UNEMPLOYMENT IN THE EUROPEAN UNION

August 1996

Eurostat estimates that the seasonally-adjusted unemployment rate in the European Union (fifteen Member States) for the month of August 1996 was 10.8%, representing the same level as in the two previous months and an increase of 0.1% by comparison with August 1995.

Over recent months there has been little change in the European Union unemployment rate, as a result of contrasting trends in different groups of Member States. The tendency has been upward in France, downward in the north-eastern and south-western corners of the EU (Sweden, Finland, Spain and Portugal) and stationary in the remaining Member States.

The results of the 1996 French labour force survey have been taken into account, causing a considerable revision of the figures for France as published in earlier reports in this series.

This report has been produced by the Population, migration, employment and unemployment unit at Eurostat. The data presented are in line with the definitions and recommendations of the International Labour Office (Current International Recommendations on Labour Statistics, 1988 edition, ILO Geneva). The figures have been estimated by Eurostat on the basis of the European Labour Force Survey and are presented for individual Member States of the European Union in order to facilitate international comparisons.

These figures may therefore differ from those generally used in the Member States, which usually reflect national legislation and administrative procedures, and which for this reason are less comparable between Member States.

Methodological notes

1. The Eurostat unemployment rates are calculated according to the recommendations of the 13th International Conference of Labour Statisticians organised by the International Labour Office (ILO) in 1982. Unemployed persons are those persons aged 15 years and over who
  - are without work
  - are available to start work within the next two weeks
  - and have actively sought employment at some time during the previous four weeks.
2. The unemployment estimates are based on the results of the European Community Labour Force Survey. It is carried out in the spring of each year. The use of the same definitions and concepts throughout the EU ensures comparability of the results between Member States.
3. The unemployment rate is the number of unemployed as a percentage of the labour force (people living in collective households are excluded). The labour force is the total of the employed and the unemployed. Monthly estimates of the number of unemployed are derived by interpolating/extrapolating each year's Community Labour Force Survey results using the results of the national labour force surveys (see table A) and monthly indicators of unemployment (see table B). Monthly estimates of employment are obtained by
  - interpolating/extrapolating linearly the annual Community LFS results (Belgium, Denmark, Germany, Greece, France, Ireland, Luxembourg, Netherlands)
  - interpolating/extrapolating linearly the results of the national quarterly labour force surveys after adjustment to the Community LFS (Spain, Italy, Portugal, United Kingdom)
  - using the results of the national monthly labour force surveys (Finland, Sweden, USA, Japan).
4. Estimates are made separately for males under 25, females under 25, males aged 25 years and over, and females aged 25 years and over. Totals are obtained by adding up these four basic categories.
5. The figures for the four basic categories are seasonally adjusted using the multiplicative version of the X-11 method of the US Bureau of the Census. The reliability of the figures is adversely affected if deseasonalisation is performed on short series (such as Germany since the reunification) or where breaks occur (such as Sweden since 1993).
6. From 1992, in some member States, the more restrictive application of the ILO guidelines introduces a break in the series. In such cases, no estimates are provided for the period before 1992.
