COMMENTARY ON THE TABLES

The borrowing and lending behaviour of the sectors of the Netherland's economy as well as the development of its financial position vis-à-vis the rest of the world, during the year under review, can be summarised as follows:

- the economy's external transactions led to a financial surplus vis-à-vis the rest of the world of Hfl 15 Mrd.
- the deficit of the General government sector rose to 5.4% of the GDP up from 5% in the previous year.
- the balance sheets of the credit institutions grew at a quicker pace this year, after a certain slackening in 1985.
- the combined accounts of households and enterprises (non-financial private sectors) showed a financial surplus of Hfl 40.5 Mrd or 9.4% of the GDP.

The net accumulation of assets vis-à-vis the Rest of the World (Hfl 15 Mrd) reflects the favourable development of the country's current account which has remained positive since the start of the 80's. The analysis of the financial transactions, underlying the said external financial surplus, reveal also a number of interesting elements concerning the asset preferences of the economic agents and the way these preferences change through time. In the table below the financial flows vis-à-vis the rest of the world (ROW) are presented with a breakdown into short and long-term assets:

National economy vis-à-vis the ROW

Mrd Hfl

	1984	1985	1986
Change in assets Long-term Short-term	19.4 12.5	15.9 -0.2	27.1 -9.6
Change in liabilities Long-term Short-term	4.5 5.7	14.8 -17.1	8.1 -5.6
Net change	21.7	18.2	15.0

The data in the above table point to a substantial increase in the funds invested in long-term assets abroad, with a parallel disinvestment from short-term assets. This last development is attributed both to the decrease of the funds invested in foreign currency deposits with financial establishments abroad, as well as to the net repayment of the short-term trade credits granted to foreign importers. On the liabilities side the reversal of the short-term capital flows first registered in 1985 (-17.1 Mrd) continued, though attenuated, this year. A drastic fall in the foreign currrency deposits held by non-residents and also an accelerated repayment, by resident importers, of short-term trade credits granted to them by foreign exporters were the main contributors of the said reversal of the short-term liabilities.

The said reduced activity, and even disinvestment, from the short-term investment in foreign currency denominated assets, can be largely attributed to the increased exchange rate risks during that period. Indeed, the start of this phenomenon coincides with the reversal of the upward dollar movement in March 1985 and its subsequent falling trend which provoked a shift away from dollar assets.

The increased amounts invested this year in long-term assets abroad (27.1 Mrd up from 15.9 the previous year), were destined principally towards medium and long-term bonds (to lock-in high yields in view of the prospects of falling interest rates) as well as towards foreign equities whose price trend was, then, generally upward.

The financial savings of the "Resident non-financial private sectors", which include both households and enterprises, was higher than that of the previous year in both absolute and relative (in % of the GDP) terms. A certain insight might be gained in looking at the evolution of this aggregate, as a percentage of the GDP, over the last five years: from a 7.7% in 1981 it passed to 9.4% in 1986, almost two percentage points higher. This development reflects mainly the increased saving to income ratio of the Dutch economy during the said period.

EXPLANATORY NOTES

The definitions of sectors, subsectors and transactions used in this bulletin correspond to those of the European System of Integrated economic Accounts (ESA), 2nd edition 1979.

All financial transactions are shown on a consolidated basis, which means that assets and liabilities of units belonging to the same sector or the same subsector are cancelled out.

However it is not possible to isolate, on the basis of the existing statistics, the financial transactions of the sectors (S80) households, (S70) Private non-profit institutions and non-financial corporate and quasi corporate enterprises (S10). These data are grouped together in a non-standard sector called resident non-financial private sectors (S74), which in fact, is a residual sector.

However, in order to give some information about the magnitudes of the financial surplus of the household sector and the deficit of the "enterprise sector", the "Net lending" or the "Net borrowing" of these sectors, as calculated in the non-financial accounts are added to the table. Theoritically, this balance N5 should be equal to the net change in assets and liabilities as calculated in the financial accounts.

The reader who is interested in more comprehensive details of the financial accounts may either consult the data file FINA in the EUROSTAT-databank CRONOS or may consult the publication "NATIONAL ACCOUNTS ESA DETAILED tables by sector", which however contains data only up to 1984. A short overview of the main financial transactions can be also found in our quarterly bulletin "Money and Finance".
