COMMENTARY ON THE TABLES

The financial position of the British economy vis-à-vis the Rest of the world was further improved in the year under review, a fact reflecting a positive development in the country's balance of payments.

Regarding the financial behaviour of the sectors of the economy the most noteworthy developments were as follows :

- the deficit of the General Government sector was reduced to 3% of the GDP.
- the business non-financial sector showed a financial surplus for the fifth consecutive year.
- the growth in the balance sheets of credit institutions and especially those of banks was substantial.
- households financial saving continued to be destined principally to life assurance and pension funds, though "shares and other equities" and "deposits" also attracted investors' interest.

The net accumulation of assets vis-à-vis the Rest of the world reached the 2% of the GDP, during this year, up from 1.3% of 1984. The said financial surplus was the result of a favourable development in the country's external transactions and especially of the increased earnings from services and investment income from abroad. Regarding the specific financial flows, the substantial increase of the funds invested in "deposits" -mainly in foreign currency- both by British residents with banks abroad, as well as by non-residents with UK banks was particularly noteworthy. This development is indicative of the important role of the British financial system in recycling the available liquidity across countries and currencies. Also interesting was the evolution of the flows under the heading "shares and other equities" where an amount of nearly 9 Mrd was invested in foreign equities up from 2.4 Mrd the previous year.

The accounts of the General Government sector showed a lower deficit than that of the previous year in both absolute and relative (percent of the GDP) terms: it was reduced to 10.5 Mrd down from 12.6 Mrd in 1984, and to 3% as a percentage of the GDP compared to 3.9% the previous year. The issuing of bonds remained the most important means for the financing of the sector's deficit. Noteworthy, on the other hand, is the negative entry of the heading "shares and other equities" which is counterbalanced by an equal positive entry in "deposits": both entries are on the assets side and reflect probably the flotation of a number of public enterprises in the year under review.

For a fifth consecutive year the sector "Non-financial corporate and quasi-corporate enterprises" showed a financial surplus in contrast to the situation in most of the Community countries where the corporate sector is a net borrower of funds. This may be explained by the improved profitability and liquidity of the British companies in the last years which increased the ratio of the internally generated to the external finance. On the other hand the high interest rates (both nominal and real) rendered the investment in financial assets an attractive alternative to the investment in physical assets, contributing thus to the said financial behaviour of the corporate sector. Regarding the finance from external sources, the companies continued to rely mostly on the short-term banking credit whereas the sharp drop in the long-term bank borrowing first witnessed in 1984 continued, slightly attenuated, also this year.

The 1985 figures underline the important role of the life assurance and pension funds in channeling households savings: 43% of the increase in the households assets were channelled to the said kind of savings as "insurance technical reserves". From the rest of the sector's cash flows there were two most noteworthy changes: first, a significant increase of funds invested in sight deposits, probably attracted by the appearance of interest-bearing sight deposits as a result of the increasing competition among banks and building societies to attract new funds. The second development refers to the important amounts of funds (6.6 Mrd) invested in "shares and other equities" a phenomenon that should be greatly attributed to the acquisition of shares of privatised public companies. This last development is the more important in that it reverses a long series of households disinvestment from shares to the benefit of other forms of investment.

COMMENTAIRE DES TABLEAUX

La position financière de l'économie britannique vis-à-vis du Reste du monde a continué de s'améliorer au cours de l'année étudiée, traduisant une évolution positive de la balance des paiements du Royaume-uni.

En ce qui concerne le comportement financier des secteurs de l'économie, les développements les plus notables sont les suivants :

- le déficit des Administrations publiques s'est réduit à 3% du PIB;
- le secteur des sociétés non financières a enregistré un excédent financier pour la cinquième année consécutive;
- la croissance des bilans des institutions de crédit, et en particulier des banques, a été importante;
- l'épargne des ménages a continué à être principalement consacrée aux assurances-vie et aux caisses de retraites bien que les "actions et autres participations" et les "dépôts" aient également retenu l'intérêt des investisseurs.

L'accumulation nette d'actifs vis-à-vis du Reste du monde a atteint 2% du PIB au cours de cette année contre 1,3% en 1984. L'excédent financier a résulté de l'évolution favorable des transactions extérieures du Royaume-Uni et, en particulier, de l'accroissement des gains provenant des services et des revenus des investissements à l'étranger.

En ce qui concerne les flux financiers spécifiques, il convient de noter, en particulier, l'augmentation substantielle des fonds investis en "dépôts" - principalement en devises étrangères - par les résidents britanniques auprès des banques étrangères et par les non-résidents auprès des banques britanniques. Cette évolution montre le rôle important que joue le système financier britannique dans le recyclage des liquidités disponibles dans différents pays et dans différentes monnaies. Il est également intéressant de noter l'évolution de la rubrique "actions et autres participations" pour laquelle un montant de près de 9 milliards a été investi en participations étrangères, contre 2,4 milliards l'année précédente.

Les comptes des Administrations publiques ont présenté un déficit inférieur à celui de l'année précédente, à la fois en termes absolus et relatifs (pourcentage du PIB) : il a été réduit à 10,5 milliards contre 12,6 milliards en 1984; soit 3% du PIB contre 3,9% l'année précédente. L'émission d'obligations est restée le moyen le plus important pour financer le déficit du secteur public. Il convient aussi de noter l'entrée négative sous la rubrique "actions et autres participations", équilibrée par une entrée positive d'un montant égal dans la rubrique "dépôts": Les deux entrées figurent en créances et reflètent probablement la privatisation d'un certain nombre d'entreprises publiques au cours de l'année étudiée.

