and conditions

2.1.152. On 11 December the Commission addressed to the Council a proposal for a Decision by which the Representatives of the Governments of the Member States of the ECSC, meeting in Council, are called upon to authorize the Commission to open negotiations with Yugoslavia concerning the conclusion of an agreement on the establishment of through international railway tariffs for the carriage of coal and steel in transit through the territory of Yugoslavia. Similar agreements were negotiated in 1956 and 1957 with Switzerland and Austria respectively. An agreement of this type with Yugoslavia would be desirable in view of the new factors introduced into the carriage of coal and steel following the accession of Greece to the Communities.

2.1.153. On 21 December the Council adopted an amendment¹ to the Directive on the establishment of common rules for certain types of combined road/rail carriage of goods between Member States² which provides inter alia for the freeing of such carriage from any quota or authorization arrangements. Parliament delivered a favourable opinion on 18 December.³

By this Decision the Council permanently extended the common rules of the Directive to carriage by containers 20 feet or more in length and to swap bodies without supports.

Sea transport

2.1.154. Following a Commission proposal⁴ the Council adopted on 15 December a Resolution on port State enforcement of international measures on the safety of shipping and preventing of pollution.

In the Resolution the Council asks the Member States and the Commission to play a full and active part in the second Regional Conference of Ministers to be held in Paris in January 1982 to discuss safety at sea with a view to establishing a coordinated system of port State enforcement. The Council also stated that it would subsequently examine what additional measures might have to be taken, notably as regards the Community's role.

2.1.155. Ministers exchanged views on 15 December on shipping relations between member and non-member countries. At the end of the discussion the Council asked the Member States to speed up their preparations for the ratification of the United Nations Convention on a Code of Conduct for Liner Conferences. The Council also noted that the Commission intended to submit a progress report on the ratification of the Convention to the next Council meeting on transport.

In this connection the Commission addressed to the Government of the Federal Republic of Germany an opinion⁵ on the implementation of the Council Regulation of 15 May 1979⁶ concerning the ratification by the Member States of, or their accession to, the United Nations Convention on a Code of Conduct for Liner Conferences.

The Commission considers that the bill communicated to it meets all the obligations laid down in the Regulation.

2.1.156. At a meeting on 17 December the Scientific and Technical Research Committee endorsed a draft Council decision concerning the adoption of a research and development action on shore-based navigation aid systems (COST 301).⁷

Air transport

2.1.157. Following opinions delivered by Parliament⁸ and the Economic and Social Committee, the Commission addressed to

Relations with non-Community countries

2.1.158. In order to forge closer inland transport ties with Austria the Council adopted a Decision on 15 December on the opening of negotiations on these questions with Austria. It was decided that negotiations would be conducted by the Commission in conjunction with the Member States. The aim would be to identify specific problems and seek possible solutions, particularly in matters relating to transport infrastructure, combined transport and railway cooperation.

Energy

Formulating and implementing a Community energy policy

2.1.159. At its meeting of 3 December the Council emphasized the particular importance which it attached to energy pricing.²

It stated that consumer prices must permit an adequate level of investment in energy supply and encourage energy efficiency. Government policies which contribute to the formation of prices must take account of market trends. And consumers should be given information on the methods by which both prices and tariffs are determined.

Specific problems

Rational use of energy

2.1.160. On 22 December the Commission adopted and sent to the Council pursuant to the Regulation of 12 June 1978³ a second series of demonstration projects to be given Community financial aid. The Commission Decision involves aid of 18.8 million ECU for 41 projects.

Oil and gas

2.1.161. On 21 December the Council adopted a Regulation, which the Commission had addressed to it on 14 December, to extend up to 30 December 1982 the registration of crude oil imports in the Community.⁴ In August 1979 the Council had decided to introduce a system for monitoring the trend of oil prices on the market in periods of tension.⁵

The reasons for extension given by the Commission were continuing uncertainty in the market and the contribution which the system makes towards meeting the objective of price transparency. The statistics need be communicated only at the express request of the Commission in the event of tension on the market and after consulting the Member States.

2.1.162. On 18 December the Community and Canada signed an agreement on the enrichment, reprocessing and storage of nuclear materials.⁶ The Council had approved the conclusion of this agreement on 15 December.

Development of the common policy

Scientific and Technical Research Committee

2.1.163. At its meeting on 17 and 18 December the Scientific and Technical Research Committee (CREST) continued its exchange of views on two Commission proposals relating to medical research¹ and to science and technology for development.² It adopted a number of recommendations concerning the exploitation of the results of R & D.

The following items were also discussed:

— The proposal on the effect of processing on the physical properties of foodstuffs³ relates to a concerted-action project to be extended to the COST context (COST 90*bis*) and represents the continuation of a project that has been in hand since 1978. CREST considered that the continuation of the project, which was drawing to a close, would make it possible to derive the maximum benefit from the effort already made, and the majority of the delegations agreed on the resources proposed by the Commission and on a four-year implementation period. The main aim of this project is to coordinate the Member States' R & D work on the effect of heat treatment on the mechanical, diffusion and electrical properties of foodstuffs.

— CREST approved the proposal for a project relating to shore-based systems for aiding maritime navigation,⁴ which should help to reduce the risk of accidents and assist in finding a solution to the problems posed by maritime traffic near coasts and at port approaches. The resources proposed amount to 2.1 million ECU over a period of three years.

— CREST carried out a general survey of recent developments in the Member States' policies relating to science and technology (COPOL 81).⁵ Having established that the Community possesses a considerable research potential which is comparable in many respects to that of the United States and greater than that of Japan, CREST nevertheless noted that the Community was lagging increasingly behind these countries in certain advanced fields such as new information technologies and biotechnologies. CREST also pointed out that it was only through big collaborative projects (in the aerospace, fusion and nuclear research fields) that European countries had been able to stay in the main streams of innovation; paradoxically, the Committee observed that budgetary efforts devoted to international cooperation were diminishing and currently represented only 8% of the total R & D budgets of the ten Member States.

In the light of these observations and with due regard to the results of the Council meeting of 9 November,⁶ the Committee endorsed the principal lines of action proposed by the Commission for the coming decade: promotion of agricultural and industrial competitiveness; improved management of energy resources and raw materials; increased aid to developing countries; improvement of living and working conditions; and improvement of the efficiency of the R & D system.

Advisory Committee on Industrial Research and Development

2.1.164. The Advisory Committee on Industrial Research and Development (CORDI) delivered a favourable opinion on the principles of a common strategy as developed by the Commission in its communication to the Council of 12 October entitled 'Scientific and technical research and the European Community: proposals for the 1980s'.⁷ It expressed its resolve to contribute from the beginning of 1982, within the limits of its terms of reference, to the preparation of specific proposals relating to industrial R & D.

CORDI also endorsed the proposal for a Council Regulation on the European Grouping (ECG),⁸ which was sent to the Council on 21 December 1973. It was informed of the initial results obtained by its working parties which are examining the problem of intra-Community cooperation between undertakings and research centres and that of basic technological research. Work will have to concentrate particularly on the assessment of the practical experience that has been acquired.

Multiannual research programmes

Joint Research Centre

High-temperature materials

2.1.165. The ACPM (High-temperature Materials) met at the Joint Research Centre's Petten Establishment on 16 and 17 December. It discussed the progress made since its last meeting and focused its attention on the Information Centre and on the work done in connection with the COST project relating to materials for gas turbines. Technical discussions took place on problems associated with the sulphiding of materials in service, test facilities and the data bank project. Lastly, consideration was given to the repercussions of the programme on industry and R & D in the Member States.

Contract research and coordination

Biomolecular engineering

2.1.166. On 7 December the Council adopted¹ a multiannual (1982-84) research and training programme in the field of biomolecular engineering.² Five projects will be devoted to the agricultural and industrial applications of genetic engineering and enzyme technology and a sixth to safety matters. Of the 8 million ECU that go to make up the appropriation for the programme, 1.6 million ECU will be allocated to training to encourage the mobility of scientists within the Community.

The research part of the programme is aimed at stimulating research by means of contracts to be concluded with laboratories in the Member States. During the first phase, expenditure will amount to 6.4 million ECU and will be allocated mainly to agricultural and agri-food objectives and to safety.

During the second year, the programme will, if necessary, be revised and its budget appropriation re-evaluated with a view to intensifying the research activities and possibly extending them to include such new fields as human detoxification and pharmaceutical compounds.

Textiles and clothing

2.1.167. On 15 December the Council adopted for a period of three years a second R & D programme in the field of textiles and clothing.³

The programme covers the following topics: garment physiology and construction; the quality of knitted fabrics and knitted articles; the application of new spinning technologies in the wool industry; and the up-grading of linen.

Funds amounting to 3.9 million ECU were allocated to the implementation of this programme.

Reference materials and applied metrology

2.1.168. The ACPM (Reference Materials and Applied Metrology), meeting on 1 and 2 December, discussed progress made and the status of work, in particular as regards draft proposals for new programmes. It delivered a favourable opinion on the Commission's draft proposal concerning the continuation of reference materials and applied metrology activities for a period of five years from 1982, stressing the economic importance of this programme proposal.

2.1.169. On 15/16 and on 18 December the Economic and Social Committee⁴ and Parliament⁵ respectively delivered their opinions on the proposal for a Decision adopting a multiannual (1982-85) research and development programme in the raw-materials sector.¹ Parliament underlined the need to associate Community industry with the implementation of research and development projects in order that the results may be more commensurate with the real needs of industry and therefore more swiftly exploited. It also drew the Commission's attention to the need to examine these proposals with the reorganization of the Community budget in mind and to carry out a painstaking selection of priorities in all areas of research activity.

The Economic and Social Committee also delivered an opinion on the proposal for a Decision adopting a sectoral research and development programme of the European Economic Community in the field of medical and public health research (1982-86).²

Portugal

Pre-accession aid

2.2.1. An agreement between the EEC and Portugal¹ providing for financial aid totalling 275 million ECU to ease the integration of the Portuguese economy into the Community came into force on 1 January 1981. In pursuance of this agreement, the Commission adopted a decision on 15 December authorizing the financing by grant of a programme to assist small and medium-sized businesses in Portugal; the necessary financing agreement was signed by the Commission and Portugal the following day.

The Portuguese Government has entrusted the Instituto de Apoio às Pequenas e Médias Empresas Industriais with the execution of this programme.

The Community's contribution of 10 million ECU (out of a total of about 35 million ECU earmarked by the Portuguese Government for the plan) will be spread over two years and will mainly be aimed at improving the internal management structures of small and medium-sized firms and the quality of the services available to them, and carrying out restructuring and modernization projects in a number of such firms.

Implementing the common commercial policy

Import arrangements

Instruments of commercial policy

Import arrangements in respect of State-trading countries

2.2.2. On 15 December the Council adopted, as it does each year, a Decision establishing all the import quotas to be opened by the Member States in respect of State-trading countries in 1982.

Easing of restrictive measures

2.2.3. Under the Council Regulation of 4 December 1980¹ on import arrangements in respect of State-trading countries, the Commission decided on the exceptional opening or adjustment of import quotas for the following products for 1981:

Italy—Bulgaria/Hungary/USSR: natural honey;³

Italy—Poland: regenerated textile fibres of casein, discontinuous.

Trade protection

Anti-dumping measures

2.2.4. The Commission imposed a provisional anti-dumping duty on imports of certain cotton yarns originating in Turkey.² The Council amended³ its Regulation of 22 September 1981 imposing a definitive anti-dumping duty on o-xylene (ortho-xylene) originating in Puerto Rico or the United States of America⁴ and its Regulation of 15 October 1981 imposing a definitive anti-dumping duty on imports of p-xylene (para-xylene) originating in Puerto Rico, the United States of America or the United States Virgin Islands;⁵ it also amended its Regulation of 18 December 1980 imposing a definitive anti-dumping duty on mechanical alarm clocks originating in the German Democratic Republic.⁶

2.2.5. The Commission decided to initiate the following proceedings:

- an anti-dumping/anti-subsidy proceeding concerning imports of polyvinyl chloride originating in Czechoslovakia, the German Democratic Republic, Hungary or Romania;
- an anti-dumping proceeding concerning imports of paracetamol originating in China;
- an anti-dumping proceeding concerning imports of decabromodiphenyl ether originating in the United States of America.

2.2.6. It decided to terminate⁷ the anti-dumping proceeding, initiated in February,⁸ concerning imports of certain portable black-and-white television sets originating in the Republic of Korea.

Community surveillance

2.2.7. The Commission decided to extend⁹ the validity of Community surveillance of imports of certain motor vehicles, machine tools, colour television receivers and cathode-ray tubes for colour television receivers, originating in Japan.¹⁰

2.2.8. On 22 December the Commission also decided¹¹ to extend for a further period¹² (until 31 December 1982) the validity of retrospective control of imports of footwear into the Community.

2.2.9. By Regulation adopted on 23 December the Commission extended the validity of the Regulations instituting Community surveillance of imports of certain textile products originating in Malta, Spain, Portugal and Egypt.¹³

2.2.10. The Commission also adopted arrangements for Community surveillance of imports of certain textile products (not subject to quantitative limits) originating in certain non-member countries in South-East Asia.

Treaties and trade agreements: extension or automatic renewal

2.2.11. On 21 December the Council authorized the extension or automatic renewal of certain trade agreements between the

Sectoral commercial policy measures

Iron and steel products

Arrangements with non-member countries

2.2.12. On 7 December the Council reached agreement on the negotiating directives to be given to the Commission with a view to extending for 1982 the arrangements with a number of non-member countries for voluntary restraint of steel exports to the Community. The directives are much the same as for 1981, except that the quantities envisaged in the Commission proposal have been slightly increased: they will be the 1980 quantities less 9.5%. The Commission has undertaken to carry out very thorough checks to ensure that the price rules contained in the arrangements for 1982 are observed; it will also monitor even more closely the observance of the clauses relating to regional distribution, product breakdown and the phasing of imports.

2.2.13. The Commission had consultations in December, mainly concerning the observance of prices, with the principal countries with which arrangements have been concluded, namely Poland, Spain and Finland.

