In spring 2000 the population of the European Union living in private households was measured at 371 million people.

- 158 million had a job during the survey reference week, giving, for the population aged 15 to 64 years, an employment rate of 63% for the whole EU.
- Seven EU member states have already attained the Stockholm summit objectives (67 % for women and men together and 57 % for women): Denmark, United Kingdom, Sweden, Finland and the Netherlands (with total rates around 70 % or more and female rates around 65 %), as well as Portugal and Austria (with total rates at 68 % and female rates at 60 %).
- Iceland (87%), Norway (78%) and Switzerland (78%) have higher employment rates than the EU average
- 18% of people with jobs said that they worked part-time, 80% of these part-time workers being women;
- 13% of employees had a work-contract of limited duration (32% of employees in Spain)
- the employees working full-time, work in average 40.3 hours per week (38.9 for females);
- 14 million people had no job but were available for work and looking for work, giving an unemployment rate of 8.4% for the whole EU, reaching 11.1% in Greece and Finland and 14.0% in Spain;
- 46% of unemployed persons had been looking for work for over a year in EU (12% in Iceland and 10% in Norway);
- 20% of unemployed persons were looking for their first job (the figure for Italy being over 50%).
- 18% of young people aged 18 to 24 years old have left school with a level of education lower than the upper secondary level

➤ EXPLANATORY NOTES

The European Labour Force Survey was conducted in spring 2000 in the 15 Member States of the European Union in accordance with Council Regulation (EEC) No. 577/98 of 9 March 1998.

A detailed description of the sampling methods, the adjustment procedures, the definitions and the common Community coding currently used in the labour force survey is presented in the publication Labour Force Survey – Methods and definitions, 1998.

Basic concepts and definitions

All these definitions apply to persons aged 15 years and over, living in private households. The concepts and definitions used in the survey follow the guidelines of the International Labour Organisation. Persons carrying out obligatory military service are not included.

Persons in employment are those who during the reference week did any work for pay or profit for at least one hour, or were not working but had jobs from which they were temporarily absent. Family workers are included.

Unemployed persons are those who, during the reference week :

- (a) had no employment, and
- (b) were available to start work within the next two weeks, and
- (c) had actively sought employment at some time during the previous four weeks. In addition, unemployed persons include those who had no employment and had already found a job to start later.

Duration of unemployment is defined as:

- (a) the duration of search for a job, or
- (b) the length of the period since the last job was held (if this period is shorter than the duration of search for a job).

The active population is defined as the sum of persons in employment and unemployed persons.

Inactive persons are those who are not classified as persons in employment nor as unemployed persons.

Employees are defined as persons who work for a public or private employer and who receive compensation in the form of wages, salaries, fees, gratuities, payment by results or payment in kind; non-conscript members of the armed forces are also included

The number of usual hours worked per week corresponds to the number of hours the person normally work including extra hours, either paid or unpaid, which the person normally works, but excludes the travel time between the home and the place of work as well as the main meal breaks.

Employment rates represent employed persons as a percentage of the same age population.

Unemployment rates represent unemployed persons as a percentage of the active population.

Youth unemployment ratio represents unemployed aged less than 25 years as a percentage of the population of this age group.

Population in education includes persons who had followed any kind of education during the 4 weeks preceding the week of reference (in France and Portugal information on training is collected only if this is under way on the date of the survey). Students who were on holidays in this period are not included.

Early school leavers includes all the persons aged 18 to 24 having left education with low qualifications (ISCED 0-2).

When the data is not available for 2000 for one or more countries the aggregates EU-15, EUR11 and EEA are estimated using the last available data for the missing countries.
