

file

BIOGRAPHICAL DATA: BRIAN J. HILLERY,
PROFESSOR AND HEAD,
DEPARTMENT OF INDUSTRIAL RELATIONS, UNIVERSITY COLLEGE, DUBLIN.

Brian J. Hillery, B.Comm., M.B.A., Ph.D., Professor and Head, Department of Industrial Relations, University College, Dublin. He studied at UCD, University of Georgia, USA (on a Rotary scholarship) and undertook research at Oxford. He gained several years business experience with the Agricultural Credit Corporation and First National City Bank of New York before joining the staff of UCD in 1967. Professor Hillery has numerous publications in the field of industrial relations and has been involved in investigations into labour problems. He has acted as consultant to many foreign companies planning to locate in Ireland. He was Visiting Professor in Industrial Relations at the University of California at Berkeley in Spring Quarter 1977 and has been a guest lecturer at the University of Warwick, England and The Wharton School, University of Pennsylvania.

Professor Hillery was elected to the Irish Senate in 1977 and serves on a number of parliamentary committees.