Autonomous measures

2.2.14. On 22 December the Commission decided to extend for 1982 the validity of Recommendation 587/80/ECSC (surveillance of imports of ECSC iron and steel products)² and Decision 588/80/ECSC (retrospective surveillance of imports and exports).³

On the basis of Commission proposals, the Member States' representatives approved the provisional volume of the unilateral quotas to be applied vis-à-vis State-trading countries for 1982. This will be adjusted once arrangements with those countries have been concluded.

The new basic prices for certain iron and steel products were published on 29 Deember⁴ and will come into force on 1 January 1982.

Renewal of the Multifibre Arrangement

2.2.15. Following almost continuous negotiations during the second half of the year in the GATT Textiles Committee—in which the Community played a particularly active part—a Protocol was adopted by consensus extending the Multifibre Arrangement from 1 January 1982 to 31 July 1986. This Protocol, which has to be formally approved at the start of 1982, takes substantially into account the points stressed by the Community throughout the negotiations.⁵

The negotiating directives given to the Commission by the Council at its July, October and November meetings specified that the Community should be able, under the new MFA, to adjust via bilateral negotiation the levels of access previously agreed with certain of its most developed and competitive supplier countries; the Protocol of extension was also to provide for the inclusion in bilateral agreements of a mechanism capable of dealing with import surges occurring within quotas.

The Protocol adopted in Geneva satisfies these various requirements. In accepting it, the Community re-emphasized that its participation in the MFA was subject to the conclusion of satisfactory bilateral agreements.

Agreements and arrangements with non-member countries

2.2.16. The textiles agreement between Poland and the Community, which was initialled on 25 January 1979 and has been in operation de facto since 1 January of that year, was signed in Brussels on 4 December.

Development

North-South relations

2.2.17. At its 7-8 December meeting the Council adopted a second report on Community policy regarding the North-South Dialogue.

The new report, a sequel to the one adopted by the European Council in Luxembourg last June,¹ spells out and expands upon the basic guidelines contained in the latter. The principal additions concern raw materials, trade and the restructuring of industry.

The Council also reaffirmed the importance that the Community attaches to all aspects of the North-South Dialogue and its desire to take part in the efforts being made within the United Nations system to work out the basis for a general agreement enabling the global negotiations to begin.

2.2.18. On 17 December Parliament passed a resolution on the prospects for the North-South Dialogue following the Cancún meeting.²

Campaign against hunger in the world

2.2.19. On 21 December a Regulation on the granting of exceptional food aid worth 40 million ECU to the least-developed countries was formally adopted by the Council,³ which had agreed the operation on 3 November.⁴

On 16 December Parliament had given an opinion approving the substance of the Commission's proposal, though it felt that no special Regulation was needed.⁵

2.2.20. On 18 December Parliament passed a resolution on the results of the United Nations Conference on the Least-Developed Countries.⁵

1982 scheme

2.2.21. On the basis of proposals transmitted to it by the Commission in July,⁶ the Council adopted on 7 December the various regulations and decisions relating to the Community generalized tariff preferences scheme for 1982.⁷

As regards agricultural products, the Community has concentrated on improving preferential margins while taking into account the various constraints upon it; as a result, for 36 products already included in the scheme, the preferential duty has again been lowered. In addition, 14 other products have been included for all beneficiary countries (certain plants, cut flowers and parts of plants, fresh papayas, certain pineapple juices and spirituous beverages, etc.).

Also, China will be granted GSP concessions for products falling under 15 tariff headings, mainly fruit prepared or preserved with added alcohol.

The Community has extended the special arrangements for the least developed countries (36 countries including 9 non-ACP States: Afghanistan, Bangladesh, Bhutan, Haiti, Laos, Maldives, Nepal, North Yemen and South Yemen) by granting them duty exemptions for 10 products: certain vegetables, lentils, certain provisionally preserved fruit, cocoa beans, cocoa shells and waste, certain offal, frozen trout and various sea fish. Fish meal, included in 1980 for the least-developed countries and carrying a preferential duty of 9%, will in future be totally exempt—as will tinned pineapple, which was hitherto the case only within the quota limits.

As for industrial manufactures and semi-manufactures, the Community has maintained, with a few changes, the 1980 list of sensitive products; for 1982 there are 131 products, including 6 ECSC products. The changes take account of the pattern of trade with the beneficiary countries and are intended to encourage use of the GSP by the developing countries which have most need of it. For 65 products, including 6 ECSC products, preferential imports from highly competitive countries are subject to individual quotas, whereas imports from other sources are subject to ceilings which will be administered more flexibly; GSP imports of the 66 other products from all beneficiary countries will be administered through individual ceilings.

Except for products in the very sensitive sectors, the preferential amounts have been raised by a minimum of 5%, ranging up to 10% for 47 products and as much as 15% for 10, although the new scheme applied since 1981 is even more liberal as regards the least developed beneficiaries.

The Community has also extended preferential treatment to China and Romania in respect of various products (12 and 27 respectively) for which they were not previously covered.

As regards textile products, the whole 1981 scheme has been extended unchanged pending an assessment by the Community of the general state of the industry having regard in particular to the results of the negotiations to extend the Multifibre Arrangement.

Aid to non-associated developing countries

2.2.22. On 17 December the Commission decided to make available the seventh tranche of the 1980 programme of financial and technical assistance to non-associated developing countries: this involves a grant of 4 800 000 ECU for a project in the Dominican Republic to build an irrigation system together with social infrastructure.

2.2.23. On 18 December Parliament delivered an opinion¹ on the general guidelines for the 1982 programme of financial and technical cooperation with the non-associated developing countries.² While approving the guidelines, Parliament had a number of criticisms to make about how they were to be implemented.

Food aid, emergency aid and exceptional aid

Food aid

2.2.24. As a further step in its programme of aid for Palestinian refugees, the Council adopted on 21 December a Decision concluding a Convention (1981-83) with the United Nations Relief and Works Agency. This Convention provides for aid, for 1981, consisting of 40 000 t of cereals, 1 632 t of skimmed-milk powder, 3 900 t of butteroil, 6 086 t of sugar and a cash contribution of 5.8 million ECU worth a total of 35.9 million ECU (23.8 million ECU at world prices).

Annual programmes

2.2.25. On 7 December the Council adopted two Regulations respectively providing for the supply of 300 t of skimmed-milk powder and 260 t of butteroil to Ghana under the 1979 food aid programme.³

Exceptional aid

Emergency aid

2.2.26. On 18 December the Commission decided to grant emergency aid totalling 300 000 ECU to help meet the emergency needs of the people of Viet Nam whose critical state of health is the subject of programmes being run by three non-governmental organizations (Caritas Germanica, the Comité catholique contre la faim et pour le développement and Oxfam).

2.2.27. The Commission also decided on 23 December to allocate to the UNHCR emergency aid totalling 633 000 ECU to help provide immediate financing for the 1982 programme of aid for Afghan refugees in Pakistan.

Relations with non-governmental organizations

2.2.28. By the end of December the Commission had committed the entire budget allocated in 1981 for co-financing with NGOs, i.e. 14 million ECU. Of the 215 projects accepted for appraisal during 1981, action was taken on some 160 operations submitted by 85 NGOs. The sum of 1 115 000 ECU was committed for 25 block grants.

2.2.29. The Commission also contributed 595 620 ECU towards 26 schemes for informing the European public about development issues, one of them undertaken by the NGO Liaison Committee.

International organizations and conferences

United Nations

General Assembly

2.2.30. Before breaking up in mid-December, the General Assembly followed the Security Council's recommendation by appointing Mr Pérez de Cuellar to succeed Mr Waldheim as Secretary-General.

2.2.31. Despite the efforts made by its President, Mr Kittani, the General Assembly was unable to take any decision on the opening of the global negotiations provided for by Resolution 34/138. During the discussions on this matter, the Community reiterated its support for the global negotiations on the basis of that Resolution. The Group of 77 would have liked the negotiating conference to be called at the beginning of 1982, with the conference itself being responsible for drawing up its agenda and detailed operating procedures. It was the United States Government which expressed the strongest reservations about the idea of opening the global negotiations on this rather open-ended basis, as it was concerned about the range of subjects to be dealt with by the conference and its possible encroachment upon the powers exercised by certain United Nations agencies. Thus the year ended without the impetus which seemed to have been given by the Cancún Summit generating any specific moves within the United Nations.

2.2.32. The General Assembly adopted a number of resolutions on the main economic issues concerning the international community. A resolution on food places the emphasis on the trade aspects, another deals with industrial development and in particular new means of financing, and a third concerns a decision to set up a financing system for science and technology for development from 1 January 1982. The Member States of the Community abstained from voting on a resolution concerning UNCTAD owing to certain political aspects of the text. They joined in the consensus, however, on a resolution concerning the Paris Conference on the Least-Developed Countries stressing the importance of the commitments for a substantial increase in the aid to be granted to those countries. The Community also outlined its views on the draft articles concerning most-favoured-nation treatment adopted by the Commission on International Trade Law.

Economic and Social Council

Economic Commission for Europe

2.2.33. The ECE Committee on the Development of Trade held its 30th session in Geneva from 1 to 4 December. This meeting took place against the background of special ad hoc meetings on obstacles to trade and on compensation transactions which had been held in the ECE framework the previous month.¹

In their statements, the Commission representatives drew attention to the continued growth in the Community's imports from Eastern European countries as compared with the overall reduction in those countries' imports from the Community. They pointed out that discussions on protectionist trends in trade relations within Europe should take account of the fact that protectionism can take a multiplicity of forms, particularly in trade between countries with different economic and social systems. The increased pressure for compensation dealing in East-West commercial relations could itself become an obstacle to trade because it encouraged bilateralism and created problems for Western firms, particularly small and medium-sized firms.

The Committee did not reach any decision about holding new meetings on obstacles to trade and on compensations, but agreed that its 1982 session should examine the possibility of holding such meetings in 1983.

FAO

Intergovernmental Group on Jute, Kenaf and Allied Fibres

2.2.34. At its 17th session (Rome, 9-11 December), the Group made its regular review of the current market situation and outlook for jute and kenaf, and their main competing synthetic substitute, polypropylene. With jute prices at their lowest level in real terms for over two decades, it decided to maintain its indicative price recommendation for Bangladesh jute at the same level as in the past two seasons, rather than to decrease it towards the actual market price or increase it to reflect inflation and rising costs. A small rise (6%) in the recommended indicative price for Thai kenaf was also agreed.¹

Among other matters, the Group reviewed the levels of tariff and non-tariff barriers to trade throughout the world, the progress of research and development action in the main jute-producing countries, and the extent of action by FAO on behalf of jute and kenaf.

United Nations Conference on the Law of the Sea

2.2.35. On 14 December the Commission sent a communication to the Council on preparations for working out, before the next session of the Law of the Sea Conference, scheduled for March 1982, the way in which the Community could participate in the future Convention.

General Agreement on Tariffs and Trade

GATT Council

2.2.36. At its 7 and 8 December session the GATT Council set up a preparatory committee to organize the Contracting Parties' ministerial meeting to be held in November 1982.

This committee is open to all the Contracting Parties and will make all necessary preparations for the ministerial meeting, the main purpose of which will be to examine the workings of the multilateral trade system and back up the joint efforts made by the Contracting Parties to support and improve this system for the benefit of all nations. Lastly, as part of their examination of GATT's work programme for the 1980s, the ministers will also determine the future priorities for cooperation between the Contracting Parties.

The Council also adopted the reports by the four panels on the tax relief practices of three Member States of the Community and of the United States (DISC case). The Community took the opportunity to state very clearly that the DISC arrangement was a banned export subsidy.

Committee on Subsidies and Countervailing Measures

2.2.37. The Committee on Subsidies and Countervailing Measures met in Geneva on 14 December. It examined the United States' complaint that the Community was exporting subsidized flour.

It noted that the United States did not intend to pursue the conciliation procedure provided for in the Agreement and that the only remaining solution was to set up a panel to give a ruling on the complaint and then report to the Committee. It was decided that the panel should be set up at the beginning of 1982.

Conference on Security and Cooperation in Europe

2.2.38. The Madrid meeting of the 35 States signatory to the Final Act of the Conference on Security and Cooperation in Europe (the Helsinki Final Act) again failed to reach agreement on the text of a concluding document, and on 18 December the meeting was adjourned until 9 February 1982.

Industrialized countries

EFTA countries

Norway

2.2.39. Mr Skauge, the Norwegian Minister of Trade and Shipping, met Mr Haferkamp, Vice-President of the Commission, and Mr Contogeorgis, the Member of the Commission with special responsibility for transport and fisheries, when he visited the Commission on 3 December. The two sides noted that the EEC-Norway free trade agreement was functioning satisfactorily and that cooperation had been extended to other areas, including shipping. Mr Skauge explained the problems encountered by Norwegian exporters of fish and fish products on Community markets.

With regard to international trade questions, both sides underlined the importance of observing the principles of the liberal world trading system and of further integrating the developing countries into this multilateral system.

Joint committees

2.2.40. The joint committees set up by the Agreements between the Community and the EFTA countries met in Brussels in December: the EEC-Switzerland and EEC-Sweden Joint Committees on 1 December, the EEC-Austria and EEC-Iceland Joint Committees on 2 December, the EEC-Norway Joint Committee on 9 December and the EEC-Finland Joint Committee on 16 December.

Except in the case of Iceland, where the ECSC Agreement does not provide for a joint committee, these meetings were immediately followed by meetings of the joint committees provided for in the Agreements between the ECSC and the EFTA countries.

At these meetings the delegations examined the functioning of the various agreements and held a wide-ranging discussion of international economic problems, the situation in the iron and steel market and certain bilateral trade matters. They confirmed their interest in developing and consolidating cooperation between the European Communities and the EFTA countries in all sectors of mutual interest.

United States

2.2.41. On 11 and 12 December the US Secretary of State, Mr Haig, accompanied by the Secretary of Agriculture, Mr Block, and the US Trade Representative, Mr Brock, had a series of talks with Mr Thorn and Members of the Commission on the divergences in trade policy between the United States and the Community.

The talks were very positive and of great value for the mutual understanding of current bilateral problems, especially in agriculture and steel.