Pour la cinquième année consécutive, le secteur des "Sociétés et quasi-sociétés non financières" a présenté un excédent financier qui contraste avec la situation prévalant dans la plupart des pays de la Communauté où le secteur des sociétés est un emprunteur net. Cela peut s'expliquer par l'amélioration de la rentabilité et des liquidités des sociétés britanniques au cours des dernières années qui a accru le ratio financement interne/financement externe; d'autre part, les taux d'intérêt élevés (à la fois nominaux et réels) ont eu pour résultat que les investissements en actifs financiers ont constitué une alternative intéressante aux investissements en actifs réels.

En ce qui concerne le financement externe, les sociétés ont continué à préférer le crédit à court terme tandis que la forte baisse du crédit à long terme, constatée en 1984, s'est poursuivie - à un rythme moindre - également au cours de 1985.

Les données de 1985 soulignent le rôle important de l'assurance-vie et des caisses de retraite pour canaliser l'épargne des ménages : 43% de l'augmentation des avoirs des ménages sont allées aux "réserves techniques d'assurance". Pour les liquidités restantes, deux modifications importantes sont à noter ; premièrement, une augmentation significative des fonds investis en dépôts à vue, due probablement à l'apparition de dépôts à vue porteurs d'intérêt résultant de la compétition accrue entre les banques et les sociétés immobilières pour attirer des fonds nouveaux.

La seconde évolution concerne les fonds importants (6,6 milliards) investis en "Actions et autres participations", phénomène qui peut être attribué à l'acquisition d'actions d'entreprises publiques privatisées. Ce dernier développement est le plus important en ce sens qu'il met fin à une longue série de désinvestissements en actions de la part des ménages au profit d'autres formes d'investissements.

Explanatory notes

The definitions of sectors, subsectors and transactions used in this bulletin correspond to those of the European System of integrated economic Accounts (ESA), 2nd edition 1979.

However, in the financial accounts of the United Kingdom, the Bank of England is not treated as one institutional unit.

The issue department and banking department are recorded separately. The transactions of the banking department are classified with the subsector (S42) other monetary institutions, whereas the issue department is included in the subsector (S61) Central Government.

Also, it is not possible to isolate, on the basis of the existing statistics, the financial transactions of the sectors (S80) Households and (S70) Private non-profit institutions.

All financial transactions are shown on a consolidated basis, which means that assets and liabilities of units belonging to the same sector or the same subsector are cancelled out.

However, according to the ESA, transactions in securities are never consolidated. Deviating from this principle, transactions in (F40) Bills and short term bonds are presented in their consolidated form for the sector (S40) Credit institutions and transactions in (F50) Long term bonds are consolidated for the sector (S60) General Government.

Due to lack of statistical information, the data concerning transactions in (F00) Financial gold will always be confined to monetary gold held by the central banking authorities.

(F81) Medium and long term trade credit granted by the sector (S10) Non-financial corporate and quasi-corporate enterprises is only trade credit granted to the rest of the world.

The reader who is interested in more comprehensive details of the financial accounts may either consult the data file FINA in the EUROSTAT-databank CRONOS or may consult the forthcoming publication NATIONAL ACCOUNTS ESA Detailed tables by sectors, which however will contain data only up to 1984. A short overview of the main financial transactions is also published in the quarterly bulletin MONEY AND FINANCE.

Notes explicatives

Les définitions des secteurs, sous-secteurs et des opérations retenues dans ce bulletin correspondent à celles du Système Européen de Comptes économiques intégrés (SEC), 2e édition 1979.

Cependant, pour les comptes financiers du Royaume-Uni, la Banque d'Angleterre n'est pas traitée comme une unité institutionnelle à part entière.

Les opérations du département d'émission et du département bancaire sont enregistrées séparément. Ainsi les opérations du secteur bancaire sont reprises dans le sous-secteur (S42) "Autres Institutions Monétaires", alors que celles du département d'émission appartiennent au sous-secteur (S61) "Administration Centrale". Egalement, il n'est pas possible d'isoler, sur la base des statistiques existantes, les opérations financières des ménages (S80), de celles des organismes privés sans but lucratif servant les ménages (S70).

Toutes les opérations financières sont établies sur une base consolidée, ce qui signifie, que les avoirs et engagements d'unités appartenant à un même secteur ou sous-secteur n'apparaissent pas au bilan.

Cependant, conformément aux dispositions du SEC, les transactions sur titres ne sont jamais consolidées. Dérogeant à ce principe, les opérations sur Bons du Trésor et titres à court terme (F40) sont présentées dans leur forme consolidée pour le secteur Institutions de Crédit, de même, les opérations en obligations (F50) sont également consolidées pour le secteur Administration publique (S60).

Par manque d'information statistique, les données concernant les opérations sur l'Or financier (F00) ont toujours été limitées à l'Or monétaire détenu par la Banque Centrale d'Angleterre.

Les Crédits commerciaux à moyen et long terme (F81), accordés par les sociétés non financières, secteur (S10), représentent seulement les crédits commerciaux accordés au reste du monde.

Le lecteur qui serait intéressé par de plus amples informations concernant les comptes financiers peut consulter soit la banque de données FINA de l'Eurostat via CRONOS, ou la prochaine publication des comptes nationaux du SEC qui comprendra des tableaux détaillés par secteur, cependant ces données n'iront pas au-delà de 1984. D'autre part le Bulletin trimestriel "Monnaie et finances" donne également, un bref aperçu, des principales opérations financières.
