

December 7, 1978

AM
C

Secretary of Energy, James R. Schlesinger today announced the appointment of Bruce C. Clarke Jr. as Principal Deputy Assistant Secretary for International Affairs.

For the last five years, Clarke has served as the representative of the Secretary of Defense at the Mutual and Balanced Forces Reduction Talks in Vienna, Austria. In this capacity, he was the representative of Defense Secretary Schlesinger, Donald Rumsfeld and Harold Brown.

Born in 1926 in Washington, D.C., Clarke is a graduate of Syracuse University, the Sorbonne, American University and the National War College.

He is married and lives in McLean, Virginia.