On steel, the two sides felt that it was important to resist protectionist pressure, which was particularly powerful at present, and that a solution such as a voluntary restraint agreement (on the part of the EEC) would not be satisfactory. The Community representatives emphasized the fact that penetration of the US market by European steelmakers was only slight and exports from Europe could not be the cause of the present difficulties facing the American industry. The solution should therefore be sought rather in improving the functioning of the trigger price mechanism, taking account of the consensus reached within the OECD, according to which the burden of restructuring the industry should be shared evenly among the different trading partners.

On agriculture, although the talks did not iron out the differences they at least served to clarify the points of view. There are in fact two different philosophies. The Americans feel that the opportunities for them to expand their exports are being blocked by the Community's export policy. The American delegation said that it had nothing against the common agricultural policy as such but would like to see some of its instruments adjusted, particularly the mechanism or level of export refunds for agricultural products. For its part, the Commission stressed the importance of the common agricultural policy as a fundamental political and social factor and its view that the refunds are perfectly in line with the Community's obligations negotiated at the Tokyo Round.

Discussions were also held on other issues, including the Multifibre Arrangement, Japan and GATT questions.

Canada

2.2.42. An agreement on nuclear matters was concluded between Euratom and Canada on 18 December. It replaces the interim arrangement on the enrichment, reprocessing and subsequent storage of nuclear materials in the Community and Canada, which formed part of an agreement in the form of an exchange of letters concluded in January 1978. This provided for the interim arrangement to be superseded by a permanent system once the results of the International Nuclear Fuel Cycle Evaluation studies were known and could be taken into account.

Japan

2.2.43. On 8 December the Council adopted conclusions on the basis of a Commission report on relations with Japan. These stated that the Community must continue to emphasize to the Japanese authorities the importance and urgency of bringing about changes in the trade situation between Japan and the Community, which remained a matter of serious concern. The Council felt that although the tariff measures being considered by the Japanese authorities constituted a step in the right direction, they did not address the central problem.

The Council asked the Commission to send the Japanese Government a list of requests specifying the products and services to which priority should be given in the efforts to open up the Japanese market. This list, which also contained a reference to the need for continued moderation in 1982 of Japanese exports, especially those affecting sensitive sectors of Community industry, was handed to the Japanese Ambassador on 9 December.

The details of the Japanese replies would be examined at the next round of high-level consultations between the Commission and Japan, which were to be held in late January 1982. The Commission would report to the Council in February.

Australia

2.2.44. The six-monthly high-level consultations between the Commission and Australia were held in Brussels on 1 December; they had been preceded by meetings of officials on 27 and 30 November.

The consultations revealed broad agreement on international political and economic issues. Furthermore, the two delegations stressed the progress recently made in bilateral relations—implementation of the multilateral trade negotiations, voluntary restraint agreement in the sheepmeat sector and the Euratom-Australia agreement. Mr Anthony, Australia's Deputy Prime Minister and Minister for Trade and Resources, also welcomed the opening of the Commission Delegation in Canberra.

Responding to Australian concern over Community exports of agricultural products backed by refunds, the Commission gave an account of the state of play in the discussions on adjusting the CAP in the various sectors concerned. In addition, the specific explanations provided by the Commission on the operation of the new sugar arrangements cleared away a number of misunderstandings.

The Commission stressed its own increasing concern with regard to industrial products, notably over opportunities for Community exports of cars, footwear and textiles. However, the response by the Australian authorities fell short of what the Community considers to be necessary to permit an improvement in the situation.

Mediterranean countries

Turkey

2.2.45. On 4 December the Commission issued a statement on the situation in Turkey, keenly regretting the imprisonment of the former Turkish Prime Minister, Mr Bulent Ecevit. The Commission recalled and confirmed the grave concern which it had expressed to the Turkish Ambassador to the Community on 4 November¹ and which Mr Thorn had reiterated when he met the Turkish Foreign Minister, Mr Türkmen, in Strasbourg on 18 November.

In the light of this statement, the Commission does not intend at present to recommend the conclusion by the Council of the fourth EEC-Turkey Financial Protocol.

Cyprus

2.2.46. At its meeting on 7 and 8 December the Council was unable to adopt the Commission's negotiating directives regarding the trade arrangements with Cyprus during 1982 and 1983. It was therefore decided on 21 December to extend on an autonomous basis the existing trade arrangements for a period of six months from January 1982.²

In the mean time, the Community will continue its efforts to adopt directives which would allow negotiations with Cyprus to be successfully concluded.

Malta

2.2.47. Pending the opening of negotiations on extending the first stage of the EEC-Malte Association Agreement, the Council decided on the further unilateral renewal until 30 June 1982 of the arrangements applicable to trade with Malta.³

Maghreb, Mashreq and Israel

2.2.48. Negotiations for the conclusion of the second Financial Protocol with Algeria were completed on 9 December; this brought to an end the series of negotiations on the latest financial protocols with the Mediterranean countries.

2.2.49. From 30 November to 6 December Mr Natali visited Israel, where he had talks with Mr Ehrlich, Deputy Prime Minister and Minister for Agriculture, Mr Shamir, Minister for Foreign Affairs, Mr Aridor, Minister for Finance, and Mr Savidor, Speaker of the Knesset. He also took part in a working meeting with representatives of Israeli industry. The talks were concerned exclusively with the outlook for relations between the Community and Israel in the context of the Mediterranean policy in the light of Israel's fears regarding the consequences of enlargement, particularly the accession of Spain. This was the first exchange of information of its kind.

It was agreed that Commission and Israeli officials would make a detailed sector-by-sector study of the questions raised, with a view to establishing the solutions which will need to be adopted on both sides in due course.

Developing countries

Visit by Mr Pisani to West Africa

2.2.50. On his first official visits to Ivory Coast (10 December) and Senegal (11-14 December), Mr Pisani had talks with the leaders of these two countries on North-South relations and ACP-EEC cooperation.

On the occasion of the seventh summit meeting of heads of State of the West African Economic Community, Mr Pisani also had discussions with political leaders on current questions affecting the Sahel countries, notably food self-sufficiency, deforestation and, more generally, the establishment of a real strategy to combat hunger.

Training: results and prospects

2.2.51. On the entry into force of the second Lomé Convention, the Commission approved two provisional amounts totalling 12 970 000 ECU to meet the ACP countries' most urgent training needs pending the adoption of the multiannual training programmes which are being drawn up or have been presented to the EDF Committee.

By 31 December 1981 the Commission had adopted the following five multiannual programmes for a total cost of 9 205 000 ECU:

Barbados (350 000 ECU); Malawi (3 800 000 ECU); Zambia (3 810 000 ECU); St Vincent and the Grenadines (245 000 ECU); aid for the people of Namibia (1 000 000 ECU).

Multiannual programmes were provided for under Lomé II in order to meet the training requirements of supervisory and managerial staff in the ACP countries, particularly in the fields of vocational training, advanced training for civil servants and project-linked training.

2.2.52. As the validity of the Maghreb and Mashreq agreements ran out, virtually all the funds relating to training projects had been committed by the countries concerned, the total amount involved being 45 million ECU. This covered vocational training centres, faculties of science or engineering and specific programmes for study or training awards.

The amounts involved represent on average 30% of the aid provided under the financial protocols concluded by each of the countries in these regions.

In the case of some countries (e.g. Algeria and Jordan), training and research programmes account for around 60% of the total.

2.2.53. With regard to the non-associated developing countries, approval was given for training programmes for young researchers run by the ASEAN Committee on Science and Technology and for vocational training programmes in a number of Latin American countries.

ACP-EEC Conventions

Arrangements applicable to Greece-ACP trade

2.2.54. The arrangements applicable to trade between Greece and the ACP States, initially established in January and extended in two stages until 31 December, were further extended on 21 December for the period to run from 1 January 1982 until not later than 30 June 1982. The extension, which was needed because the Greek accession protocols signed in October¹ and not yet entered into force, was effected by means of a Council Regulation on products covered by the EEC Treaty² and a Decision of the Representatives of the Governments of the ECSC Member States meeting within the Council in the case of products covered by that Community.³

Institutions

2.2.55. In a resolution adopted on 16 December on the outcome of the proceedings of the ACP-EEC Consultative Assembly in 1981, Parliament stressed the need for consistency between its own deliberations and those of the Consultative Assembly.⁴ It also called for an adequate allocation of financial resources to Stabex and Sysmin and for particular attention to be paid to the serious problems afflicting the least developed, landlocked and island ACP States.

Association of OCTs

2.2.56. On 3 December the Council approved the draft Decision of the ACP-EEC Council of Ministers agreeing to Belize's application to accede to the second Lomé Convention.⁵

Pending the entry into force of this decision once it has been approved by the ACP countries, the Council adopted a Decision enabling Belize to continue benefiting from the treatment accorded to it under the arrangements for the association of the OCT with the Community.¹

2.2.57. Also, on 9 December, the Commission sent the Council a proposal for a Decision to enable Antigua and Barbuda, which presented its application for accession in November,² to benefit from the same treatment.³

Export earnings

Stabex

2.2.58. On 18 December the Commission approved an advance payment of 400 000 ECU to the Solomon Islands against loss of earnings on copra exports for 1981.

European Development Fund

2.2.59. In December the Commission took decisions involving the allocation of fifth EDF resources totalling 25 818 000 ECU, in respect of projects and programmes and emergency aid administered by the Commission, to finance operations in the following sectors:

	(ECU)
Rural production	19 130 000
Stock-farming	3 400 000
Training	215 000
Emergency aid	1 500 000
Trade promotion	795 000

Latin America

Community-Latin America Dialogue

2.2.60. The second meeting⁴ to be held as part of the resumed dialogue between the Community and GRULA⁵ took place in Brussels on 9 December; preparatory work had been done at two meetings between the Commission and GRULA on 28 September and 23 October.

The discussions concerned the trend of trade between the Community and Latin America, including the external effects of the common agricultural policy and the GSP, and also development cooperation, particularly with regard to energy and basic training for development.

Central America

2.2.61. On 4 December the Commission sent the Council a communication concerning guidelines for the strengthening of Community activity in Central America.

Political cooperation

2.2.62. The situation in Poland was a cause of great concern to the Community institutions in December.⁶

The Foreign Ministers of the Ten published a statement on Poland following a political cooperation meeting held in London on 14 and 15 December.

2.2.63. The Ministers also issued the following statement concerning the Golan Heights:

'The Foreign Ministers of the Member States of the European Community strongly deplore the decision of the Government and Knesset of Israel to extend Israeli law, jurisdiction and administration to occupied Syrian territory in the Golan Heights. Such an extension, which is tantamount to annexation, is contrary to international law, and therefore invalid in our eyes. This step prejudices the possibility of the implementation of Security Council Resolution 242 and is bound to complicate further the search for a comprehensive peace settlement in the Middle East to which we remain committed.’

covered by political cooperation, namely Poland,¹ Afghanistan and the situation in southern Africa.

3. Institutional and political matters

Institutional developments and European policy

Parliament addressed by the President of the European Council

2.3.1. The speech to Parliament by the President of the Council, Mrs Thatcher, Prime Minister of the United Kingdom, was the first of its kind and an event of great institutional significance.¹ As Mrs Thatcher emphasized, it was a solemn recognition of Parliament’s role by the European Council and the first formal link between the two Community bodies that deal both with matters covered by the Community Treaties and with political cooperation. Mrs Thatcher’s symbolic gesture also had the effect of further integrating the European Council into the Community’s institutional framework.

Mrs Thatcher said the occasion was ‘a pleasure and a privilege’. She continued: ‘It marks an important point in the development of the European Community... The fact that we meet today recognizes among other things that the European Council has become an important part of the European scene. It gives Heads of Government the opportunity to discuss matters where Community business and political considerations overlap. We need this opportunity for a general exchange of views, as well as for the resolution of the Community’s most important problems...’.

Conciliation procedure

2.3.2. On 16 December the Commission proposed that Parliament and the Council should join it in a declaration on the improvement and extension of the conciliation procedure between the three institutions.² In accordance with Parliament’s wishes, this draft declaration would extend the conciliation procedure to all important Community acts; furthermore, the procedure could be initiated by any of the three institutions.

2.3.3. Parliament passed three resolutions on institutional matters³—one on the creation of new committees, another on the action to be taken on the resolution of 7 July 1981 on the seat of the institutions and Parliament’s places of work, and a third on relations between Parliament and the European Council.

matters: the 1982 general budget, the second supplementary and amending budget for 1981 and the 1982 ECSC operating budget. The House also gave a good deal of attention to the situation in Poland. The visit by Mrs Thatcher, President of the European Council, was also a signal event in institutional relations:¹ it was the first time that the President had appeared before Parliament to report on the European Council's last meeting. The outgoing Council President also made the now customary statement on the United Kingdom's six months in the chair.

Second reading of the 1982 general budget

2.3.5. The draft 1982 general budget was given its second reading and the draft second supplementary and amending budget for 1981 was also examined. Both budgets were adopted on 17 December after a debate which was mainly concerned with the classification of expenditure as compulsory or non-compulsory, which determines Parliament's margin of manoeuvre for increasing appropriations.

The budget rapporteur, Mr Spinelli (Com/I), straight away reminded the House that compulsory expenditure was only that considered such under the Treaty. With this narrow interpretation Parliament treated expenditure in areas such as fisheries, the EAGGF Guidance Section, EMS interest subsidies, the measures in favour of the United Kingdom, food aid and the Chapter 100 reserve as non-compulsory and thereby arrived at a margin of some 350 million ECU. The Council, on the basis of its own classification, considered that following the conciliation meeting on 24 November Parliament's margin was exhausted; any further increase would therefore require a new Council decision on the maximum rate.

During the debate the Council President took issue with Parliament's argument that the reserve appropriations (Chapter 100) should be regarded as non-compulsory. He contended that the place where the appropriations were entered in the budget in no way affected their nature. The Council maintained that Parliament's margin was not 374 million ECU in commitment appropriations and 448 million ECU in payment appropriations, but 49 million and 123 million respectively. In reply to Mr Spinelli, the Council President reminded the House that during the first half of 1982 the Council and the other institutions would together review the question of the classification of expenditure.

