

David BOSTOCK

Recent Career (in reverse order)

Since September 2000: on a sabbatical year as Visiting Fellow at the Centre for International Studies at the London School of Economics and Practitioner Fellow at the University of Sussex European Institute.

1999 to 2000: Head of the European Secretariat in the Cabinet Office.

1995 to 1998: United Kingdom Deputy Permanent Representative to the European Union. Chairman of COREPER I during the United Kingdom Presidency of the Council in 1998.

1990 to 1994: Head of the Treasury's European Union Group. Assistant Director then Director of the European Investment Bank.

1990: Head of the Treasury's Local Government Group.

1985 to 1989: Financial and Economic Counsellor in the Office of the UK Permanent Representative to the EU (UKRep).

1984 to 1985: Head of the Treasury's Agriculture Division.

Earlier Career

1971 to 1984: a series of posts in HM Treasury, with secondments to UKRep as Second Secretary (Economics and Finance) and to the Economic Secretariat of the Cabinet Office.

1970: Voluntary Service Overseas, Java.

Academic Qualifications

BA (first class honours, Modern History), Oxford, 1969.

MSc (distinction, Economics of Public Policy), University College, London, 1978.

Other Information

Age 53.

Married with two children
