Note for the attention of the Heads of Office (BPIMONDE)

Subject: New Parliament

The new European Parliament holds its inaugural session next week and amid the considerable chaos we have managed to draw together the few elements attached of facts about it, notably names of the new members, indications of their professional background, their ages and their political affiliation. This is still incomplete for reasons which are beyond our control and I am sure which you appreciate.

We intend to update this material in due course especially with an attempt to identify the "more interesting" elements among the new MEPS and this based in particular on the valuable interpretation and intelligence that you have supplied to us.

For any further information during the course of next week, please contact your Desk Officer or myself as we have now built-up a fairly good file of information on the new Parliament - but processing it takes rather longer.