While Parliament's Committee on Budgets stood by its proposal, the European Democrats, the EPD Group and the Liberal Group moved fairly quickly towards compromise formulas.

Though taking a firm line, Mrs Scrivener (Lib/F) believed that the House should not as a matter of course seek a trial of strength with the Council, while Mr Balfour (ED/UK) felt there ought to be a compromise on the amounts.

At the other extreme, Mr Gouthier (Com/I) claimed that the issue was not about amounts but about budgetary power. On this point the Chairman of the Committee on Budgets, Mr Lange (Soc/D), pointed out that the Council was tending to decide alone. Mr Arndt (Soc/D) added that the Council had not yet come up with any reasonable proposals on the classification of expenditure.

Speaking about the amount of the expenditure, Mr Notenboom (EPP/NL) criticized the absence of any increase in the size of the budget, while Mrs Martin (Lib/F) contended that the cuts made by the Council were unwarranted when only a genuine regional policy could help to tackle unemployment; Mr Michel (EPP/B) invoked the responsibility of the Council with respect to the moral commitments of the whole Community in the matter of food aid and emergency aid. In more scathing terms Mr Arndt (Soc/D) condemned the Council's hypocrisy in accepting some of Parliament's policy guidelines and then refusing the necessary appropriations.

Speaking of the transfer of appropriations from the general budget to the ECSC budget for the social measures involved in restructuring the steel industry, Mr Baillot (Com/F) contended that this was tantamount to charging the taxpayer instead of the steel companies.

Parliament's final amendments to the draft budget added 224 million ECU in payment appropriations and 252 million ECU in commitment appropriations. On 17 December the House passed a resolution, in which, after restating its position on the classification of expenditure and the need to include borrowing and lending operations in the budget and having affirmed its willingness to enter into negotiations with the Council on these two issues, it 'noted that ... the total amount of non-compulsory expenditure in the budget is still within Parliament's margin of manoeuvre and that the procedure laid down for the adoption of the budget has therefore been completed'.

Arguing to the contrary that the margin had been exceeded by Parliament, the President of the Council, in a statement considered 'arbitrary' by Mr Spinelli, asserted that the procedure had not been completed.

At a meeting on 21 December the Council decided to send a letter to the President of Parliament requesting her to defer adoption of the budget. On the same day the President declared the general budget for 1982 finally adopted.¹

ECSC operating budget

2.3.6. Pointing to the gulf between the industries' financial needs and the ECSC's existing own resources, the rapporteur of the Committee on Budgets, Mr Nord (Lib/NL), proposed that borrowing and lending operations be entered in the budget, that customs duties on ECSC products be paid to the Community and that social measures be financed by a transfer from the general budget.

A notable feature of the debate was the speech by Mr Percheron (Soc/F), who called for more joint research, a boost for coal production—even if it was unprofitable in the short term—and priority for safety measures to protect miners.

Situation in Poland

2.3.7. The debate on the situation in Poland resulted in a resolution,² passed by a massive majority, on behalf of the Socialists, the EPP Group, the European Democrats and the EPD Group and supported, with some reservations, by the Italian Communists. The French Communists abstained.

Mr Habsburg (EPPD) blamed the weakness of the West for the situation in Poland and for the situation of Afghanistan. A totalitarian power would back down if it was confronted with a firm attitude, but our powerlessness to defend our freedoms paved the way for the bloodthirsty might of the USSR. Pressure must therefore be put on the Soviet authorities. For the Italian Communists and Allies, Mr Fanti repeated Mr Berlinguer's outright condemnation of the coup d'état in Poland. In the desire to give the broadest possible base to the expression of the House's indignation, the Italian Communists decided to withdraw their resolution and support the joint resolution, although they had some reservations on a few points, particularly as regards the conditions imposed on the distribution of aid. After concentration camps for Jews we now had concentration camps for trade unionists, declared Mr Pannella (Ind/I). This was not simply a problem internal to Poland, it was also a European problem, for, in signing the Helsinki agreements, we had made commitments to human rights. Mr Martin announced that the French Communists would not vote on the resolution. Though they understood and shared the feelings of those who sincerely supported freedom, peace and socialism and were against the suppression of basic freedoms in Poland, the French Communists would not be party to anything which might increase the risk of civil war and foreign intervention, which they did not want. Mr Poniatowski (Lib/F) saw the latest developments as an attempt to establish a national dictatorship in order to avoid a foreign one. Poland's misfortune was to be a Western country, a bastion of the ideas of justice and freedom which underlay our common civilization. We had to use all the means of pressure at our command—economic, financial and technological—to help Poland, for its freedoms were those of all Europe.

Lastly, Mr Narjes, speaking for the Commission, declared that he fully shared the feeling of revulsion in the House and that he supported the attitude of the Foreign Ministers in London.¹ He emphasized that all the States party to the Helsinki Act should abide by the principle of the Act which covers the respect of human rights. He restated the conditions for Community food aid to Poland and explained that the Polish authorities had undertaken to use the aid inside Poland and to furnish a list of the recipients and details of the distribution. Arrangements for further food aid planned for 1982 would depend on how the situation developed.

First ever visit by the President of the European Council

2.3.8. Mrs Thatcher, the British Prime Minister, became the first ever President of the European Council to address the House. The spokesmen of the political groups all acknowledged the significance of the event. The President of the Commission, Mr Thorn, said that Mrs Thatcher's visit made good a political deficiency and was a contribution towards 'institutional peace' in the Community.

Mrs Thatcher reported on the results of the London European Council² and reviewed the main items of business: the May mandate, the economic and social situation, political cooperation, and Poland. Concerning the mandate, Mrs Thatcher stressed that some problems had been left unresolved.² The Foreign Ministers had therefore met on 14 and 15 December to try and reach agreement. They had not succeeded and had asked the President of the Commission to produce amended proposals on these particular points. The Foreign Ministers would be considering these proposals in January. While they welcomed this token gesture, the political groups were somewhat bitter about the outcome of the last European Council.

Mr Klepsch (EPPD) complained that the European Council had not moved an inch towards any solution of the basic problems. Sir James Scott-Hopkins (ED/UK) suggested that the European Council should concentrate more on determining broad policy lines. Mr Berlinguer (Com/I) saw the failure of this European Council as more serious than previous setbacks, with unemployment spreading—15 million would soon be on the dole of nothing was done—and international tension growing. Mr Bangemann (Lib/D) was scathingly critical. Of course, the Community must take a united stand against unemployment, but how could it if it was not given the means to do so?

On the major European issues, the European Council had shown no consensus; it had referred the problems back to the Foreign Ministers, who had failed to agree.

Report on the United Kingdom's term in the Council Presidency

2.3.9. 'A record of solid, if unspectacular achievement' was how Lord Carrington, President of the Council, described the six months in which the United Kingdom had held the chair of the Council. He enumerated the positive features of the British Presidency, pointing out first that it had worked under the heavy burden of having to make progress on the May mandate. Though the Council meeting of Foreign Ministers on 13 and 14 December had not been, strictly speaking, conclusive, he had asked the President of the Commission to produce a new set of guidelines so that the issues still dividing the Member States³ could be finally resolved.

The Community had given a sound performance on the world scene, notably as regards development aid, by putting up a common stance in international negotiations (MFA, export credits, etc.). In adopting the London report on political cooperation on 13 October,⁴ the Council had made a decisive advance in strengthening political cooperation between the Ten. The British Presidency had sustained the efforts by its predecessors to help secure world peace and to solve international crises. Last but not least, events in Poland had been a focus of particular concern.

President Thorn, however, confessed he was disappointed for, while there were good points, progress was slow and there was still a long way to go. On behalf of the Commission he accepted the task of presenting new proposals in mid-January in a bid to settle the four remaining points of discord. He likened the Commission's work on the May mandate to a three-stage rocket; the report presented in June was the first stage and the various communications in November the second. There remained a third stage of operational proposals, for which the Commission was waiting for the go-ahead from the Council.

For Mrs Castle (Soc/UK) the last meeting of Ministers had not produced any more than the London European Council. The Council would have demonstrated its will to revitalize the Community if it had offered the possibility of meeting the present challenge of unemployment. Mr van der Gun (EPP/NL), in turn, found that there was no shortage of good intentions but could see little achievement. If nothing was done on a Community scale to counter unemployment, the Member States would be tempted to tackle the problem by themselves, by resorting, for example, to protectionism. Mr Israel (EPD/F) devoted his remarks to political cooperation. He gave Lord Carrington good marks on a number of items: technical improvements to political cooperation, a commendable effort which deserved a better fate where Afghanistan was concerned, and, in the Middle East, insistence that all parties concerned must recognize Israel. He spoke less highly when it came to human rights. Diplomacy must go with caution but caution must never prevail over lucidity. Mr Radoux (Soc/B) felt that the situation was unacceptable now that the European Council's role had been distorted: instead of just providing the impetus, it was having to take the decisions. If it was now operating within the Community integration process, it was only logical that the European Council should be subject to the Community rules: annual report, consultation procedures, Parliament's opinions, etc.

Speaking again, Lord Carrington rejected the idea that political cooperation could serve as a substitute for the Community's European economic integration. He also recognized that in veering from its initial objective, the European Council was in danger of behaving as a court of appeal on matters concerned with Community management.

2.3.10. The House approved the following Commission proposals:

- a Directive concerning the exercise of the right of appeal in respect of customs matters;¹
- a number of Regulations concerning tariff quotas for frozen beef and veal;²
- a Regulation concerning quality standards for flowering bulbs, corms and tubers;³
- a Directive amending the Directive on taxes other than turnover taxes which affect the consumption of manufactured tobacco;⁴
- a communication on social aspects in the Community sea-fishing sector;⁵
- a Directive amending the Directive on the establishment of common rules for certain types of combined road/rail carriage of goods between Member States;⁶
- a Decision adopting a research and development programme (1982-85) in the raw materials sector;⁷
- the general guidelines for the 1982 programme of financial and technical cooperation with the non-associated developing countries and on Community financial and technical aid to non-associated developing countries;⁸

- a Regulation concerning exceptional food aid for the least-developed countries.¹

2.3.11. The House passed resolutions concerning:

- the Commission's Tenth Report on Competition Policy:² Parliament considered that competition policy must be interpreted in terms of competition with non-member countries and should be treated as interrelated with other Community policies (industrial, regional, etc.);
- price subsidies for gas supplied to Dutch horticulturists: the House urged the Commission to institute proceedings immediately in the Court of Justice to end this gross distortion of the market in horticultural products;
- energy prices in the horticultural sector: Parliament once again deplored the delay in removing energy subsidies to Dutch horticultural producers, which are wholly contrary to the EEC Treaty and the principles of fair competition;
- the Community's anti-dumping activities: during the present economic crisis, when firms in Community countries were filing more and more dumping complaints with the Commission, the House suggested a number of changes in the Commission's Anti-Dumping Department (increase in staff and a quicker investigation of complaints);⁴
- the outcome of proceedings of the ACP-EEC Consultative Assembly in 1981;³
- prospects for the North-South Dialogue after the Cancún Conference: the House endorsed the principle of 'global negotiations', which form the cornerstone of the North-South Dialogue; it held that the Community must act so as to see that negotiations open early in 1982 and that it must also propose the setting-up of a financial institution to deal with the energy problems of the developing countries;
- relations between Parliament and the European Council: the House urged that the European Council seek its opinion, abide by the procedures for consultation and conciliation and take part once a year in a general debate in Parliament on progress towards European integration and the role of the Community in international politics;

- emergency aid for parts of Denmark and northern Germany affected by the storm on 25 November 1981: Parliament requested the Commission to grant aid without delay to the inhabitants whose homes and livelihood had been struck by this disaster;
- special aid for the people on the western coast of Jutland and northern Germany affected by the storm of 25 November 1981: the House urged the Commission to make funds available immediately to the agricultural, fishing and other industries affected—in the form of low-interest loans, for example—as a contribution towards the financing of repairs and ensuring future production;
- emergency aid for areas afflicted by the widespread storm and flood damage in Denmark caused by the storm of 25 November 1981: Parliament asked the Commission to act as speedily as possible to help those people whose homes and property had been destroyed;
- Parliament's committees: the House decided that it would not form any further new full committees before the end of 1982; any additional committees would make it even harder to organize Parliament's work and proceedings;
- action to be taken on the resolution of 7 July 1981 on the seat of the institutions and Parliament's places of work:⁴ the House confirmed the content of its resolution of 7 July and instructed the enlarged Bureau and the relevant committees to continue their consideration of the solutions to be adopted for its implementation;
- the Court of Auditors' reports on the financial and budgetary activities of the ECSC in 1978 and 1979: Parliament gave a discharge to the Commission for ECSC financial activities in 1978 and 1979. It took this opportunity to call for stronger parliamentary control over ECSC activities.

Commission

Activities

2.3.14. In December the Commission held four meetings, each spread over several sittings.

Decisions, communications and proposals

2.3.15. The Commission adopted communications on the conciliation procedure,¹ the Third United Nations Conference on the Law of the Sea and the Community's participation in the future convention,² and the new Community action programme on the promotion of equal opportunities for women (1982-85).³

It also adopted a proposal for a Council Decision authorizing it to contract loans to promote investment in the Community by ensuring the continuance of the NCI,⁴ a proposal for a Regulation on origin marking of textile products,⁵ a proposal to amend the proposed merger-control Regulation⁶ and a proposal for a Directive on voluntary part-time working together with a draft recommendation on the principles of a Community policy with regard to retirement age.⁷ And it agreed to give emergency aid to Denmark following exceptional storm damage on the west coast of Jutland.

Discussions, policy debates and work in hand

2.3.16. The Commission discussed the European Council in London,⁸ noted the desire for progress which had been apparent there and identified the areas in which results could be achieved, especially the re-launching of Community policies. It also made preparations for the special meeting of Foreign Ministers⁹ to be held in London on 14 and 15 December and subsequently noted the constructive spirit in which this meeting had been conducted. Then there was the customary meeting with the incoming President of the Council, who was to hold office for the first half of 1982. This provided an opportunity for the Commission to set out its policy priorities for the forthcoming months: a new impetus for the Community through completion of the work on the mandate, greater political dynamism arising from the German-Italian proposal for a European Act and the strengthening and improvement of interinstitutional relations, especially with Parliament. The Members of the Commission also drew attention to what they considered to be the most important matters in their areas of responsibility.

Relations with workers' and employers' organizations

2.3.17. Mr Thorn and four other Members of the Commission received a delegation from the Union of Industries of the European Community. Their discussions centred on the results of the European Council in London and the Community's industrial problems.

Mr Contogeorgis, the Member with special responsibility for transport, held a briefing meeting with representatives of the Trade Union Committee on Transport to discuss the development of the common transport policy. Employers' representatives were briefed on the way social security costs are shared.

The Commission arranged two consultation meetings. At one, Mr Pisani, the Member with special responsibility for development, met representatives of workers' and employers' organizations affected by the Lomé Convention, and at the other the Commission discussed a document on a Community strategy for industry in Europe with experts from the European Metalworkers' Federation.

A preliminary consultation meeting was held with representatives of the European Trade Union Confederation to discuss the proposed Directive on procedures for informing and consulting the employees of undertakings with complex structures, in particular transnational undertakings; the development of collective bargaining in Europe and the Community's industrial policy.

2.3.19. Judgments

Date and case	Held
Institutional matters 16.12.1981, 244/80 — Foglia v Novello ¹	Under Article 177 of the EEC Treaty, a national court may seek preliminary rulings intended to enable it to determine whether provisions laid down by law or regulation in another Member State are in conformity with Community law. In that event, although the national court has jurisdiction to determine the circumstances of fact and of law which characterize the cases before it, it is nevertheless for the Court of Justice to consider, in order to ascertain whether it has jurisdiction within the meaning of Article 177 of the EEC Treaty, the conditions under which cases are referred to it by the national court.

Free movement of goods
16.12.1981, 272/80 — Openbaar Ministerie v Frans-Nederlandse Maatschappij voor Biologische Producten BV	The combined effect of Articles 30 and 36 of the EEC Treaty is that the authorities of an importing State are not entitled to require unnecessary technical or chemical analyses or laboratory tests when the same analyses and tests have already been carried out in another Member State and the results thereof are at the disposal of those authorities.
3.12.1981, 1/81 — Pfizer Inc. v Eurim-Pharm GmbH ²	Article 36 of the Treaty must be interpreted to the effect that the proprietor of a trade mark right may not rely on that right to prevent an importer from marketing a pharmaceutical product manufactured in another Member State by the subsidiary of the proprietor and bearing the latter's trade mark with his consent, where the importer, in re-packaging the product, confined himself to replacing the external wrapping without touching the internal packaging.
Freedom to provide services
17.12.1981, 279/80 — Criminal proceedings against A.J. Webb	Article 59 does not prevent a Member State in which there is compulsory licensing of undertakings providing temporary personnel to others from requiring a person supplying such services who is established in another Member State to hold a licence although he is already licensed in the State in which he is established. However, when considering applications for licences, the Member State where the services are to be provided must make no distinction on grounds of the applicant's nationality or place of establishment and it must have regard to the requirements already met and the assurances already given by the applicant in the Member State in which he is established.
Infringements
9.12.1981, 193/80 — Commission v Italy ²	Italy failed to fulfil its obligation under the EEC Treaty by prohibiting the marketing and importation of vinegars of agricultural origin other than those originating in the acetic fermentation of wine and by reserving the description of 'vinegar' to wine vinegar.
17.12.1981, 30 to 34/81 — Commission v Italy ³	Italy failed to fulfil its obligation under the Treaty by not adopting within the specified periods the measures necessary for compliance with a number of Directives (waste oils; drinking water; waste; bathing water; PCB and PCT).

Date and case	Held
Social security for migrant workers 18.12.1981, 22/81 — Browning (Insurance Officer) v R. Stanley	Article 50 of Council Regulation No 1408/71 is to be interpreted as meaning that a 'minimum benefit' exists only where the legislation of the State of residence includes a specific guarantee, the object of which is to ensure for recipients of social security benefits a minimum income which is in excess of the amount of benefit which they may claim solely on the basis of their periods of insurance and their contributions.
Agriculture 17.12.1981, 197 to 200, 243, 245 and 247/80 — Ludwigshafener Walzmühle Erling KG and Others v Council and Commission	The actions (for compensation under the second paragraph of Article 215 of the EEC Treaty — fixing of prices in the cereals sector, durum wheat) were dismissed.

Fisheries 8.12.1981, 180/80 and 266/80 — Crujeiras Tomé v Procureur de la République; Procureur de la République v Yurrita	The provisions of Council Regulation (EEC) No 1744/78 and Council Regulation (EEC) No 1719/80 laying down certain interim measures for the conservation and management of fishery resources applicable to vessels flying the flag of Spain are enforceable against Spanish nationals.
8.12.1981, 181/80 — Procureur Général près la Cour d'Appel de Pau and Others v. J. Arbelaiz-Emazabel²	The provisions of Council Regulation (EEC) No 2160/77 laying down certain interim measures for the conservation and management of fishery resources applicable to vessels flying the flag of Spain are enforceable against Spanish nationals.
16.12.1981, 269/80 — Regina v Robert Tymen¹	1. After the expiry of the period referred to in Article 102 of the Act of Accession, a Member State does not have the power to adopt and bring into force, without appropriate prior consultation with the Commission and notwithstanding objections, reservations or conditions formulated by the Commission, a fishery conservation measure of the kind which forms the subject matter of the Fishing Nets (North-East Atlantic) (Variation) Order 1979. 2. Where criminal proceedings are brought by virtue of a national measure which is held to be contrary to Community law, a conviction in those proceedings is also incompatible with that law.

Economic and Social Committee

2.3.20. The Economic and Social Committee held its 193rd plenary session in Brussels on 15 and 16 December; there were relatively few items on the agenda.

Opinions

Fifth medium-term economic policy programme

2.3.21. The Committee was unable to adopt an opinion on the Commission's draft fifth medium-term economic policy programme¹ as a result of failure by the section for economic and financial questions, the workers' group and the employers' group to reach agreement.

Registration of DNA work

ing the registration of recombinant DNA (deoxyribonucleic acid) work,¹ drawn up in the light of the findings of the colloquium held in May. The text contains a number of new suggestions and calls on the Council to adopt a directive as this would be more binding than a recommendation.

2.3.23. Using the procedure without debate, the Committee also approved Commission proposals on the following:

- (i) information provided by the customs authorities of the Member States concerning the classification of goods in the customs nomenclature;²
- (ii) sixth annual report (1980) of the European Regional Development Fund;³
- (iii) exchange of information on air pollution;⁴
- (iv) special aid for raw tobacco;⁵
- (v) health problems affecting intra-Community trade in fresh meat;⁶
- (vi) health and veterinary inspection problems affecting the importation of bovine animals and swine and fresh meat from non-member countries;⁷
- (vii) brucellosis guarantees in respect of trade in certain bovine animals;⁸
- (viii) research and development programme (1982-85) in the raw materials sector;⁹
- (ix) sectoral research and development programme in the field of medical and public health research.¹⁰

ECSC Consultative Committee

2.3.24. The ECSC Consultative Committee held its 223rd ordinary meeting in Luxembourg on 19 December with Mr Coosemans in the chair. Items on the agenda included the ECSC budget, the forward programme for steel for the first quarter of 1982 and steel price policy objectives. It also adopted a resolution on aid for coal and steel research.

ECSC operating budget

2.3.25. The Commission representative outlined the content of the ECSC budget for 1982 and explained that the social problems affecting the coal and steel industries had led the Commission to concentrate on job creation at the expense of research.

A number of speakers regretted the cutback in funds for research, which they saw as being of prime importance if the competitiveness of Community industry were not to suffer. The Commission representative assured members that the economy measures were only temporary and that the Commission would do its best to compensate as soon as possible. He implied that the general energy policy could provide at least partial consolation for coal producers and consumers.

Forward programme for steel

2.3.26. The Committee endorsed the forward programme for steel on condition that the wire rod problem was dealt with promptly. Several members felt that wire rod should not be dealt with separately but should be looked at along with other products such as concrete reinforcing bars and merchant bars.

On the question of imports the Committee felt that Japan was a closed market and America was moving towards protectionism, and yet the Europeans were being too conciliatory; the Commission should adopt tougher tactics in the current discussions. The Commission representative pointed out that a price recovery could mean an upsurge in imports; hence the Commission's intention to convene a meeting of those responsible for steel policy and customs policy in an attempt to work out a stricter and speedier monitoring system for both prices and quantity.

2.3.27. After its ordinary meeting the Consultative Committee held its inaugural meeting for 1981/82; Mr André Robert (steel producers, Luxembourg) was unanimously elected chairman. Mr Robert, who is 55, has worked as legal adviser, Deputy Director of the Luxembourg iron and steel federation. He has been a member of the ECSC Consultative Committee and Bureau since July 1976; he is also a member of the European Social Fund Committee and President of the Benelux Economic and Social Consultative Council.

In a brief address to the Committee Mr Robert alluded to the problems facing the ECSC industries which the Committee would have to tackle. On the coal front the Community must continue its efforts to implement a coal policy within the wider framework of a common energy policy, involving the development—long overdue—of nuclear energy, combined with a genuine return to coal. This would mean investment programmes to help the coal industry reach production targets.

By contrast, priority on the steel front would have to be given to rationalization and cutting back capacity, combined with the continuation for the time being of current measures for the organization of the market, in respect both of quantity and of prices. With this in mind the Committee would liaise with the Commission on the quarterly production programmes and on pricing policy and, at a structural level, on the definition of new general objectives and the need to pursue the restructuring programme. On the social front the Committee would continue to focus its attention on employment, vocational training, the building of subsidized housing and the provision of aid to encourage early retirement and compensate for lack of earnings in the event of short-time working.

The two previous Committee Chairmen, Mr Coosemans (steel consumers, Belgium) and Mr Judith (steel workers, Germany), were unanimously elected Vice-Chairmen.

European Investment Bank

Operations in December

2.3.28. In December the European Investment Bank announced loans totalling 1 100.3 million ECU,¹ of which 284.2 million ECU came from the new Community borrowing and lending instrument (NCI-Ortoli facility).² The breakdown was as follows: 855 million ECU for investments in Italy, 116.3 million ECU in the United Kingdom, 99.9 million ECU in Denmark, 16.8 million ECU in France and 12.3 million ECU in Belgium. Outside the Community the Bank lent 145 million ECU to Mediterranean countries with financial cooperation arrangements with the EEC and 109.2 million ECU to the ACP States under the second Lomé Convention.

LIT 849 500 million was lent, of which LIT 549 700 million carries a 3% interest subsidy pursuant to the arrangements adopted when Italy joined the European Monetary System³ or to the Council decision to grant special aid for reconstruction in the southern areas hit by the earthquakes in November 1980.

LIT 223 200 million was granted for energy investment by ENEL—Ente Nazionale per l'Energia Elettrica (LIT 135 200 million)—and by ENI—Ente Nazionale Idrocarburi (LIT 88 000 million). ENEL received LIT 50 200 million for construction of the nuclear power station at Montalto di Castro, Latium, LIT 40 000 million for laying over 1 000 km of high-tension lines to improve grid interconnections between central and southern Italy, LIT 30 000 million for construction of a pumped storage hydroelectric power station at Presenzano, Campania, and LIT 15 000 million for conversion of the Brindisi, Apulia, power station from oil to coal-firing. ENI received LIT 50 000 million for laying the 285-km Calabria-Campania stretch of the Algeria-Italy gasline, LIT 33 000 million for development of the Cavone oilfield near Modena, Emilia-Romagna, and LIT 5 000 million for development of the Emma natural gasfield off the Abruzzi coast.

Telecommunications and transport infrastructures were also financed for a total of LIT 214 500 million. Of the LIT 190 000 million granted to SIP—Società Italiana per l'Esercizio Telefonico—LIT 130 000 million was in two loans for extension of the telephone system in Abruzzi, Molise and lower Latium, where some 140 000 new subscribers will be connected, LIT 50 000 million, drawn from NCI funds, was for extensions to the telephone system in Sardinia, where 42 000 new subscribers will be connected, and LIT 10 000 million for repairs to the system in the earthquake-hit areas of Campania and Basilicata. A loan of LIT 24 500 million was also made for road improvements in Latium (the State highway between Aprilia and Latina and a bypass around Terracina).

In industry, loans totalling LIT 119 800 million were granted, including LIT 100 000 million for financing small and medium-scale industrial ventures in the Mezzogiorno, in the form of two global loans of LIT 75 000 million to ISVEIMER—Istituto per lo Sviluppo dell'Italia Meridionale—and LIT 25 000 million to IRFIS—Istituto Regionale per il Finanziamento alle Industrie in Sicilia. LIT 14 000 million went to investments aimed at cutting energy consumption and for switching from oil to coal-fired burners at cement works. LIT 5 800 million was lent for restructuring a food products factory at Latina, Latium.

LIT 27 000 million was lent to the Cassa per il Mezzogiorno for water supply and irrigation: LIT 22 000 million for irrigation of 28 000 hectares in Sardinia and improved water supplies to the Cagliari area and LIT 5 000 million to improve drinking water supplies in Abruzzi and Marches.

LIT 265 000 million was lent to the central government, from NCI funds, to help finance urgent reconstruction projects in the earthquake areas: LIT 195 000 million for basic infrastructure (road construction, earthmoving, water, sewerage and electricity networks and public lighting) as preparation for over 28 000 homes in 175 municipalities in Campania and Basilicata and LIT 70 000 million to finance rebuilding of 1 200 damaged schools.

United Kingdom

2.3.30. Loans totalled UKL 88.6 million. UKL 35 million went to the British Telecommunications Corporation for digital telephone exchanges, together with associated digital transmission equipment, the first stage in installing a fully electronic telecommunications system in the country. UKL 33.6 million was lent to the National Water Council to help finance water supply and sewerage schemes on Merseyside, in Greater Manchester and the surrounding areas, and in Kendal in the Lake District, and to assist other water supply and sewerage projects in Northamptonshire and on Humberside. UKL 20 million from NCI funds were granted to the National Water Council towards work on the Kielder dam, part of a scheme for regulating the flow of the rivers Tyne, Wear and Tees to increase available water supplies.

Denmark

2.3.31. Loans totalled DKR 780 million. DKR 600 million was for a 230-km gasline linking North Sea oil and gas fields with Jutland. DKR 115 million was for the first 93-km stretch of gasline linking this outlet with the European grid at the German frontier. A global loan of DKR 50 million was granted to the Danish Regional Development Board (Egnsudviklingsraadet) for financing small and medium-scale industrial ventures. DKR 15 million was lent towards financing construction of a sewage treatment works and extending and improving the sewerage system at Kalundborg in western Zealand.

France

2.3.32. FF 100 million went to CAECL—the Caisse d'Aide à l'Équipement des Collectivités Locales—to help finance small and medium-scale infrastructure schemes (road-works, harbour works, rural gas supply and electrification) in regions with development or conversion problems.

Belgium

2.3.33. BFR 500 million went to the Société Nationale de Crédit à l'Industrie/Nationale Maatschappij voor Krediet aan de Nijverheid, for small and medium-scale industrial investments in the less-favoured regions of the country.

Outside the Community

Mediterranean countries

2.3.34. Portugal. Launching pre-accession aid and using up all the sum provided by the 1978 Protocol, whose implementation was brought forward two years, the Bank granted 61 million ECU: 31 million for improving the 182-km Lisbon-Algarve highway and 30 million as a global loan to the Banco de Fomento Nacional for small and medium-scale industrial ventures.

Spain. To start EIB investment financing operations in the run-up to Spain's accession to the Community, the Bank lent 40 million ECU—20 million to the Banco de Crédito Industrial as a global loan for small and medium-scale industrial investments in the less-developed regions and 20 million for plant in 36 cement works—to promote the use of coal in place of oil, with the aim of reducing Spain's oil imports.

Israel. 15 million ECU was granted as a global loan to the Industrial Development Bank and will help to finance small and medium-scale industrial investments, either to create new jobs or to save energy.

Tunisia. Two loans were granted—8 million ECU to improve conditions for cattle and sheep farming and to raise productivity on date-palm plantations (drainage, irrigation and equipment) and 4 million ECU to finance installations at a poultry-breeding station and to build glasshouses in the east of the country to grow early fruit and vegetables for the domestic market.

Algeria. 10 million ECU was loaned to improve the road link between Constantine and the seaport of Jijel (133 km).

Lebanon. 7 million ECU will help to finance two new 125-km generator units for the thermal power station at Zouk, near Beirut.

In accordance with the relevant protocols and agreements, most of these loans carry an interest subsidy borne by the Community budget.

ACP States

2.3.35. Papua New Guinea. The EIB lent 52 million ECU to help finance mining of a gold-bearing copper ore deposit in the west of the country. Reserves are estimated at some 400 million tonnes of ore with varying gold and copper contents. Of the total sum of the loan, 40 million ECU came from additional support from the Bank under Article 59 and Annex XXXI to the second Lomé Convention for loans from the Bank's own resources to mining or energy projects of common interest to the Community and the ACP State concerned. The other 12 million ECU was financed from risk capital provided for under the Convention and managed by the Bank.

Zambia. 25 million ECU went towards financing the recovery of copper from tailings at Chingola in the Zambian copperbelt. It is hoped to process some 750 000 tonnes of tailings a year and produce an annual 30 000-45 000 tonnes of copper from mid-1984, which will sustain Zambia's export.

Fiji. 12 million ECU was granted to finance the third phase of a hydroelectric scheme (a dam and an 80-MW power station) on the island of Viti Levu. This project will satisfy all the island's electricity needs, hitherto met by oil-fired power stations.

Kenya. 6.5 million ECU was granted for converting a Mombasa cement works from oil to coal in order to reduce dependence on oil.

These three loans carry an interest subsidy borne by the European Development Fund.

2.3.36. From risk capital provided for by the Convention the Bank lent 7.5 million ECU to Tanzania for oil exploration off the island of Songo Songo in the Indian Ocean. From the same source 3 million ECU was lent to the Lesotho National Development Corporation for small and medium-scale industrial, agro-industrial, mining and tourism investment and for financing feasibility studies. Other loans were 3 million ECU to finance a 3.5-MW hydroelectric scheme on the island of Upolu in Samoa and 170 000 ECU to establish a development bank in the Comoros.

Budgets

General budget

Supplementary and amending budget No 2/1981

2.3.37. On 17 December Parliament gave a second reading to supplementary and amending budget No 2/1981 and made a number of changes to the draft given a second reading by the Council.¹ It reinstated an appropriation of 62 million ECU to finance social measures connected with the restructuring of the steel industry, an amendment which the Council accepted. Although Parliament again passed an amendment deleting the reference to a separate legal basis for the implementation of the 40 million ECU for special food aid to the least-developed countries, it adopted an opinion on the proposal from the Commission to the Council which will allow the action to be undertaken.²

Parliament rejected an amendment that would have added 10 million ECU in emergency aid to Poland to the budget but, since the aid was to be given in the form of food, accepted the Council proposal which involved taking the sum from the appropriations available under the EAGGF Guarantee Section.

This second supplementary and amending budget reduced total appropriations for commitments to 19 986 million ECU and total appropriations for payments to 18 434 million ECU. These changes mean that the VAT rate to be applied to own resources will be about 0.78%.

On 21 December the President of Parliament declared the budget adopted.³

Parliament's second reading of the 1982 draft budget

2.3.38. At its December part-session Parliament gave a second reading to the 1982 draft budget.⁴ In a series of amendments, it increased the appropriations entered at the Council's second reading⁵ by 253 691 286 ECU in total appropriations for commitments and by 225 880 686 ECU in total appropriations for payments. These increases are mainly in the Social Fund (68.76 million ECU in commitment appropriations and 52.32 million ECU in payment appropriations), the Regional Fund (18.55 million ECU in commitment appropriations and 46 million ECU in payment appropriations), social measures connected with the restructuring of the steel industry (50 million ECU) and food aid (31.4 million ECU). Parliament also reinstated its first-reading figures in the energy and transport sectors.⁶

Parliament calculated its margin for manoeuvre and scope for amendments on the basis that only expenditure which all three institutions regarded as compulsory should be so treated. In conclusion Parliament noted that its amendments did not exhaust its margin for manoeuvre and so the budget could be adopted.

The Council did not agree and on 21 December decided to send a letter to the President of Parliament requesting that the final adoption of the budget be postponed until an agreement based on an appropriate classification of expenditure could be reached on the new rates for total appropriations for commitments and payments.

On 21 December the President of Parliament declared that the budget for 1982 had been finally adopted. On this basis total appropriations for commitments are 23 260 133 140 ECU and total appropriations for payments are 21 984 441 540 ECU. The VAT rate for own resources is 0.9248%.

Tables 10 and 11 show the changes by sector made to the budget at the main stages of the procedure.

The difficulties which occurred during the final stage of the budget procedure arose from differences of opinion on the classification of expenditure as compulsory or non-compulsory. The three institutions concerned (the Council, Parliament and the Commission) agreed to apply the conciliation procedure to this problem, which they intend to resolve before the opening of the 1983 budget procedure.

ECSC budget

2.3.39. After taking note of the opinion delivered by Parliament on 15 December¹ and the reactions of the ECSC Consultative Committee at its 11 December meeting, the Commission decided on 21 December to maintain the levy rate for 1982 at 0.32%.²

With the addition of other ordinary resources (income from investment income and from loans granted against non-borrowed funds, commitments cancelled, etc.) and extraordinary resources of 50 million ECU (transfer from the general budget to the ECSC budget requiring a decision under Article 235 EEC) to finance social measures in connection with the restructuring of the steel industry, this Decision means that the ECSC's requirement of 268 million ECU for its operational budget will be met.

The breakdown of requirements is as follows:

	(million ECU)
• administrative expenditure	5
• readaptation aids	117
• social measures in connection with the restructuring of the steel industry	50
• research subsidies	43
• interest-relief grants on investment and conversion loans	47
• aid to coking coal	6

Following the resolution passed by Parliament on 15 December,¹ the Commission added a reserve to the 1982 operating budget. Because this proposal is still tentative, it has been presented separately; it shows the further requirements which could be financed if customs duties on ECSC products were allocated to the ECSC—a proposal to do this has been before the Council since May 1978.³ The reserve, which would be used to finance further research subsidies and interest-relief grants, is set at 25 million ECU, the estimated yield of customs duties for six months.

ECSC Financial Report

2.3.40. On 17 December the Commission approved the 26th ECSC Financial Report, for 1980.⁴ The report reviews the characteristics of the ECSC's borrowing operations and its loans for industrial investments, conversion and workers' housing. An introduction analyses the situation on the coal and steel markets.

Financial operations

ECSC

Loans raised

2.3.41. In December the Commission concluded a private placing in German marks (4.3 million ECU) and two bank loans in French francs (1.6 million ECU).

Loans paid out

2.3.42. Acting under Articles 54 and 56 of the ECSC Treaty, the Commission made loans in December amounting to 33.45 million ECU (industrial loans, subsidized housing and conversion loans).

Industrial loans

2.3.43. Industrial loans under Article 54 amounted to 4.29 million ECU. They were made to finance the following projects:

Federal Republic of Germany

Badische Stahlwerke AG, Kehl: partial financing of a water draining system and investments to improve the capacity and profitability of the wire rod works at Kehl; Steag AG, Essen: construction of a new chimney at the Walsum power station.

Subsidized housing

2.3.44. Loans for the building of subsidized housing totalled 2.22 million ECU, of which 830 000 ECU was for mineworkers and 1.39 million ECU for steelworkers.

Conversion loans

2.3.45. In December conversion loans (Article 56) totalling 26.94 million ECU were granted to the following firms:

United Kingdom

Tetra Pak Rawsing & Co. Ltd, Wales; Mikel Telecom Ltd, South Wales; Sony (UK) Ltd, South Wales; BICC, South Wales.

Global loans were also made to Barclays Bank Ltd, London; Welsh Development Agency, Wales; Scottish Development Agency Glasgow; and the Cooperative Bank Ltd, Manchester.

NCI

Loans raised

The first, for the equivalent of 33.9 million ECU, was for work on the Northumbrian Water Authority's Kielder project designed to regulate the flow of the rivers Tyne, Wear and Tees and increase water supplies.

Three loans totalling 250.8 million ECU were made to Italy for reconstruction work in areas damaged by the earthquakes of November 1980 and to improve telecommunications in Sardinia. The first two loans, each for ten years, were to the Italian Government to finance the infrastructure for 24 000 prefabricated houses and 4 850 mobile homes (LIT 195 000 million) and the reconstruction of schools (LIT 70 000 million). The third loan, for LIT 50 000 million, was granted to the Credito Industriale Sardo to finance the connection of 42 000 new telephone subscribers.

A loan of LIT 80 000 was made for the construction of 5 400 dwellings in connection with industrial development in the Mezzogiorno.

A loan of FF 168 million (28.25 million ECU) was made for work on the Poitiers-Bordeaux motorway.

Euratom

2.3.47. On 4 December the Commission sent the Council a proposal to amend the Decision of 29 March 1977,¹ as amended on 20 December 1979,² concerning the total amount which the Commission is authorized

Having noted that the total amount of loans exceeded 800 million ECU on 30 September 1981, the Commission proposed that the total amount authorized be increased by 1 000 million ECU to 2 000 million ECU.

Loans raised

2.3.48. In December the Commission concluded private placings in yen (21.2 million ECU), Belgian francs (24.6 million ECU) and ECU (42 million ECU). The last of these was the first Euratom loan to be denominated in ECU.

PART THREE DOCUMENTATION

1. ECU

Definition

The ECU is made up of the following amounts: BFR 3.66, LFR 0.14, HFL 0.286, DKR 0.217, DM 0.828, LIT 109, FF 1.15, UKL 0.0885, IRL 0.00759.

The Act of Accession of Greece to the Communities provides that the drachma is to be effectively included in the ECU before 31 December 1985 if the composition of the basket is changed before then pursuant to the procedures and under the conditions laid down in the Resolution of the European Council of 5 December 1978 on the European Monetary System.

In any event, the drachma will be included by 31 December 1985 at the latest.

Calculation and publication

3.1.2. The equivalent of the ECU in any currency is equal to the sum of the equivalents of the amounts making up the unit.

It is calculated each day on the basis of representative rates for each Community currency against the dollar, which is used simply as a common reference for expressing exchange rates. The exchange rates are established on each exchange market at 2.30 p.m. by the relevant central bank; on the basis of these rates, the Commission establishes an ECU equivalent in the Community currencies and in the other major currencies.

These equivalents are published each day in the Official Journal of the European Communities ('C' edition) and may also be obtained from the Commission by telex (automatic answering service); they are also reported by the main European press agencies and are published in many newspapers (see Table 1 below).

3. Infringement procedures

Initiation of proceedings for failure to implement Directives

3.3.1. In December the Commission sent letters of formal notice to Member States for failure to implement Directives in the following three cases:

Council Directive 78/1026/EEC of 18 December 1978 concerning the mutual recognition of diplomas, certificates and other evidence of formal qualifications in veterinary medicine, including measures to facilitate the effective exercise of the right of establishment and freedom to provide services¹ (Netherlands, Luxembourg, Italy, France);

Council Directive 78/1027/EEC of 18 December 1978 concerning the coordination of provisions laid down by law, regulation or administrative action in respect of the activities of veterinary surgeons¹ (Netherlands, Luxembourg, Italy, France);

Sixth Council Directive 77/388/EEC of 17 May 1977 on the harmonization of the laws of the Member States relating to turnover taxes — Common system of value-added tax: uniform basis of assessment² (Italy).

Reasoned opinions

3.3.2. In December the Commission delivered six reasoned opinions concerning five Member States in the following cases:

Council Directive 78/610/EEC of 29 June 1978 on the approximation of the laws, regulations and administrative provisions of the Member States on the protection of the health of workers exposed to vinyl chloride monomer³ (Netherlands, Luxembourg, Italy);

Council Directive 77/452/EEC of 27 June 1977 concerning the mutual recognition of diplomas, certificates and other evidence of the formal qualifications of nurses responsible for general care, including measures to facilitate the effective exercise of the right of establishment and freedom to provide services; and Council Directive 77/453/EEC of 27 June 1977 concerning the coordination of provisions laid down by law, regulation or administrative action in respect of the activities of nurses responsible for general care⁴ (Federal Republic of Germany);

Protection of milk products (France).

4. Eurobarometer

3.4.1. The latest Eurobarometer public opinion survey published by the Commission¹ covered October and November 1981.

This survey makes a new and important contribution to what the peoples of Europe know about each other and especially about their attitudes to the Community. For the first time, some of the questions asked in the Member States (including Greece since October 1980) were also asked in Spain and Portugal. This does not mean that these two countries now take part in the Eurobarometer survey, but it is a step in that direction.

This report on European public opinion contains four chapters:

The mood of Europeans

3.4.2. What do Europeans expect from next year? For most of those who commit themselves, the reply is quite clear: 1982 will be worse than 1981. Unemployment will increase, as will strikes and industrial disputes; there will be economic difficulties at home and trouble and international discord throughout the world.

Nevertheless, this pessimism—or rather this concern caused by events as reported in the press—is no greater this year than last. In fact overall there would appear to be slightly less worry about unemployment compared with a year earlier.

As would be expected, views about what the coming year has in store differ appreciably from country to country, and a comparison with the end-1980 results reveals no consistent pattern of change.

As last year, the countries which are most uneasy are Belgium and The Netherlands, while Greece is by far the least pessimistic, followed by France. These two countries have, of course, recently experienced major political changes. The fact that the survey was conducted in Greece at the same time as the election campaign probably goes a long way towards explaining the extremely optimistic expectations expressed.

During recent years a number of international events have revived fears of a third world war. This fear remained slight between 1971 and 1977 but increased sharply from autumn 1977 to spring 1980. Concern in autumn 1981 lay between the levels observed in the two previous surveys.

Respondents' satisfaction with the way democracy works in their own country is an interesting indicator. As previous surveys have shown, this feeling varies in intensity from one country to another: Denmark and The Netherlands are countries with a high degree of satisfaction, while Italians are the most dissatisfied.

Agreement or disagreement on some important problems

3.4.3. There appear to be two distinct divisions between the protagonists in the debates: the traditional division on the problems of the industrial society of yesterday and today (more equal distribution of income, more State intervention in the economy, etc.) and another, of more recent origin, on the new problems, in particular the development of nuclear energy—an issue which divides the traditional political groupings themselves.

The analysis of the correlation between a favourable attitude towards the Community and views on each of the main socio-political problems produces some particularly interesting findings. If the results for all the Member States are taken together, it is seen that those who are most favourably disposed to the Community are also likely to support increased environmental protection, more economic aid to the Third World and the development of nuclear energy and are more likely to oppose further nationalization of private industry.

Attitudes towards Europe and the Community

3.4.4. On average, 74% of those interviewed now say that they favour the movement towards European unification while only 13% oppose it. On the second question, 53% of respondents consider their own country's membership of the Community 'a good thing' and 14% 'a bad thing'.

While in all countries a majority of those interviewed supported the principle of European unification, those giving a definite answer in Denmark were almost equally divided between supporters and opponents of membership (31% against 29%) while opponents in the United Kingdom had a clear lead (41% against 27%). But in the United Kingdom too, there seem to be signs of a shift away from opposition and towards uncertainty (or indifference).

By means of a very detailed analysis of replies to a question proposing a number of possible advantages of Community membership, it has been possible to identify the main reasons underlying a positive attitude towards the Community. In most countries the leading opinion is that by acting together the Community members should be better able to cope with the world economic crisis.

Reactions in Spain and Portugal to the prospect of joining the Community

3.4.5. The public supports membership in both countries, but the degree of involvement is very different.

Public opinion in Spain has a very similar profile to that in the Member States. Although a large majority of Spaniards still feel only slightly concerned, the percentage of those who feel very concerned by Community matters is higher than in most of the Member States (30% of those interviewed as against only 9% in Belgium).

Furthermore, 36% of Spaniards said they 'strongly support' European unification as compared with an average of 31% in the Member States. Finally, 52% of Spaniards think that membership will be 'a good thing'; this is in line with the average in the Community at present.

In Portugal, while those in favour of membership far outnumber those against, there is a very large proportion of 'don't knows'. There are some possible explanations for this: a lower average level of education than elsewhere and less exposure to the information media, but the fact remains that the majority of Portuguese do not regard Community membership as a burning issue.

Classification of chemicals in the Customs Tariff of the European Communities

Twenty thousand chemical names (internationally accepted common names, systematic names and synonyms).

Six languages: Danish (Vol. I), German (Vol. II), English (Vol. III), French (Vol. IV), Italian (Vol. V) and Dutch (Vol. VI).

Index of equivalent names in all six languages (Vol. VII — six languages).

Features of this publication are:

- the classification (heading and subheading) of a chemical in the Customs Tariff of the European Communities can be ascertained immediately from its name in any one of the six languages;
- the equivalent names are listed in all six languages (multilingual glossary).

The chemical names listed may be used to gain access to the European Communities Data and Information Network (ECDIN).

Each volume (except Vol. VII) may be ordered separately.

De europæiske Fællesskabers publikationer

12 – 1981

Indledning

Dette katalog omfatter alle titler på tidsskrifter og monografier og serier, udgivet af Fællesskabets institutioner i den omhandlede periode.

Katalogisering

Kataloget er inddelt i tre dele, som følger:

I. del – Emnelisten katalogiserer titlerne under 20 emner (se nedenfor). Titlerne på monografier og serier er katalogiseret først, alfabetisk i blandet sprogorden; tidsskrifterne er dernæst katalogiseret på samme måde. Den fuldstændige titel for monografier og serier findes kun én gang. I andre tilfælde henviser følgenummeret i den venstre margin til den fuldstændige titel. Disse numre bør ikke anvendes til katalogisering. I emnelisten er titler på tidsskrifter kun optaget med krydshenvisning. Den fuldstændige titel findes i II. del.

II. del – Tidsskriftslisten giver detaljerede oplysninger om Fællesskabets tidsskrifter, katalogiseret alfabetisk i blandet sprogorden.

III. del – Titel- og seriefortegnelsen er ligeledes en alfabetisk fortegnelse på hvert enkelt fællesskabsprog. Den er en alfabetisk nøgle til titlerne på monografier og serier i I. del og kendetegner dem ved følgenummeret. Disse fortegnelser er kumulative.

Bestillinger på publikationer til salg skal sendes direkte til salgskontorerne, som er anført på den sidste side.

Alle bestillinger skal indeholde den fuldstændige titel såvel som ISBN- og ISSN-nummer, hvor dette er anført før prisangivelsen i kataloget.

Forkortelser og tegn. De sprog, publikationerne findes på, er angivet ved hjælp af følgende forkortelser

DA dansk	GA irsk
DE tysk	IT italiensk
GR græsk	NL hollandsk
EN engelsk	ES spansk
FR fransk	PT portugisisk

En kæde af disse tegn, adskilt af skråstreger, kendetegner en publikation, hvor forskellige sprogversioner af samme tekst findes i samme bind.

Forkortelsen »multi« betyder, at teksten er flersproget.

BFR Belgisk franc	HFL Nederlandske gylden
DKR Dansk krone	IRL Irsk pund
DM Tysk mark	LIT Italiensk lire

Veröffentlichungen der Europäischen Gemeinschaften

12 – 1981

Einleitung

Der Katalog umfaßt alle während des Monats durch die Europäischen Institutionen neu veröffentlichten Monographien und Reihen sowie die Zeitschriften des laufenden Jahres.

Gliederung

Der Katalog besteht aus drei Teilen:

Teil I – Das Sachverzeichnis liefert eine Klassifizierung der Titel, die nach 20 Sachgebieten unterteilt ist (vgl. unten).

In jedem dieser Sachgebiete sind die Titel der Monographien und Reihen in alphabetischer Ordnung in den Originalsprachen angeführt, gefolgt von den Titeln der Zeitschriften in gleicher Ordnung.

Eine Buchbesprechung für Monographien und Reihen wird nur einmal pro Titel und Sprache gegeben.

Im gesamten Katalog wird jeweils durch die am linken Rand gedruckte Sequenznummer auf diesen Katalogeintrag hingewiesen. Die im Sachverzeichnis angeführten Zeitschriften verweisen auf den Katalogeintrag in Teil II des Kataloges.

Teil II – Die Zeitschriftenliste enthält eine genaue Besprechung jeder Veröffentlichung in alphabetischer und sprachlicher Ordnung.

Teil III – Das Register der Titel und Serien ist sprachlich unterteilt, alphabetisch geordnet und verweist durch die o. a. Sequenznummer auf die Beschreibung des Teils I. Die Register werden laufend kumuliert.

Wie bezieht man eine Veröffentlichung?

Eine Veröffentlichung kann käuflich erworben, gratis verteilt werden oder beschränkt verfügbar sein. In den beiden letzteren Fällen kann sie nur durch die allgemeinen Verteilungsstellen der einzelnen Institutionen der Europäischen Gemeinschaften bezogen werden. Die Adressen dieser Verteilungsstellen sind auf Seite 9 und 10 angeführt.

Ist der Herausgeber einer Veröffentlichung ein Pressebüro der Europäischen Gemeinschaften, kann diese nur über dieses Büro bezogen werden.

Es bleibt hervorzuheben, daß die beschränkt verfügbaren Veröffentlichungen im allgemeinen nur den Regierungen der Mitgliedstaaten, den Diensten der Europäischen Gemeinschaften und angegliederten Organisationen vorbehalten sind.

Bestellungen für Veröffentlichungen, die im Verkauf sind, müssen an die Adressen der Verkaufsbüros (letzte Seite) gerichtet werden. Jede Bestellung muß den vollständigen Titel und – soweit im Katalog angegeben – die ISBN- oder ISSN-Nummer enthalten.

Abkürzungen und Zeichenerklärung

Die sprachliche Version einer Veröffentlichung ist durch die folgenden Abkürzungen gekennzeichnet:

DA Dänisch	GA Gälisch
DE Deutsch	IT Italienisch
GR Griechisch	NL Niederländisch
EN Englisch	ES Spanisch
FR Französisch	PT Portugiesisch

Ein Schrägstrich zwischen mehreren Sprachabkürzungen zeigt an, daß derselbe Text in den angegebenen Sprachen in einer Ausgabe zusammengefaßt ist.

Ein Bindestrich zwischen mehreren Sprachangaben bedeutet, daß diese Veröffentlichung in sprachlich getrennten Ausgaben besteht.

Die Abkürzung „multi“ steht für eine Veröffentlichung, die verschiedene Texte in verschiedenen Sprachen beinhaltet.

BFR Belgische Franken	HFL Holländische Gulden
DKR Dänische Kronen	IRL Irische Pfund

'Εκδόσεις τῶν Εὐρωπαϊκῶν Κοινοτήτων

12 — 1981

Εισαγωγή

Ὁ κατάλογος αὐτὸς περιλαμβάνει τίς μονογραφίες καὶ τίς σειρές πού δημοσιεύονται κατὰ μῆνα ἀπὸ τὰ ὄργανα τῶν Εὐρωπαϊκῶν Κοινοτήτων, καθὼς καὶ τίς περιοδικές ἐκδόσεις τοῦ ἔτους.

Δομή. Ὁ κατάλογος διαιρεῖται σὲ τρία μέρη :

Μέρος I — Ὁ κατάλογος κατὰ θέματα ἀποτελεῖ ταξι-νόμηση, σὲ εἴκοσι κεφάλαια, τῶν τίτλων κατὰ ἀντικείμενο (βλέπε παρακάτω). Κάτω ἀπὸ κάθε κεφάλαιο οἱ μονογραφίες καὶ οἱ σειρές κατατάσσονται στὴν ἀρχὴ μὲ ἀλφαβητικὴ σειρά κατὰ τίτλο, σὲ ὅλες τίς γλώσσες. Στὴ συνέχεια, γίνεται εὐρετηρίαση τῶν περιοδικῶν κατὰ τὸν ἴδιο τρόπο. Πλήρης περιγραφή τοῦ περιεχομένου τῶν μονογραφιῶν καὶ τῶν σειρῶν δίνεται μόνο μία φορά κατὰ τίτλο καὶ κατὰ γλώσσα. Σὲ ὅλα τὰ ἄλλα σημεῖα γίνεται παραπομπή στὴν περιγραφή αὐτὴ μέσω τοῦ ἀριθμοῦ σειρᾶς πού ὑπάρχει στὸ ἀριστερὸ περιθώριο (ὁ ἀριθμὸς αὐτὸς δὲν πρέπει νὰ χρησιμοποιεῖται γιὰ τίς παραγγελίες). Στὸν κατάλογο κατὰ θέματα οἱ περιοδικές ἐκδόσεις φέρουν μόνο ἀριθμοὺς ἀναφορᾶς πού ἐπιτρέπουν νὰ βρεῖ κανεὶς στὸ μέρος II τὴν περιγραφή τοῦ περιεχομένου.

Μέρος II — Στὸν κατάλογο τῶν περιοδικῶν ἐκδόσεων γίνεται πλήρης περιγραφή γιὰ κάθε τρέχουσα περιοδικὴ ἐκδοση, μὲ ἀλφαβητικὴ σειρά, σὲ ὅλες τίς γλώσσες.

Μέρος III — Οἱ πίνακες τῶν τίτλων καὶ τῶν σειρῶν διαιροῦνται κατὰ γλώσσα. Ταξινομοῦνται μὲ ἀλφαβητικὴ σειρά καὶ παραπέμπουν, μέσω τοῦ ἀριθμοῦ σειρᾶς πού ἤδη ἀναφέραμε, στὰ περιγραφικὰ σημεῖα τοῦ μέρους I. Οἱ πίνακες αὐτοὶ σωρεῖονται κατὰ τὴ διάρκεια τοῦ ἔτους.

Γιὰ νὰ ἀποκτήσει κανεὶς ἕνα ἔντυπο. Ἐνα ἔντυπο μπορεῖ νὰ πωλεῖται, νὰ δίνεται δωρεάν ἢ νὰ εἶναι περιορισμένης κυκλοφορίας. Στὶς δύο τελευταῖες περιπτώσεις μπορεῖ νὰ τὸ ἀποκτήσει κανεὶς ἀπευθυνόμενος στὰ ὄργανα πού προβαίνουν στὴν ἐκδοση τοῦ ἐντύπου αὐτοῦ ἢ, ἂν ἡ ἐκδοση γίνεται ἀπὸ ἕνα γραφεῖο τύπου τῆς Ἐπιτροπῆς, στὸ γραφεῖο αὐτό. Οἱ διευθύνσεις βρίσκονται στὴ σελίδα 9 καὶ 10 ἀντίστοιχα. Ὡστόσο, τὰ ἔντυπα περιορισμένης κυκλοφορίας ἀπευθύνονται γενικά ἀποκλειστικά στὶς κυβερνήσεις τῶν Κρατῶν μελῶν, στὶς ὑπηρεσίες τῶν Κοινοτήτων καὶ στοὺς λοιποὺς ὀργανισμοὺς τοὺς ὁποῖους ἀφοροῦν.

Οἱ παραγγελίες γιὰ ἔντυπα πού διατίθενται μὲ πώληση πρέπει νὰ ἀπευθύνονται στὰ γραφεῖα πωλήσεων πού σημειώνονται στὴν τελευταία σελίδα.

Σὲ κάθε παραγγελία πρέπει νὰ ἀναφέρεται ὁ πλῆρης τίτλος καθὼς ἐπίσης καὶ ὁ ISBN ἢ ὁ ISSN, στὴν περίπτωση πού ὁ ἀριθμὸς αὐτὸς ἀναφέρεται μέσα στὸν κατάλογο.

Συντμήσεις καὶ συμβατικά σημεῖα. Ἡ γλώσσα στὴν ὁποία ἔχει γραφῆ ἕνα ἔντυπο ἐπισημαίνεται χάρη στὶς ἀκόλουθες συντμήσεις :

DA Δανικὰ	GA Γαλλικὰ
DE Γερμανικὰ	IT Ἴταλικὰ
GR Ἑλληνικὰ	NL Ὀλλανδικὰ
EN Ἀγγλικὰ	ES Ἰσπανικὰ
FR Γαλλικὰ	PT Πορτογαλικὰ

Μία σειρά τέτοιων σημείων πού χωρίζονται μεταξὺ τους μὲ διαγώνιες γραμμὲς ὑποδεικνύει ὅτι οἱ περισσότερες μεταφράσεις τοῦ ἴδιου κειμένου βρίσκονται συγκεντρωμένες κάτω ἀπὸ τὸ ἴδιο ἐξώφυλλο.

Ἡ σύντμηση «multi» ἐπισημαίνει μία ἐκδοση πού περιέχει διαφορετικὰ κείμενα σὲ διάφορες γλώσσες.

Οἱ τιμές εἶναι οἱ ἐπίσημες τιμές στὸ Λουξεμβούργο, χωρὶς νὰ περιλαμβάνουν τὸ ΦΠΑ. Ἐκφράζονται στὰ ἐξῆς νομίσματα :

Publications of the European Communities

12 — 1981

Introductory note

This catalogue includes the newly published monographs and series issued during the period to which it relates by the Institutions of the European Communities, and also their current periodicals.

Arrangement. The catalogue is divided into three parts as follows:

Part I — The classified list provides a subject classification of the titles included under 20 headings (see below). Under each subject-heading monographs and series are listed first, alphabetically by title in mixed language order; there then follows a similar list of periodical titles. Full entries for monographs and series appear only once; otherwise cross-references are given to the full entries, identifying them by the sequence numbers appearing in the left-hand margins. (Those numbers should not be used for ordering purposes.) Periodical titles only appear in the classified list as cross-reference entries, full entries being found in Part II.

Part II — The list of periodicals presents full details of each current Community periodical listed alphabetically in mixed language order.

Part III — The indexes of titles and series, presented in separate sequences for each language, provide alphabetical keys to the monographs and series included in Part I, identifying them by the sequence numbers already described. These indexes cumulate throughout the year.

How to obtain publications. Publications may be priced for sale, gratis, or of limited distribution. Those of the last two classes may be obtained from the issuing Institutions, or, where they are published by the Information Offices of the Commission, from those Offices, whose addresses are given in the lists on pp. 9 and 10. Publications of limited distribution are however generally only for the attention of governments of Member States, Community departments and other authorities concerned.

Orders for priced publications should be directed to the Sales Offices listed on the last page.

All orders should quote the full title, as well as the ISBN or ISSN where such a number precedes the prices in the catalogue.

DA Danish	GA Irish
DE German	IT Italian
GR Greek	NL Dutch
EN English	ES Spanish
FR French	PT Portuguese

A string of such symbols separated by diagonal strokes denotes a publication in which different language versions of the same text appear under one cover.

The abbreviation 'multi' indicates a publication with a mixed multilingual text.

Prices, which exclude any value-added tax which may be chargeable, are fixed in various currencies, using the following abbreviations:

BFR Belgian franc	HFL Dutch guilder
DKR Danish crown	IRL Irish pound
DM German mark	LIT Italian lira
DR Greek drachma	PES Spanish peseta
ESC Portuguese escudo	UKL Pound sterling
FF French franc	USD US dollar

12 — 1981

Introduction

Ce catalogue comprend les monographies et séries publiées dans le mois par les institutions des Communautés européennes ainsi que les périodiques de l'année.

Structure. Le catalogue est divisé en trois parties:

Partie I — La liste thématique fournit une classification des titres par sujet en 20 rubriques (voir ci-dessous). Dans chaque rubrique, les monographies et séries sont indiquées d'abord par ordre alphabétique, par titre, toutes langues confondues. Les périodiques sont ensuite répertoriés de la même façon. Une notice descriptive complète n'est donnée qu'une fois par titre et par langue; partout ailleurs, il est fait référence à cette notice, grâce au numéro séquentiel imprimé dans la marge de gauche (ce numéro ne doit pas être utilisé pour commander des ouvrages). Dans la liste thématique, les références aux périodiques renvoient à la partie II.

Partie II — La liste des périodiques donne une notice descriptive complète pour chaque périodique en cours, par ordre alphabétique, toutes langues confondues.

Partie III — Les index des titres et des séries sont divisés par langue. Classés par ordre alphabétique, ils renvoient par le numéro séquentiel déjà mentionné aux notices de la partie I. Ces index sont cumulés tout au long de l'année.

Pour obtenir une publication. Une publication peut être vendue, gratuite ou de diffusion restreinte. Dans les deux derniers cas, elle sera obtenue auprès des institutions éditrices ou, si la publication dépend d'un Bureau de presse de la Commission, auprès de ce Bureau. Les adresses figurent page 9 et 10 respectivement. Cependant, les ouvrages en diffusion restreinte sont en général destinés uniquement aux gouvernements des États membres, aux services des Communautés et aux autres organisations concernées.

Toute commande doit indiquer le titre complet aussi bien que l'ISBN ou l'ISSN au cas où ce numéro est indiqué dans le catalogue.

DA	Danois	GA	gaélique
DE	allemand	IT	italien
GR	grec	NL	néerlandais
EN	anglais	ES	espagnol
FR	français	PT	portugais

Une séquence de tels sigles entre barres de fraction obliques indique que plusieurs traductions du même texte sont rassemblées sous la même couverture.

L'abréviation «multi» signale une publication comportant des textes différents dans diverses langues.

Les prix sont des prix publics au Luxembourg, TVA exclue. Ils sont exprimés dans les monnaies suivantes:

BFR	Franc belge	HFL	Florin néerlandais
DKR	Couronne danoise	IRL	Livre irlandaise
DM	Deutsche Mark	LIT	Lire italienne

Publicazioni delle Comunità europee

12 — 1981

Introduzione

Questo catalogo comprende sia i titoli delle monografie e serie pubblicate nel periodo di riferimento dalle istituzioni delle Comunità europee, sia quelli delle pubblicazioni periodiche.

Struttura. Il catalogo è diviso in tre parti:

Parte I — La lista per soggetto classifica i titoli in venti rubriche (vedi sotto). In ogni rubrica sono indicati prima le monografie e serie in ordine alfabetico e senza tener conto della lingua, quindi i titoli delle pubblicazioni periodiche secondo lo stesso ordine. Nelle venti rubriche, la nota esplicativa del contenuto delle monografie e serie è indicata una sola volta per titolo e per lingua. Nel caso in cui la pubblicazione appaia in diverse rubriche, il numero di riferimento alla nota esplicativa è indicato a sinistra sul margine della lista (tale numero di riferimento non deve apparire negli ordini di acquisto). Nella lista per soggetto i periodici hanno solo i numeri di riferimento che permettono di trovare nella parte II la nota esplicativa del contenuto.

Parte II — La lista delle pubblicazioni periodiche, è redatta in ordine alfabetico; essa contiene per ogni titolo una nota esplicativa del contenuto.

Parte III — Gli indici dei titoli e delle serie delle monografie e serie sono divisi per lingua.

Tali elenchi in ordine alfabetico permettono di riferirsi alla parte I a mezzo dei numeri di riferimento già citati. Questi indici compendiano tutti i titoli e le serie pubblicati durante l'anno.

Come ottenere una pubblicazione. Le pubblicazioni con l'indicazione del prezzo sono in vendita. Le altre possono essere gratuite o di diffusione limitata e possono essere richieste alle istituzioni che le pubblicano o, ove si tratti di pubblicazioni degli Uffici stampa e informazione della Commissione, a questi uffici. Le liste degli indirizzi di tali uffici si trovano a pag. 9 e 10. Le pubblicazioni di diffusione limitata sono generalmente destinate solo ai governi degli Stati membri, ai servizi delle Comunità europee e alle altre autorità interessate.

Gli ordini delle pubblicazioni con l'indicazione del prezzo devono essere inviati agli uffici di vendita, il cui elenco si trova nell'ultima pagina.

Tutti gli ordini devono indicare il titolo completo e, se è indicato in catalogo, anche il riferimento ISBN o quello ISSN, che precede il prezzo.

Abbreviazioni e segni convenzionali. Le lingue del testo delle pubblicazioni sono indicate dalle seguenti abbreviazioni:

DA danese	GA gaelico
DE tedesco	IT italiano
GR greco	NL olandese
EN inglese	ES spagnolo
FR francese	PT portoghese

La presenza di vari simboli fra barre di frazione obliqua indica che lo stesso volume include lo stesso testo tradotto in varie lingue. L'abbreviazione «multi» contraddistingue una pubblicazione comprendente contenuti diversi in diverse lingue.

I prezzi sono al netto di IVA e sono espressi nelle seguenti monete:

BFR franco belga	HFL fiorino olandese
DKR corona danese	IRL sterlina irlandese
DM marco tedesco	LIT lira italiana

Publikaties van de Europese Gemeenschappen

12 — 1981

Inleiding

Deze catalogus bevat de monografieën en series welke door de instellingen van de Europese Gemeenschappen gedurende de periode waarop zij betrekking hebben worden uitgegeven, alsmede periodieke publikaties.

Deel I — De indelingslijst geeft een classificatie naar onderwerp der titels, samengevat onder twintig hoofdtitels (zie onder). Onder iedere onderwerp-titel zijn allereerst de monografieën en series — in alfabetische volgorde naar taal — opgenomen, gevolgd door een overeenkomstige lijst van periodieke publikaties. De volledige titels van monografieën en series worden slechts éénmaal vermeld, voor het overige wordt door trefwoorden verwezen naar de volledige titels, welke door middel van in de linker marge afgedrukte, opeenvolgende nummers zijn terug te vinden. Bij bestellingen kan niet naar deze nummers worden verwezen. De classificatielijst vermeldt alleen titelverwijzingen van tijdschriften, de volledige titels zijn opgenomen in deel II.

Deel II — De lijst van tijdschriften geeft een volledig overzicht van alle periodieke publikaties van de Gemeenschappen en wel in alfabetische volgorde.

Deel III — Het alfabetische register van titels en series, eveneens samengevat in afzonderlijke volgorde naar taal, geeft alfabetisch trefwoorden van de monografieën en series in deel I, welke zijn terug te vinden aan de hand van de reeds vermelde, opeenvolgende nummers. Deze registers worden in de loop van het jaar bijgehouden.

Hoe kunnen de publikaties worden verkregen? De publikaties zijn ofwel in de verkoop, ofwel gratis verkrijgbaar, of worden slechts beperkt verspreid. De beide laatste categorieën kunnen bij de publicerende instelling worden verkregen, of, indien uitgegeven door de informatiediensten van de Commissie, bij de betreffende dienst, waarvan de adressen zijn vermeld in de lijst op bladzijden 9 en 10. Publikaties die slechts beperkt worden verspreid zijn gewoonlijk voorbehouden aan de regeringen van de Lid-Staten, diensten van de Gemeenschap of instellingen waarop zij betrekking hebben.

Bestellingen voor publikaties welke ter verkoop worden aangeboden, dienen te worden gericht aan de verkoopkantoren, opgenomen in de lijst op de laatste bladzijde.

Alle bestellingen dienen de volledige titel te vermelden en tevens het ISBN- of ISSN-nummer indien dit vóór de prijzen in de catalogus is aangegeven.

Afkortingen en conventionele tekens. De talen waarin de publikaties zijn gepubliceerd worden door de volgende afkortingen aangeduid:

DA Deens	GA Iers
DE Duits	IT Italiaans
GR Grieks	NL Nederlands
EN Engels	ES Spaans
FR Frans	PT Portugees

Een opeenvolging van deze afkortingen, gescheiden door diagonale lijnen, heeft betrekking op een publikatie waarin verschillende talen welke hetzelfde onderwerp behandelen, in één omslag zijn samengevat.

De afkorting „multi” verwijst naar een publikatie welke in meerdere talen is afgedrukt.

De prijzen zijn, zonder BTW, in de verschillende valuta, volgens onderstaande afkortingen, aangegeven:

DKR Deense kroon	IRL Iers pond
DM Duitse mark	LIT Italiaanse lire
DR Griekse drachme	PES Spaanse peseta
ESC Portugese escudo	UKL Engels pond
